WILL PROBE OREGON SENATE CAMPAIGN

Senator Reed Orders Senator McNary to Conduct an Investigation.

Kansas City, Mo.—Investigation of the Oregon senate campaign was ordered by Senator James A. Reed, democrat, Missouri, chairman of the senate campaign funds committee.

The request for the investigation came from George Putnam, editor and publisher of the Salem, Ore., Capital Journal.

Senator Reed immediately telegraphed Senators McNary, republican, Oregon, and King, democrat, Utah, to conduct the inquiry as soon as they had finished the one now in progress into the Washington state campaign.

Mr. Putnam asked specifically for an investigation of the campaign of Frederick Steiwer, the republican senatorial candidate, who is opposed by Bert E. Haney, democrat, and Senator Stanfield, republican, who was defeated in the primary.

"I have it on good authority," Putnam's telegram read, "that Franklin T. Griffith of the Portland Electric company paid the Portland Oregonian $35,000 for opposition to Stanfield, of which $25,000 was sent from headquarters in Philadelphia, and only a senate investigation can establish the facts. No report was made to the state of this contribution."

Portland, Ore.—Emphatic denial of the charge made by George Putnam of the Capital Journal, Salem, that the Portland Oregonian received $35,000 from the Portland Electric Power company for opposing Senator R. N. Stanfield, in the Oregon campaign, was made by Edgar B. Piper, editor of the Oregonian.

The Oregonian telegraphed United States Senator McNary at Seattle demanding an immediate investigation into the charges that the newspaper was paid $35,000 for its opposition to R. N. Stanfield in his candidacy for United States senator. In response Senator McNary announced that he would come to Portland to institute an inquiry.

MYERS APPEAL TO HIGH COURT LOST

Washington, D. C.—The right of the president of the United States to remove postmasters and other executive appointees from office without the consent of the senate was upheld by the supreme court in the Frank Stott Myers case from Portland, Ore.

The case, involving removal by President Wilson of Myers as postmaster at Portland, had proved a focal point upon which the legislative and executive branches of the government had come to a notable trial of constitutional rights before the highest court.

The point directly at issue was whether congress had exceeded its power, when, in the act authorizing presidential appointment of first, second and third class postmasters "with the consent of the senate," it also declared that such postmasters could only be removed when the senate assented.

Answering this question the court declared that congress has no constitutional authority to restrict the president in the removal of officials from offices it created, but that the chief executive, charged with the administration of the government's business, must be free to act on his own discretion.

M'NARY CONDUCTS WASHINGTON QUIZ

Investigation of "Slush Fund" Charges in Senatorial Race Under Way at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash.—The senate "slush fund" committee hearing into expenditures attending Washington's senatorial race was opened here Saturday. The inquiry is being conducted by Senator McNary of Oregon, representing the senate investigating committee. The investigation was precipitated by charges by Sam R. Sumner, republican state chairman, that Mr. Bullitt had spent $100,000 in his campaign.

Total expenditures of $37,926.94 on behalf of his campaign by all agencies was testified to here by A. Scott Bullitt, democratic candidate for United States senator. This total, Mr. Bullitt testified, included expenditures of $17,856.94 by himself or his direct agents, $9970 raised by the state central committee, of which Mr. Bullitt had contributed $1500, and about $8000 by the Anti-Federal Sunday Closing Law league. Of this latter amount Mr. Bullitt testified he had contributed $430.

The campaign expenditures of Senator Wesley L. Jones comprised the feature of Tuesday's session, with the senator himself as the principal witness.

Senator Jones' presence was demanded by A. Scott Bullitt, his democratic opponent, who charged that exorbitant expenditures had been made in his behalf.

Besides Senator Jones witnesses summoned included Mrs. Nancy Coffin, his secretary, and Ralph Horr, treasurer of the King county republican committee. The total of the republican funds revealed by the testimony is $9289.61 raised by the state committee, besides a $2000 primary campaign fund which Millard Harrison, collector of customs here, testified he had received and administered in Senator Jones' interest. Expenditures of the Anti-Saloon league on Senator Jones' behalf were declared by R. N. Hicks, the state superintendent, to have amounted to about $395 for printing and mailing two circulars and $35 advertising in the state grange paper reproducing one of the circulars.

Seattle, Wash.—Resistance to the movement for the recall of Governor Hartley was proclaimed and planned at an organization meeting held in Seattle Sunday and attended by about 250 of the governor's friends. The chairman was authorized to name an executive committee of such numbers as he pleased to devise ways and means of discouraging the signing of the recall petitions and resolutions were adopted calling for the appointment of two citizens of each county, one man and one woman, to constitute a general committee of resistance.

The executive committee will be headed by Joseph Irving of Everett as chairman. Irving is Governor Hartley's partner in the logging business. Other committeemen named were Judge George Turner, Frank B. Carpenter and W. J. Coates of Spokane; E. S. Grammar of Seattle, retired lumberman and capitalist; Major Everett G. APPLE FORECAST IS LOWER

Crop to Run 20 Per Cent Lighter in Washington Counties.

Wenatchee, Wash.—The horticultural offices of Chelan, Okanogan, Douglas and Grant counties have issued a revised apple crop estimate, forecasting a yield of 14,597 cars of apples instead of 18,134 estimated last July. This is a reduction of 3627 cars or 20 per cent. It was made following a very careful check of every portion of the north central Washington fruit district.

The drop in the probable apple shipments is attributed by District Horticultural Inspectors George E. Harter and V. H. Firman to the early ripening of the later varieties and the inability of the orchardist to get the fruit off the trees before it fell to the ground.

Farmers and bankers from the frozen-out district appeared by the ways and means committee in behalf of the bill. There was very little opposition to the bill after the necessity was made plain to the legislature. That any one member of the legislature should claim the bulk of the credit for this measure is purely bunk.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE SEED WHEAT BILL

These senators and representatives were all members who represented the area afflicted.
