Notes of Interest to All Local Denominations.

The annual convention of the Christian Endeavor societies in District No. 17, Columbia Union, was held at Freewater Friday, Saturday and Sunday of last week. Strong delegations were in attendance from Lexington and Heppner but Ione's sole representative was the pastor of the Congregational church.

The attendance was large and the spirit very fine. The meetings were held in the commodious auditorium and parlors of the Federated church of which Rev. Mr. Nourse is pastor. A very efficient member of the committee of arrangements was Miss Beryl Murray formerly of Ione and now a member of the senior class of the Milton high school. Her sister Faye was one of a group of young girls who assisted in the table service with a grace and courtesy that were beyond praise.

It was voted to hold the next convention at Heppner.

The floor of the auditorium at the Christian church is being painted this week.

The next regular meeting of the Willow Branch Union of C. E. will be held in Ione, Tuesday, November 16th at the Christian church.

Pastor Head of the Ione Cong. Church preached to the congregation of Grace Presbyterian Church at Milton, last Sunday morning.

Best Plants for Hedges

Privet, locust, orange, the buckthorn and cocksbur thorn, the rose of Sharon and the Japanese barberry are among the best of the deciduous plants used for hedges, and Juniper, box, hemlock and spruce are found satisfactory.

LOCUST CHAPTER No. 119, O. E. Meets the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. W. M. Mrs. Clara Howl; Sec. Mrs. Ruth Mason.

Editor Independent:

I received a letter from the Panhandle of Texas a few days ago asking several questions about this part of Oregon.

The writer said a friend sent him a copy of The Ione Independent this summer. He wanted to know if Ione shipped more eggs than any other station on the Pacific slope and if wheat was hauled as far as 25 miles to Ione, and if it was true that Ione had no flour mill, and that all the flour, rolled oats, meal, etc.

was shipped to Ione from 75 to 180 miles.

He said he was thinking of coming to Ione to run a chicken ranch, keep a few hogs and milk a few cows on the side. (I did not ask him which side.) I think he is an Englishman for he asked in his letter if awks and howls pestered chickens very much in much in this section.

I sent him a ripping old letter. I had a notion to ask him which was the most destructive to the fowls, Methodist preachers or owls; but I did not want to be too familiar on a short acquaintance.

He asked about my castle here and wanted to know if I had a real castle. I told him it sure was a real castle 4 walls of a large art art hall hung with the photos of the most noted people in the world, kings and queens of all foreign countries, all former presidents and U. S. senators, all women holding high offices, Jackrabbit Dempsey and all former champions, and all former champions of base ball and all other games and sports, together with the portrait of the noted preachers and orators of the world.

I will send you his answer when it arrives.
