

Just Like Being a Boss

"How are you getting on at your job, Bill?"

"Fine. I've got five men under me

"Really?"

"Yes-I work upstairs!"

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandellon" for 35 cents.—Adv.

His Cure

"The falling leaves fill me with metancholy thoughts," said the poetic

"They used to have that effect o me," returned the prosy man. "What changed you?"

"I moved into an apartment and don't have to rake them up any more." -Boston Transcript,

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 26 years. Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspiria. Imitations may prove dangerous.-Adv.

Could Mean Only Her

He-The prettiest women always marry the biggest fools.

She Try your flattery on some one else,-Stray Stories.

Handiest the thing in the house EASES SORE THROAT Take a little "Vaseline" Jelly several times a day and at bedtime. Tasteless and odorless. Soothes and heals. Will not upset you. CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO.

Not I oo Many

Rich Old Aunt frecovering from accident)-I'm afraid I shall feel the effects of this accident for many years to come.

Nephew (with expectations)-I slocerely hope not, nuntie.-Boston Tran-

Freshen a Heavy Skin

With the antiseptic, fascinating Cuticura Talcum Powder, an exquisitely scented, economical face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume. Renders other perfumes superfluous One of the Cuticura Tollet Trio (Soap, Ointment, Talcum) .- Advertisement.

Wants to Escape

Little Tommy-Father, you bought sister a piane; you must buy me a bleycle.

Pop-What for? Little Tommy—So I can go out rid-ing when she is practicing.—Phila-delphia Inquirer.

Smarting, scalding, sticky eyes relieved by morning if Roman Eye Balsam is used when retiring, 373 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

The more a woman knows about the affairs of her husband, the less she has to say about them.

*

$4,000 PRIZES 1,055 PRIZES IN ALL

You may win the first prise of $500 or one of the 1,044 other prises. Three prominent business men will act as judges. Contest closes December 11st, 1926. But don't delay. Get necessary Entry Blank and full particulars from your dealor. If he can't supply you write us. Don't miss this big opportunity.

BUFFALO SPECIALTY COMPANY 19 Liquid Vencer Bidg. Buffalo, N. Y.

by ARTHUR D. HOWDEN SMITH

AUTHOR OF PORTO BELLO GOLD ETC.

COPYRIGHT AT BRENTANO'S

Now he stood before us, his handsome face smiling, bowing low before their interested lordships. In charming, broken English he repeated his brief message. He had been requested by his excellency the French ambassador to appear in this matter in answer to a plea offered by the petitioners to the ambassador for corrobora tive testimony to the justice of their assertions from a responsible French

He himself-he shrugged apologet ically—as it happened was Canadian-born; he was just starting upon his way to take up an appointment in the Canadian government. He agreed unbesitatingly with what Monsieur Murray had stated. On behalf of the French government and of the Canadian authorities he begged to say that such legislation as New York wished to have perpetuated would have most unhealthy effects upon the trade and Master Juggins sprang to his feet.

"Many of the assertions of Master

"We have heard enough," pronounced the whining voice. "You have no other first-hand witnesses from

"No, your lordships," admitted Jug-

"Then further talk is fruitless," he sleepy assent. "We are agreed went on, while his colleagues nodded that there seems to be some difference of opinion concerning this measure.

Were it not for the fact that his majesty's governor of New York appears to favor the bill, we should consider the case made out against it unanswer able. But in view of Governor Burnet's approval we are resolved that the matter shall be referred back to him with a request for a full report upon the issues raised, and pending the receipt of this report and a decision being reached his majesty's government will not take action in the premises. What is the next case for The petitioners, much gratified.

flocked around Murray and his ape-like servant, and I followed Master

Juggins from the chamber and out into

"What will happen next?" I asked.

as I think I do, Murray and his French friends will draw slight comfort from their triumph today. Remember he is three thousand miles from London and therefore able to think for himself.

I felt something brush against my coat sleeve and looked around. I had just time to see the back of a gaudy red coat and a woolly black head.

crowned by an ornate cocked hat, dis-

"Aye," responded Juggins grimly; "I

We turned from Whitehall into the

"Murray will figure that this delay gives him time to bribe and buy his will, either in Governor Burnet's council or in the government here," continued Master Juggins. "At the worst he will think that he should be able to withstand the law's execution for several years, and in that time much so that his friends may set to work

Juggins stopped abruptly in the cen-

"No, he will go himself. "Tis too important for trusting to another. That was well thought of, Master Harry.

We must not let him get ahead of us.

You must sall on the first passage

And he started off as fast as his available. Do you follow me?"

in his interest," I suggested.

ter of the footway.

might have known it. Well, 'tis a lesson in time. We will not forget it."

With you to help him-"

appearing in the crowd.

crowded Strand.

"Do you see?" I said.

"If I know Governor Burnet as well

Pelham waved him to his seat.

politics of their two countries.

his honest face affush.

Murray and-"

overseas?"

gins reluctantly.

consideration?"

Whitehall,

WHU SERVICE

PRECEDING CHAPTERS

Harry Ormerod, proscribed traitor to King George as a Stuart partisan, returning from France to London, rescues Alderman Robert Juggins from a band of assassins. Juggins proves to be the grandson of a former steward of Ormerod's father, to whom Juggins freels himself indebted. Ormerod tells Juggins he has abandoned the Stuart cause. Juggins informs Ormerod of a Jacobite piot in the American colonies to weaken England by forwarding Franch interests. At its head is Andrew Murray, a Scotsman, and a Frenchman, De Veulle, deadly enemy of Ormerod. The twd are in London furthering their schemes.

CHAPTER II-Continued

"He is no enemy to be slighted," I

"No, he thrives upon opposition; but--

A secretary rapped for order.

"To the king's most excellent majesty in council," he recited from a doc ument he held, "the humble petition and representation of Samuel Baker, Samuel Storke, Richard Janeway and others, merchants of London, trading to New York, in behalf of themselves and the rest of the persons concerned In the New York trade; which petition, having been considered by his majesty's council, bath been referred, with his gracious consent, to the lords commissioners for trade and plantations,"

"You will note," whispered Master Juggins in my ear, "that the name of Murray is not included in the list. He appears here, not as the principal, which he is, but at the request of these merchants, who are his decoys, and ostensibly in their interest."

"You have heard the petition and reference of the council read," gabbled Pelham in whining voice. "We will now hear arguments by the opposing sides. Who appears against the petition?"

Master Juggins rose beside me. His arguments were substantially those he had used with me, bulwarked additionally by a mass of facts and statistics. When he sat down it seemed to me that no Englishman who thought of his own country's interest could resist the logic of his appeal.

There was a smattering of applause, and then a merchant introduced Murray, with the remark that he had kindly consented to give his opinion, as he had recently come on a visit to London from the province of New York, where he was in residence.

"The gentleman who preceded me," began Murray, "and who, I am told, once spent some time in our province many years ago, is unfortunately labor ing under a misapprehension of the situation. It is not, my lords, as though we had the misfortune to be at war with France. Through the grace of God, the two countries have now been for some years at peace with one another, and their subjects in the New world have striven not to be behadhand in drawing closer the bonds of trade which in themselves are the best preventative of war.

"We manufacture in this country more goods of a certain kind than we can consume ourselves. These goods are in great demand amongst the savage tribes which inhabit the interior of North America.

"Both the French and our own traders have use for these goods in the fur trade, which is growing to be of increasing worth to the London mer-If we withhold from the French the goods they require for trading with these tribes they will seek them from the manufacturers of the Low Countries and Germany. Thus prived of a profitable trade, and we provincials will not be bettered. Also, the supply of furs for the London market, much of which comes from the French posts, will be reduced. It seems to me, your lordships, that this prohibitory legislation will only have crippling effects upon trade and hinder the good relations between France and Engiand and their colonies."

He said much more in the same ein, whilst Juggins twisted uneasily in his seat and the attending merchants and even their sleepy lordships hung upon his words. For he was a ready speaker. When he sat down the merchant who acted as master of ceremonles caused a start of surprise, in which I joined, by bringing forward a handsomely dressed gentleman, whose laced cost and gold-hilted sword showed conspicuously in such drub surroundings.

Twas Raoul de Veulle; yes, Raoul de Veulle, whose mad exploits and escapades, love affairs and gambling debts, had kept all Paris gossiping these past three years and had just driven him into an exile, the facts con-rerning which had been mysteriously secret. I had known De Veulle well. bego source carry him, comping and prodding his person against all who did not move from his path. "Whither are we bound now?" I ponted. "To Master Lloyd's coffee house where the shipowners resort for trade. We shall find news of the sailings

Many men stood on the cobbles outside Lloyd's talking. The coffee room and taproom also were filled. Master Juggins pushed his way through the shifting groups until he reached a burly, stout man who sat by himself at a table, sucking fragrant Mocha from a bowl.

"And what will you hat, Bob Juggins?" demanded the burly man in a sulky voice.

"A good afternoon to you, Tom Jen-kins," returned Juggins. "How are salling to the Western Plantations?

"Ameriky?" "Aye, New York province."

The burly man consulted his record book.

"We ha' the ship New Venture, Abbot, muster, sailing from Greenwich the end of the week. What's your cargo?"

"Tis not cargo, but a man I would send on her."

"I fear me she's full up, Bob. But yesterday we sold four places on her -and she hath limited quarters for passengers."

Juggins threw me a humorous glance "I'll be bound 'tis Master Murray of New York she's to carry," he de

"Why, that's true," admitted Jenkins. "And some Frenchy, a friend o' I forgot my role of 'prentice lad, and showed myself across the table. "Not De Veulle? The Chevaller de Veulle?" I challenged him. Jenkins looked at me with mingled amusement and indignation.

"Who's your green lad that hankers for the Frenchies so?" he asked Jug-

My master sent me spinning to the "Mind your place boy," he rebuked

Then he continued half-apologetically to Master Jenkins-

"This De Veulle put a slight upon me before the lords of trade, and the lad-'tis a good youth and devoted. though fresh come out of Dorset, as you may see-was most indignant on my behalf. And now about the pas-sage? I'll pay well. Sure, you can always find room for an extra man on

"What will you pay?"

"Three guineas. "Four," countered Jenkins in .

Juggins drew the coins from a purse and clinked them on the table.

"And is it De Veulle sails with Mur-"Aye; he goes on some government mission for Canada." "But why does he not sail from Havre in a French ship for Quebec?' "The St. Lawrence is frozen. There will be no French ships for Canada for two months yet."

Juggins pursed his lips in that quaint gesture of a whistle which was a characteristic trait.

"They use our goods," he muttered: "they use our rivers, our trading posts, our people, the tribes which are friendly to us-and now they use our ships."

"Often," admitted Jenkins disinter-estedly. "Since the Pence of Utrecht we ha' done a sight o' shipping business with the Frenchies.

" "Tis to our shame," declared Marter Juggins roundly.

"Why, 'tis business," answered Jenkins with his first show of interest. "Show me' a heathen, let alone . Frenchy, will pay a farthing more than an Englishman, and I'll show you a better customer. Trade is trade, Leave politics to governments. If I make not my own living, will the gentry at Westminster carry my debts? I think not."

Juggins swelled with indignation, "God help England when men like you come to rule it, Tom Jenkins!" he declared. "Good afternoon to you."

"One moment," interposed Jenkins. "You ha' not given me the name of my passenger."

"Tis this youth here."
"He who hath the interest in the may be done-aye, much may be done, and in more than one way," he con-Frenchy?" responded Jenkins. "Well, cluded grimly.
"Then doubtless Murray will send lad, keep your hands off him, despite his insults to your master. And what's at once a swift messenger to New York

> The journey to the land of America, a new life, and the promise of glorious adventure are all before the youth as the ship leaves the shores of Old England for the New world.

> > (TO BE CONTINUED.)

your name?"

Sent to Destruction Over Niagara Falls

At least three vessels have gone over | falls and came to the shore below allve. Niagara falls, says the Boston Globe in reply to a query. The first was in 1827, when an old craft was sent over with a bear, a fox, a buffalo, a dog and some geese as passengers. The bear jumped from the boat before it reached the rapids, swam to the shore and was rescued. The geese went over the

Alamo Originally Church

The Alamo, in Texas, was a Franciscan mission built about 1722 and occasionally used after 1793 as a fort. It consisted of a church, an inclosed convent yard about 100 feet square, a convent, a hospital building and a plaza covering about two and one-half acres and protected by a wall 8 feet high and 33 inches thick.

while the other animals were not seen. Another vessel, the Detroit, that had belonged to Commodore Perry's fleet, was started over the cataract in the winter of 1841, but grounded midway in the rapids and was finally broken up by the ice.
In 1837 a burning vesesi was sent down the rapids and over the falls. This was described as a most magnificent sight.

Snakes Shun British Isles Like Ireland, Scotland is singularly free from snakes, while only two species are known in England.

A phonograph having records of brass has been invented. The records may be heard 10,000 years from now.

arms and Children all ages. cially prepared for Infants in To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chart Heleker Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

"Malthusian" Theory

Thomas Robert Malthus, born 1766, was an English economist interested in social problems and study of population. In 1798 he published a book, Essay on the Principles of Population as It Affects the Future Improve-ment of Society." This book demonstrated the theory that in all time population has tended to outrun subsistence, leading to the decay of the nation. He enlarged this theory in 1803 to demonstrate the impossibility of evading poverty and suffering among the mass of the people if unrestricted increase in population con-

Have Kidneys Examined By Your Doctor

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys If Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take saits occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness, Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot inand makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Unrecorded Retort

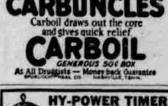

"Lord Cassius has a lean and bungry look," remarked Julius Caesar. "I've lost a lot of sleep lately," explained Cassius, "sitting up to watch my calories."

a lot of hard knocks.

Optional "Mother, I want to go to a co-educational college." "But, my dear, isn't there a good deal of flirting?"

"Yes, but you don't have to take

HINDERCORNS Bemoves Corns, Cal-konses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. He by small or at Irra-gista. Blacor Chemical Works, Patchogies, N. 197.

W. N. U., San Francisco, No. 49-1926.

Varieties of Jinxes

The natives of Galway consider the fox unlucky. If they meet a fox on their way to fish, they turn back for that day. If Irishmen or Italians pronounce the names of certain animals while they are fishing they are certain to have ill luck. In some sections of Scotland there are old women whose names are unlucky and Genuine happiness is able to stand such persons must be spoken of in an indirect way.

DOES NOT

AFFECT

THE

HEART

TAKE "BAYER ASPIRIN" - Genuine Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Headache Neuralgia Lumbago Neuritis Toothache Sciatica Rheumatism

only "Bayer" Accept package which contains proven directions.

zes of 12 tablets. Also bottles of 24 and 100-Druggists.