THE KITCHEN CABINET

The men of the past overcame because they had convictions. We of the present frequently fail because we have nothing but opinions.

CHOICE FOODS

The following dishes never lose their prestige, as they are choice and deserve their popularity:

Bavarian Cream.—Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water, dissolve in one-fourth cupful of hot cream; add one-half cupful of sugar and the whip from a pint of cream, when the mixture begins to thicken. Cut and fold in the cream without stirring. Flavor with vanilla and mold.

Nesselrode Pudding.—Cook twenty large chestnuts, or double the quantity of the small ones in sugar syrup until tender. Cut six of the nuts into small pieces, the rest put through a sieve. Cook two tablespoonfuls each of currants and sultana raisins in the same syrup until tender, then add the same amount of preserved pineapple, cherries, plums or other fruit to the pieces of chestnut and let them cool in the syrup. Cook the beaten yolks of four eggs, mixed with three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and a pint of thin cream. Cook until the mixture coats the spoon. Add the sifted chestnuts and pass the whole through a fine sieve. Cool and partly freeze, then add a cupful of whipped cream and finish freezing. Add the fruit and nuts drained from the syrup and pack in a mold. Press the cover in place over a piece of wrapping paper and let stand in ice and salt for an hour. Serve with whipped cream, sweetened with the syrup or fruit juices.

Virginia Spiced Ham.—A two-inch slice of ham is needed for this; rub with a teaspoonful of mustard and two tablespoonfuls of brown sugar. Place in a baking pan, pour over one-half cupful of water with a tablespoonful of vinegar, cover and bake for twenty minutes.

Egg Fuyon.—Fry one onion and one cupful of celery in a tablespoonful of butter or oil until tender. Beat five eggs, add with three-fourths of a cupful of chicken cut into dice, add to the vegetables with one tablespoonful of Chinese sauce. Cook until the eggs are set. Make nests of hot boiled rice well seasoned, and serve with the fuyon.

Layer cakes, rich and luscious, small cakes of various kinds, or sponge cakes baked in gem pans and cut open, the inside crumb removed and filled with whipped cream, are all well liked. The rolled jelly cake is another favorite with a cup of tea. Cake with a dish of fruit, canned or fresh, a cup of tea, cocoa or coffee, will be a good finish to the light supper.

Seasonable Sandwiches. There is no season for sandwiches, for they are always in season, but at certain times of year we like certain types of sandwiches.

Sandwiches.—Cut white bread one-fourth of an inch in thickness, trim off the crusts and spread half the slices with butter and the remaining half with mayonnaise dressing. Chop two dozen or more green olives very fine, add half their measure of pecan nut meats; moisten with mayonnaise and spread generously. Put together in pairs, press edges together and cut in triangles. Garnish with tiny pipes cut from green peppers.

Eggs a la Moutarde Sandwiches.—Chop fine six hard-cooked eggs. Melt one-half cupful of butter, add the eggs and one tablespoonful of French mustard, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one tablespoonful each of finely chopped tarragon leaves, chervil, parsley and chives. Toss all lightly together, season with salt and black pepper. Mix thoroughly and spread while hot between slices of bread delicately toasted and well buttered. Serve hot.

Kiddies' Birthday Sandwiches.—Cut white bread into thin slices, shape with a rectangular cookie cutter with a scalloped edge. Spread generously with pimento butter. Cover with a piece of the same size but from which small pieces have been removed with small fancy vegetable cutters. Pimento butter is prepared with creamed butter and pimentos, put through a sieve.

Lenten Sandwiches.—Chop hard-cooked egg and pound to a paste with anchovies, allowing two anchovies to each egg. Season with salt, paprika, a dash of cayenne, moisten with salad dressing and spread alternate slices with the egg mixture and mayonnaise. Trim off the crusts, press together in pairs and cut into narrow strips. Serve with a dinner salad.

Alchovy, Fish and Eggs Sandwiches.—Take one cupful of finely minced boiled fish, add two finely chopped, hard-cooked eggs, one-half dozen anchovies skinned and finely chopped, one-half of a medium sized cooked beet, chopped. Season well with salt and pepper. Serve as filling for white bread sandwiches with mayonnaise and sprinkled with sprays of chleory or watercress. Garnish with sliced olives, and pearl onions arranged around the sliced olives.

Adrift With Humor

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

"Oh, daddy," said the young lady; "Mrs. Jones said you were the handsomest man on our street."
"What's that?" asked the father.
There was a brief silence, then the daughter shook her head and said, "Well, I guess it's true, all right."
"What's true?" asked the father.
"That every time you compliment a man he makes you repeat it!"—Christian Science Monitor.

TROUBLESOME VOWELS

"Can't he speak plainly? I heard him say certain vowels gave him trouble."
"Oh, he was referring to his L. O. U's."

Our Sham World

"All that glitters is not gold." But here's the truth, though bitter: Lots of people that we know are satisfied with glitter.—The American Boy Magazine.

An Accident

"My wife had a motor accident yesterday."
"I'm sorry. Was there much damage done?"
"A fair amount. A smashed-up back and several screws loose."
"Your poor wife!"
"Oh, you were referring to her? She only got a broken leg."—Karlakuren, Oslo.

Short and Sweet

Simpson was on his deathbed and the doctor had been detailed to tell him there was no hope.
"I hope you broke the news to him gently," sobbed the tearful wife.
"Oh, yes," replied the physician briskly. "I told him if he had any bills to pay he'd better not wait till the first of the month."—American Legion Monthly.

The Flirt on the Phone

"Hello! Peggy speaking—who is this?"
"It's Frank, sweetheart."
"I can't understand you."
"Listen—F for Ferdie, R for Robert, A for Arthur, N for Nat and K for Kenneth."
"But dearest, which one of the five are you?"

NOT PRESERVED

"And the poor thing was caught in the frightful jam."
"What happened to her?"
"Mashed to a jelly."
