

IN DAYS OF OUR FOREFATHERS

Women Prepared Their Own Medicines

The wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the rafters of colonial houses, hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed simple and powerful remedies. From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. The beneficial effects of this dependable medicine are vouched for by hundreds of women.

Mrs. Wm. Kraft, of 2834 Vinewood Ave., Detroit, Mich., saw a Pinkham advertisement in the "News" one day and made up her mind that she would give the Compound a trial. At that time she was very weak. "After the first bottle," she writes, "I began to feel better and like a new woman after taking six bottles. I recommend it to others and always keep a bottle in the house."

Mrs. Gust Green of 401 Lincoln Park Boulevard, Rockford, Illinois, found herself in a condition similar to that of Mrs. Kraft. "I was weak and run-down," she writes, "but the Vegetable Compound has helped me and I feel better now. I recommend it to all women who need more strength."

Funeral for Snake

Some time ago a rattlesnake was captured in the Blue Ridge foothills by wood haulers. The reptile became domesticated and docile in his tame surroundings. He was called "Lucky Jake" and became the favorite pet of workers at the DeFord tannery in Virginia. Recently during a severe cold spell Lucky Jake died, probably from old age. The whole tannery force turned out for his brief but well-attended funeral services.

The Croupier's Rake

Charles M. Schwab, at a dinner on the eve of his departure for Europe, discussed his recent pronouncement in praise of speculation. "Speculation," he said, "isn't gambling. While speculation benefits business, gambling benefits nothing and nobody except the gambling house." Mr. Schwab laughed. "An American family wintering in Nice," he said, "took their colored nurse to see the gambling at the casino. For half an hour or so the old woman watched the croupiers gathering in the cash; then she turned to her mistress and said: "'Ah tells yo' what 'tis, Miss Abby. De yo-way to bent dish year game is to git yo'self one o' dem 'B' rakes.'"

Why?

A constant preaching of the Good Gentleman is that we should all do a good deal for others. . . . How about the others? Should they not be criticized for failure to so much as take care of themselves? Why should one forever hold out his hand and another put something of value in it?—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

If a married woman likes to talk while her husband listens she ought to encourage him to smoke a pipe.

Visits Graveyard in Boat

To inspect an old graveyard, Lord Craigavon, premier of Ireland, recently had to make the journey in a "cot," the primitive boat still used by the people of Galloon Island, in Upper Lough Erne. During the trip his lordship was told that the only industry that the island has ever had was the making of illicit whiskey, but the police had destroyed it.

Nice Little Windfall

William Morrison of Wheeling, W. Va., driving to Washington, D. C., at night, ran out of gasoline. Climbing from his machine he flagged with a flashlight the first machine approaching, a big truck. The truck slowed up, but did not stop. As it passed him, something struck Morrison in the face. He found it to be a sealed envelope which contained a $100 bill.
