Oh! to be big enough to follow Archbishop Benson's principles: "Not to call attention to crowded work or petty fatigues, or trivial experiences. To seek no favor, no compassion; to deserve, not to ask, for tenderness. To heal wounds which in times past my cruel and careless hands have made. Not to feel any uneasiness when my advice or opinion is not asked, or is set aside."

DESSERTS AND DRINKS

There are so many delightful dishes which may be made and frozen unstirred or molded, that there is an infinite variety from which to choose.

Cherry Mousse.—To a pint of double cream add three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, a cupful of cherry juice and a drop or two of almond extract. Chill and whip the cream until stiff, then add the other ingredients. Turn into a mold, cover closely and pack in ice and salt for four hours.

Nougat Ice Cream.—Cook together a cupful of sour cream and a cupful of sugar until it reaches the soft ball stage when tried in cold water, flavor and add a cupful of hickory nut meats or pecans, add one quart of rich milk to which has been added a cupful of sugar and when cool freeze as usual.

Fruit Crown.—Peel, core and quarter three sweet apples and three quinces, cover with sweet elder and cook until tender; remove the apples unbroken. Measure the elder and add enough to make a pint. Over half a box of gelatin pour half a cupful of cold elder, set into cold water and stir until it begins to thicken, then turn into a border mold, tipping the mold so that the jelly will line the mold. Now fill with chopped and cooked quinces and the apples. Cover with jelly and set away to chill. Invert on a cold dish and fill the center with sweetened cream or pour it around the mold. Garnish with browned almonds.

Grape Nectar.—To a quart of grape juice add a pint of sirup and the juice of four oranges. Chill and when serving add a bottle of charged water.

Pineapple Drink.—Add a pint of prepared sirup (water and sugar cooked together) to a pint of grated pineapple. Set on ice for three hours, add a bit of lemon juice, strain and serve.

Ever Ready Lemonade.—Boil together one cupful each of sugar and water, add one-half cupful of lemon juice, cook a few minutes and bottle. Keep in the ice chest until it is ready for the addition of water and ice and the drink is ready. A tablespoonful of this sirup to a glass of water makes a fine drink.

Grape Juice prepared as a drink is delightful with addition of a bottle of ginger ale.

Autumn and Fruit Time.

We are so busy with putting up fruits for winter that we miss much of the joy of the riotous colors of the autumn. Following the luscious berries of summer come the delicious autumn fruits, the late peaches, pears, melons, plums and grapes, and the melting sweetness of the cantaloupe, making a group of color unrivaled and flavor unequalled.

As a salad there is nothing more attractive in color or better in flavor than good ripe pears, peeled and cut into sections and arranged on lettuce with the same sized sections of ripe peeled tomato. Serve with any well-liked salad dressing.

Pears Gateau.—Wash six ripe pears, remove the blossom and scoop out the core. Make a rich sirup to which add the juice and some of the grated rind of a lemon. Cook the pears without destroying the shape, lift out and cool and fill the cavities with chopped figs, walnut meats and a pinch of salt to each. Set on ice and when serving time comes cut out squares or rounds of sponge cake, scoop out the centers and set a pear on each piece. Pour the sirup over them and serve.

Grape Dessert.—Soften two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in cold water. Add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar to one pint of grape juice (fresh), add the juice of two lemons, strain and add the gelatin. Set the basin containing the mixture into a dish of crushed ice, stir until it thickens, then add the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs. Fill chilled glasses two-thirds full and pile sweetened whipped cream on top.

Peach Bouchees.—Bake a rich biscuit dough over tinned molds and when cold fill with sweetened sliced peaches over which has been poured a little orange juice; serve topped with whipped cream.

Pears With Chocolate Cream.—Pare and core firm ripe pears cut into halves. Hollow out the pear, leaving a rim a half-inch thick and deep. Have ready some chocolate ice cream scooped in a small cone. Fill the hollowed pears and serve at once. Mashed chestnuts makes a most dainty and appetizing dish to serve with meats as one does potato. Cook and season them as for mashed potato.

Just a Little Smile

COULDN'T BE

The steamer was plowing its way across the channel at a time when a big sea was running. A kindly steward went up to an old lady, who looked very pale and was leaning against the rail.
"Come below," he said; "your teeth are chattering with the cold."
"Don't tell lies, laddie," replied the old lady, sternly. "My teeth are in my pocket."—Tit-Bits.

SIGHT FOR SORE EYES

"Professor, can you see how short that terrible woman is wearing her skirts?"
"No, doggoned, these glasses need readjusting."

Mary's Modern Lamb

Mary had a little lamb,
It drank some gasoline,
One day it wandered near the fire,
And since has not benzoine.

Faultless

"It is extraordinary that Mrs. Jenks can never see any faults in her children," observed Mrs. Smith.
"Mothers never can," remarked her husband.
"What an absurd idea, James! So like a man, I'm sure I should see faults in our children at once—if they had any."—London Tit-Bits.

Valuable Thumb!

"How, madam," demanded the attorney for the defense in a compensation case, "can you prove that the thumb you lost in this accident was worth $5,000?"
"It was the thumb," retorted the plaintiff, "under which I kept my husband."—Vancouver Province.

All Set

"Of course, young man," said the girl's father, "you know that my daughter has always had a good home."
"Yes, sir," beamed the suitor. "I believe that it will prove entirely satisfactory."—American Legion Monthly.

UNMANNED

Mrs. Jones—"I hear Miss Pansie is a wreck from losing the man she expected to marry." Mrs. Smith—"It's completely unmanned her, my dear."

Indestructible

There was a little joke,
For centuries it grew,
Now, when in public spoke,
It's just as good as new.

It's There

Jane—I just came from the drawing room.
Helen—There's no drawing room in that building.
Jane—Yes, there is. My dentist has an office in that building.

Worth of Difference

Customer—I can get this article 10 cents cheaper across the street.
Clerk—Perhaps so, but why risk your life for a dime?—Boston Transcript.

Had Its Number

Waitress to customer troubled about his salad—Is the salad gritty, sir?
Customer—Gritty? It's a gravel path with a few weeds in it.—London Tit-Bits.

Worth Trying

"Doctor, my wife is a kleptomaniac. Can you do anything for her?"
"Well, we might try vaccination; that keeps people from taking things."—Vancouver Province.

THIS WOMAN FOUND RELIEF

After Long Suffering by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a little town of the middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine, and you can use these facts as a testimonial. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. Daugherty, 1808 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

Popularity Foe to Brains

The reason that popular college youths do not get as high marks as the bookworms is not, as commonly believed, just that they do not care to work as hard, but that they are likely to rate lower in brain power, reports Dr. W. H. Sheldon of tests made at the University of Chicago.

However, brains and outstanding leadership seemed to go together. The notion that large-bodied men rank higher in sociability than thin men, but lower in scholarship and intelligence, appeared to have some support from the figures.—Hygeia Magazine.
