TO MY MOTHER
BY EDGAR ALLAN POE
Because I feel that in the Heavens above,
The angels, whispering to one another,
Can find among their burning terms of love,
None so devotional as that of 'Mother',
Therefore by that dear name I long have called you—
You who are more than mother unto me,
And fill my heart of hearts, where Death installed you,
In setting my Virginia's spirit free.
My mothe—my own mothes who died early,
Was but the mother of myself; but you
Are mother of the one I loved so dearly,
And thus are dearer than the mother I knew
By that infinity with which my wife
Was dearer to my soul than its soul life.

THE EYES HAVE IT
April 22-28 Proclaimed Vision Week—To Be Observed Throughout Nation.
By Mart Sloan.
Portland, Or., April 19—(Special). The week of April 22-28 has been designated "Save Your Vision Week" and this is heartily endorsed by the Hon. L. L. Patterson, Governor of the State of Oregon.
This is in conformity with the proclamation of the American Optometric Association which, through the several state organizations, will carry the message of conservation of vision to the public during that week.
Civilization is the fruit of Man's spiritual and intellectual victories. It is a composite product of the contributions of the Ages.
The large part played therein by the human eye can hardly be exaggerated. More and more the function of vision has been called upon to meet the strenuous demands of present day life. As a result, visual defects have apparently grown apace, as is evidenced by the wider use of eye glasses. Yet we are told by trustworthy authorities that the American people are still woefully lacking in the care of the eyes.
It is pointed out that more than 30% of the people are seriously in need of optical attention, though not to exceed 10% of the entire population has ever had a scientific eye examination. The public schools and colleges of the United States enroll 25 million students. Numerous surveys made of this group revealed serious visual defects prevailing among more than 30% of those examined.
Most readers will recall press references to the findings of the Federated Engineering Society's industrial survey which covered ten different institutions. Not only did they report an alarming percentage of employees suffering from visual defects but a large part of them were unable to render efficient service because of these defects. No end of astonishing figures could be quoted from the Commission's report. Incidentally, Herbert Hoover was chairman of the committee.
Thus the evidence is conclusive that the class room, library, picture show, factory, store and counting house, all take toll of the human eye. But we cannot all be trappers and hunters, nor languish beneath the palm tree—we have the World's work to do.
When the eye weakened under abnormal demands, Science sought a solution. Then there came into existence a new group, known as optometrists, who specialize upon vision and eyestrain. They number more than 20,000 in America today and their practice is regulated by statutes in every state in the Union.
Verily, mankind is not to be thwarted in its onward, upward struggle.

Judgment of Others
It is a wrong use of my understanding to make it the rule and measure of another man's—a use which it is neither fit nor capable of.—Locke.

That Rare Poise
Poise is that quality which enables a man to hum a tune while the red signal light prevents him from catching the street car leaving from the opposite corner.
