VOLUME XVII

IONE, OREGON, FRIDAY, June 8, 1928

RECEPTION TO NEWLYWEDS

The outstanding social event of the week was the reception given to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ahalt and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Drake at Legion hall on Tuesday evening. The hall was crowded by the friends of the happy couples. The evening hours were filled with merriment and good will.

Refreshments were served to the throng of merry-makers.

Each of the brides had previously been the recipient of a heavy shower, that of Mrs. Drake being given on the evening of the party at the home of her parents and that of Mrs. Ahalt the week previous at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ritchie.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Griffith and children are at home again after a week's camping trip. They returned last Saturday evening.

Mr. Elda Zink, who has been employed at Saddle Butte Ranch, left today for Lyle, Wash., where he will visit his father, A. M. Zink, who is engaged in general farming near that place. Mr. E. Zink may go on to Portland for the Rose Festival. He expects to be in Ione in time for the harvest.

Unless you are fully insured against loss by fire or hail better see L. Balsiger today. Tomorrow may be too late.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mankin have returned from a visit with relatives in Portland. They were accompanied by Mrs. Dwight Miser, Mrs. Mankin's mother, who will visit here briefly.

Mr. George Ely, the new manager of the Jordan Elevator, and his son Francis are living in the Balcomb house.

See F. H. Robinson for Grain, Automobile, Combine Harvester, and all kinds of fire insurance.

Mrs. Louis Balsiger and her mother, Mrs. McNey went to Portland Tuesday. Mrs. Balsiger will go on to Eugene where Mr. Balsiger will join her for attendance at the University Commencement. They will return to Ione Tuesday.

Miss Norma Swanson who has been visiting relatives at North Bend, Washington, is at home again.

The manager of the local Tuna Lum yard has been confined to the house for some days but is now on the way to recovery. During his illness, "Dad" Griffin substituted for him at the yard.

Mrs. Jennie McMurray was in Corvallis attending the College Commencement. Her son, Nolan Page, graduated from the School of Engineering.

LOCAL CLUBS RECEIVE CHARTERS

Charters have been received by two boys and girls clubs in Morrow County from the extension department at Corvallis. These charters indicate the organization of the clubs as standard 4-H clubs. The members agree to do the work outlined by the extension office and to give demonstrations of their work. The clubs are two poultry clubs, one at Ione led by Miss Beulah Lundell and one at Irrigon led by Mrs. T. W. Caldwell.

Dr. A. D. McMurdo was called to the Cecil Sargent home this week by the severe illness of one of the little girls, Wilma. The child is now reported to be much better.

MATERNITY HOME

Don't forget that Cole Smith writes both hail and fire insurance on grain. Better get covered now and protect yourself.

MORROW COUNTY DAY AT EXPERIMENT STATION

Sunday, June 17th, will be Morrow County's day at the Sherman Branch experiment station at Moro, Oregon. Arrangements have been made with Mr. Stevens for a trip through the farm to view the results of the methods of cultivation upon plots and to study wheat varieties.

It is planned to start from Heppner at 8 o'clock, go through the country on the Old Oregon Trail between McNabb and Shuler Flats, then to Moro for lunch.

Any one wishing to take this trip and having transportation should get in touch with the County Agent at once. It is hoped that a large number will accompany us on this tour and that you will tell your neighbor about it.

Let us hear from you as to whether or not you are going.

Very truly yours,
Chas. W. Smith
County Agent

See Dr. Clarke, the Eye Sight Specialist about your eyes. He will be at the Ione Hotel all day and evening, Saturday, June 23.

Common Sense Demands Individual Initiative for Electrical Service

SAYS NATION'S BUSINESS:

"It is a tribute to the adaptability of American business and to the common sense of our people as well, that in a short time a system of governmental regulation has been evolved that leaves management and operation to business enterprise. Private management and operation retains an initiative and freedom rarely found in governmental bureaus.

The history of America's growth and prosperity might well be called a history of the triumph of commonsense. Commonsense dictated a plan of government which would allow the largest possible freedom to individual enterprise. Commonsense in business has shown how this freedom may be used for the greatest good of all.

In the electric light and power industry, the common sense of individual initiative has enabled a business whose service and earnings are governmentally regulated, to provide for an expansion of service which has required nearly a billion dollars of new capital each year. The development of new uses for electricity in industry and in the home has called for an immense program of construction.

To provide for this growing public need, the power companies not only have not added a penny to the tax burden of the communities they serve, but have actually yielded a constant ly increasing total of taxes. And with all these demands upon them, with costs of fuel material and labor constantly rising, they have achieved a steady decline in electric rates.

Foresight, courage, consummate skill in engineering and administration are merely tools with which the record of electrical service in America has been made. The force which made achievement possible is found in the freedom of individual initiative and public confidence in the financial integrity and standards of service of the companies.

In the power of individual initiative lies the secret of the success not only of light and power companies but of every business where enterprise and faithful service receive their natural rewards. The common sense which has preserved this force for the growth of electrical service in America thus far, will continue to defend it against attacks in the future.
