PIONEER PASSES ON

PAUL RIETMANN, FOR 45 YEARS A RESIDENT OF MORROW COUNTY, DIES AT HEPPNER.

Paul Rietmann, who recently underwent a major operation at a Heppner hospital, died Monday evening and was buried Wednesday. Funeral services were held at the Congregational church at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. W. W. Head, officiating. The hymns were sung by Mr. Karl Beach and his son Laurel, of Lexington, with Mrs. Karl Beach as accompanist. Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Ione. Mr. Rietmann was born in Highland, Illinois, October 30, 1855. His marriage to Margaret Glock occurred at that place, March 16, 1882, and a year later they emigrated to the West and, after some time spent at Olympia and Walla Walla, finally located on the homestead near Ione which is the present home of the family. His age at the time of his death was 72 years, 7 months and 25 days.

He is survived by his widow and one sister, Mrs. Alice Keller, eight sons, two daughters and five grandsons.

Gas Once a Curiosity

When the first gas lights were introduced in Baltimore, in 1816, they were placed on exhibit in the museum there and crowds paid admission to see them. Newspaper accounts described them as marvelous "lights without oil, tallow, wick or smoke." The exhibit proved so successful that a gas company was formed the next year, and the streets of the city were soon lighted by the lamps. This was one of the first commercial installations in the United States.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

There will be special services at the Christian church next Sunday evening. This being Independence Sunday the program will be of a patriotic character. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

Averages Untrustworthy

Recent insurance experience has shown that average tables are often misleading. The average weights are by no means the best weights. At ages under thirty the best conditions apparently exist among those whose weights are from five to ten pounds above the average. After age thirty the most favorable conditions are found among those whose weights are below the average. The amount below average increases with advancing age and at age fifty persons seem to be at their best when their weights are as much as twenty or thirty pounds below the average. Insurance experience shows that underweight is definitely an advantage so far as long life is concerned.

Bull Fights Less Cruel

To stem the tide of cruelty in bull fights, managers of contests are protecting the horses. In Lima, Peru, traditional skin-and-bones equipment have been replaced by splendid special mens of horse flesh. They are not blindfolded, and are said to show skill in avoiding the horns of the bull while their masters waved the red cloaks in front of the charging bovine. In Madrid tests are being made to find a suitable armor for the horses. Other cities of Spain are introducing more humane methods.

Valuable Clay

Kaolin, or china clay, is the fine white clay used in the manufacture of porcelain. It is derived from the decomposition of feldspar in rocks. The chief British source of supply is the clay pits of Devon and Cornwall. Kaolin is also used for the sizing of printing paper and cotton cloth, and in the preparation of certain pigments.

St. Bernard Mixed Breed

If tradition may be accepted as authentic, the St. Bernard dog is a product of the Alpine section of Switzerland. There, about 600 years ago, the monks of the Hospice of St. Bernard are said to have created the original type from the cross of a mastiff dog of the Pyrenees with a Danish bulldog bitch. Later it became necessary to outcross with the Newfoundland and the Pyrenean sheep dog in order to refill the hospice kennels, which had been practically destroyed through the ravages of distemper and accident. Credit is likewise given the English mastiff and the bloodhound, used in bringing the St. Bernard to its present stage of development. The outcome of this heterogeneous mixing of the blood of various breeds has been the production of a very extraordinary dog, an animal in which size, strength, bravery, loyalty and devotion are traditional characteristics.
