That Settled It

Mrs. MacMasters was in a quandary. A pair of Russian boots and a pair of elegant shoes looked equally attractive, and as there was no difference in either the fit or the price the poor woman did not know which to choose. For a long time she hesitated, wavering between the two kinds of footwear. Then she turned to her husband and asked his opinion.

"Well, mither," he answered cautiously, "if ye choose yon Russians ye'll aye be buyin' blackin'."—London Answers.

Mr. Bushers and family returned from Yakima, Washington, last week. They are living in Mrs. Nash's house in Morgan where they expect to spend the summer.

A good Drug Store is known by the Merchandise it sells.
—Bullard's Pharmacy.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Streeter and children, of Camas, Wash., who came up Monday evening to spend the Fourth with Mrs. Streeter's cousin, Mrs. J. F. Hardesty, spent Tuesday afternoon visiting at the Pat Medlock home.

See Louis Basige for insurance.

Mr. Glenn Fall, accompanied by his mother, was calling at the Willow Creek Poultry Farm on Tuesday last.

Girls

"Commodore Gerry," a New York yachtsman said of the noted philanthropist—"Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry had old-fashioned views, and the modern girl interested and alarmed him.

"He was talking one day at a luncheon in his Newport house about the modern girl's dress—its audacity, you know.

"Modern fashions," he said, "are charming, but—"

He hesitated, then he went on: "Girls used to want to be looked up to. Now they want to be looked round at."

Caught

"No such a thing!" retorted Mrs. Johnson. "You wasn't there a-tall. You're just telling me another whopper, so you are!"

"Huh!" snortly returned Gap Johnson of Humpus Ridge. "What's the use of wasting a good excuse on a fellow's wife, anyhow?"—Kansas City Star.

Imitates Human Voice

By the use of an organ-pipe reed, his fingers and a bellows operated by foot, an English inventor has succeeded in imitating the human voice to an extent that is uncanny. The reed serves as the vocal organ and the fingers as the tongue and lips. He recently produced the sentence, "Hello, London; are you there?" as clearly as if he were telephoning from New York. It is claimed that the experiment proves that the human voice is largely a mechanical result of muscular and nervous action.
