"The Light's Too Poor"

With a Modern Kodak, such statements won't bother you. For a Modern Kodak is independent of bright light—it gets good pictures early or late in the day, indoors near sunlit windows, outdoors in the shade.

The reason is that Modern Kodaks are equipped with faster lenses—lenses that admit more light to the film for better exposure. And Kodaks with these remarkable lenses are now available at less than half the former price of such optical equipment.

Let us show and explain the Modern Kodaks to you
