Notes of Interest to All Local Denominations.

Thursday of this week the annual fellowship meeting for the Congregational churches of the Mid Columbia Association was held in the Congregational church in Ione. The series of meetings began in Hood River and The Dalles on Tuesday, was continued on Wednesday at Condon and will terminate in the Association meeting with the church at Freewater.

Next week the missionary meeting of the Dorcas Society will be addressed by a missionary recently returned from the China field. The lady is visiting all the missionary societies of the Oregon Conference. She plans to meet with the Aid Society of the church at Lexington on Wednesday afternoon. The Ione meeting will be held Thursday.

Robinson, Democratic Candidate, Quoted in Warm Praise of Herbert Hoover

Arkansas Senator, Smith Running Mate, Called His Counsel and Leadership an Inspiration to the World

"Herbert Hoover suspended the performance of his duties in the cabinet and came in person to where the difficulties were greatest. His presence, his advice, his counsel and leadership are an inspiration to men in high places throughout the world," said Senator Robinson, Democratic candidate for Vice President, speaking before a flood relief ceremony in Little Rock, Ark., on June 25, 1927.

L. W. Cunningham, of the staff of Colorado Springs Gazette, in a letter to William H. Hill, New York State Chairman of the Hoover-Curtis Campaign Committee, recalled the speech eulogizing Hoover and compared it with the attacks that Robinson is now making from the platform upon the Republican candidate.

"Robinson was a fine witness, well knowing his duty," declares Cunningham. "He said that Mr. Hoover has said on many occasions that time is being criticized by Robinson. He is criticizing on the record of the man of whom he said in his Little Rock speech:

"Few men in the history of mankind have exemplified exceptional success in relieving the suffering of their fellow beings. The guest of honor at these ceremonies, Mr. Herbert Hoover, is noted as the world's greatest relief administrator.

"His career, apparently, has not reached the climax, but it is already distinguished by many unusual experiences and praiseworthy achievements.

"The outstanding triumphs of Mr. Hoover's efforts consist in the organization and direction of tremendous relief forces in periods of appalling calamity or national peril.

"He did not lead armies, troops to battle during the late world conflict; but he was called to assume a responsibility of equal, if not greater, importance. His task was to mobilize the nation's food supply and to restrain the greed and avarice of profiteers.

"Hearing the commission of our great chief and wartime president, Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Hoover opposed and halted the deadly advance of hunger, pestilence and famine following the war in Belgium, Russia and other foreign lands. Hospitals for the sick and wounded! Food and clothing for the victims of hate and war! Among the suffering and the dying he bore aloft a banner, saluted with respect and love in every civilized land—the banner of the Red Cross.

"Then the Senator referred to the picture of the Mississippi Valley flood and said:

"Who would not prefer the glory of leadership in the cause of mercy and relief to the blood-stained insignia of a conqueror?"

"This large assembly and these ceremonies attest the appreciation of the people of Arkansas for the unusual service which Mr. Hoover has rendered by special commission of the president in a time of great distress. He suspended the performance of duties in the cabinet and came in person to where the difficulties were greatest. His presence, his advice, his counsel and leadership are an inspiring example to men in high places throughout the world.

"Mr. Hoover's heart has not only shared the sorrows and burdens of the passing flood disaster; he assumes a task which he might avoid and leave to others to perform. We are proud of him as much because of his readiness to advise and assist in the permanent solution of the problem of flood prevention and control, so that the future may be safeguarded against the loss of life and property which came in the spring of this year. Legislation for comprehensive and permanent protection against flood will find in him a courageous advocate. His recommendations will influence and probably shape the suggestions of the president in his message to Congress.

"We have not forgotten, we will never forget the human touch, the kindly spirit, the friendly sympathy, the effective aid which Mr. Hoover and his associates brought in a time of strain and need."

Republicans and Wages

Real wages and the standards of living of our labor have improved more during the past seven and a half years of Republican rule than during any similar period in the history of this or any other country. — HERBERT HOOVER in his Newark speech.

Hooverism

Examine the experience of Europe and you will find certain weaknesses in their machinery of democracy, upon the rocks of which they have been wrecked. There are lessons for the United States in these wrecks. — Herbert Hoover.

Eastern Oregon Voters have been apprised of the qualifications of the outstanding and leading candidate for Congress from the Second Oregon District—Robert R. Butler. He has not made any promises except to serve all Eastern Oregon as this district has been served in the past through the long service of N. J. Stnott. That is a worthy promise, one that can be fulfilled and one that should appeal to you when you vote next Tuesday, Nov. 6.

FARMERS COOL TO SMITH PLEA

New York State Agriculture Backs Hoover Plan as Practical.

HALL, N. Y.—Farmers in New York state are giving active approval to the constructive farm program announced by Herbert Hoover, declares Charles S. Wilson of this place, who as commissioner of agriculture came to grips with Governor Smith in the latter's efforts to extend Tammany's domination over the New York farms and markets department.

"New York farmers who have had their own problems to solve during the last decade," says Mr. Wilson, "recall that, in eight annual messages to the state legislature, Governor Smith's chief recommendation with respect to agriculture has been to scrap the machinery of the present department of agriculture and markets, which the farmers in the state with few exceptions endorse and approve. That done, it was well understood in political circles that the governor planned to seize the department and reorganize it as an added portion of gubernatorial patronage.

"It may not be generally known that 750,000 persons reside on the farms of New York State. They employ capital, in farmlands and equipment, approximating $2,000,000,000. Two-thirds of the area of the state is farm land. While the state, among the other states is only 25th in total area and 20th in area of farm lands, it stands eighth in the total of agricultural production.

"Republican legislatures for eight years have kept these varied, as well as financially and economically important farm interests, out of the maw of the political patronage into which Governor Smith has sought to throw them.

"Governor Smith during his incumbency of the executive chair has had some other peculiar ideas respecting agriculture. In his first year as governor there was submitted to him a report in which the suggestion was made that milk be declared a public utility and its price fixing power be made a function of the state. At the outset, Governor Smith made known his approval of this recommendation."

Wages and Bread

Our real wages and our standards of living are the highest in the world. And I am speaking of the real buying power of wages compared with the foreign wages over a common denominator of bread and butter. — HERBERT HOOVER in his Newark speech.

Foreign Trade Gain

If we make a survey of the world's trade today we shall find that the export trade of all countries is only 10 per cent above pre-war, while ours is 58 per cent. — HERBERT HOOVER in his Newark speech.
