The lenses on modern Kodaks admit adequate light for proper exposure under all sorts of conditions—good pictures are possible from daylight to dusk, indoors or out, rain or shine.

Give a Modern Kodak for Christmas

With their extra picture-making ability, modern Kodaks assume a most important role in the Christmas gift field.

Such a high-speed lens as the Kodak Anastigmat f.6.3, for example—now available for the first time on medium-priced Kodaks—can't help but please anyone on your list, especially someone who now owns a less capable camera.

Come in today—see the modern Kodaks and how easily they work.
