

Artificial "Snow."

Once a novelty, "chemical snow" is now manufactured by the ton instead of by the ounce. It is increasingly used for refrigeration, for under certain conditions this substance is said to be 15 times as efficient as water ice. Ice cream, now shipped from New York to Cuba, weighs only one-third as much as it would if packed with ice.

Ocean's Treasures.

The ocean supplies important amounts of human food, of raw materials such as sharks' skins, oils from sea animals, furs, and materials obtainable from seaweed. If the human race were compelled to do so, it is probable that practically all our meat supplies could be obtained from the ocean, as well as a considerable part of our vegetable requirements.

Causes of Storms.

Electrical storms are generated by sudden or sharp changes in atmospheric temperature. Since the upper atmosphere is always cold, such changes are much less frequent in winter, when the temperature near the earth is also low. Hence, thunder and lightning are much more frequent in summer than in winter.

Bodily Heat Formation.

Heat is a form of molecular energy. According to the modern kinetic theory of heat, the molecules of all bodies are in a state of rapid vibration and any increase of the rapidity of this motion, from whatever cause, increases the heat of the body, while the heat is decreased if this velocity is diminished.

Lucky Individual.

The lucky ones seem to be always as if they just came into the world. . . . There is still in them something of Adam upon the first day; they reconnoiter, with shining eyes, the layout of the garden, and stand in admiration at such novel curiosities as the moon and stars.—C. E. Montague.

Fond of Animals.

Erza, the janitor, found occasion to make himself quite busy in the office during a business session of the stockholders of the firm. After their departure he said to the manager of the business: "Boss, you mind showing me that white elephant I heard you all say you got?"

Snails in Hibernation.

Snails dig themselves into the ground in winter and remain torpid, cementing the opening to their shells. They breathe through a small hole in the "cement," too small to allow the entrance of water, but large enough to let air in.

Danger in Eloquence.

"Eloquence," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "is a gift of the gods, to be used with discretion. It causes an error of statement to be remembered beyond the power even of eloquence to correct it."—Washington Star.

The First Lottery.

The earliest known lottery was drawn at Bruges on February 24, 1440. The late state lottery in England was drawn on October 18, 1839, at Coopers hall, London, in Basing hall street.

Pedestrian Livelihood.

The automobile industry, we read is growing by leaps and bounds, and if you want to know whose leaps and bounds, just stand on a street corner and take a good look.—New York Evening Post.

Italian Art.

The earliest period of Italian art is called the Gothic (about 1250-1400); that from 1400-1500 Early Renaissance; that from 1500 to 1600 the High Renaissance; after that the Decline.

Color and Sound.

It is said that at least 2 per cent of human beings associate a particular color with each sound they hear and sometimes this extends to the names of days of the week.

Sugar-Coated.

"I want a little pink tablet," said the customer in the drug store. "What's your trouble?" "I want to write a letter," explained the customer.—Capper's Weekly.

His Dear Departed.

A Berlin husband advertises his matrimonial troubles in a local paper: "My pious faithful wife has departed from me. Will the honorable finder please keep?"

LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

"Name this child," said the minister, preparing to baptize the twins. The proud father threw out his chest, "George Theodore Andrew John Lincoln Carnegie Jones!" The minister gasped. "And the other?" The meek, nervous mother in a scarcely audible voice answered: "Maude."

Crescendo.

An absent-minded pianist bought an automobile, and, after the salesman had given him two lessons, decided he could run it without assistance. When he awoke in the hospital the first thing he said was: "I thought that was the loud pedal I pressed with my right foot." "It was!" said the nurse with a smile.

His Mistake.

He—Say, girls, let's get married and take a long honeymoon. She—Have you enough money? He—No, but aren't you the girl that was left all that cash? She—No. He—Oh, my goodness, I beg your pardon.

Out of the Frying Pan.

"Doesn't Joe ever get tired of his wife's continued sulkiness?" "I think not. He says when she's good natured she sings."

Also a Riot of Color.

They were watching a gorgeous sunset. "Did you ever see such a wonderful display of color?" exclaimed the poetic one. "Nowhere, except on a flapper's face," replied the other.

In the Year 2000.

Inhabitant of Mars—Who's that lady I've seen with lately? Earth Dweller—That's no lady, that's my mechanical, electric-driven combination housekeeper and playmate.

Historic Gas Plant

With the advent of artificial gas into New Orleans, fires in the historic natural gas plant flickered out after more than 93 years of continuous burning. Before the Civil war slaves tended the fires in the gas house and the old corporation carried on its books the item of $53,000 of "live assets," or slaves. The massive ornamental iron gate, to discourage breaks for electricity, still swings in place.
