Union counties, is chairman of Committee on Military Affairs for this Legislative session, having been appointed by Senator A. W. Norblad on Monday, the opening day of the session. He is Vice Chairman of the Committee on Game, and also a member of the committees on Banking, Election and Privileges, Roads and Highways and Ways and Means, making a total of six committees on which he is serving.

Senator Kiddle is living at No. 754 Ferry St. during the session, and his phone number is 107. He has as his secretary Miss Sarah Wrenn, of Salem, who acted in the same capacity last session.

Horse Jumps Over Auto

By jumping over an automobile speeding along at nearly 40 miles an hour, a riderless army horse narrowly avoided a collision at Aldershot, England. The animal raced out from a side road just as the auto appeared, and with an amazing spring jumped clear over the car and its occupants, three women and a man.

Navigable Rivers

According to the generally accepted definition a river is navigable when in its ordinary state it forms by itself, or its connection with other waters, a continued highway over which commerce is, or may be, carried on. In the customary mode in which commerce is conducted by water.

What's a Ha-Ha?

Webster's definition of a ha-ha is a sunk fence, wall or ditch not visible till one is close upon it. The brick ha-ha walls at Mount Vernon were so called because they were not visible from the house, being built on a terrace. They enclosed the field where the cattle grazed.

Cleansing Material

Rottenstone, often recommended for cleaning and polishing brass and other metals is supposed to be a decomposed siliceous limestone and consists essentially of aluminum silicate with carbonaceous matter. Several localities in Derbyshire, England, and in Wales, are the principal sources.

Wonders Never Cease

The most purse-proud woman in this neighborhood always makes it a point to mention the fact when they're going to have dinner for dinner at her house, and that's another thing we never expected to live to see but did.—Ohio State Journal

THE DAY'S DESTINY AT HIS FINGER TIPS

The lonely vigil of the train dispatcher is a picture familiar to everyone. Few realize however the part played in almost every life by the Power Dispatcher.

Perhaps you have never heard of him, yet millions of men, women and children in the United States are quite as dependent upon him as passengers on a railroad train are dependent on a train dispatcher.

He it is who is on the other end of the wire when you turn on the electric light who releases and controls the great cataract of electric power and light which make the wheels of modern life go round.

Seated quietly at his keyboards watching the clock, the weather and the delicate instruments which trace the flow of electric energy his is the task and responsibility of keeping the supply of electric current constant and ready to meet any demand.

Let this service falter but once, and the social, industrial and economic life of the city and the countryside is paralyzed and even life may be endangered.

But the electric light and power companies have seen to it that the service will not falter. Through a system of interconnection, other reservoirs of power may always be tapped in the event of any failure on the part of the power dispatcher's lines.

Thus is life, business and the pursuit of happiness in America made safe and secure every hour of the day, every day of the year.

Ant Eggs by the Pound

Some of the birds at the Detroit Zoological park are so fussy in regard to their diet that they demand, and get, ant eggs. The management has to buy the eggs, which are dried and look like rice, by the pound.—Detroit News.

Wonderful Sense of Smell

It is said that John Keats, the poet, could name every flower near him by its scent, in the dark—or rather, the twilight, for it is a well-known fact that very few flowers give out any scent after nightfall.

For style, price and quality try Star Brand Shoes.—Bristow and Johnson.
