Ione Hi Bests Heppner

the season. Heppner tallied first in the fourth inning when an error, a hit batter, along with a fielder's choice, put over a run. Ione, however came back for revenge in their half, and by means of a couple of errors, a hit batter and a base hit, put over two runs. Ione scored again in the 5th inning on a three base hit by Johnson followed by a sacrifice fly by G. Swanson. Heppner finished scoring in the 9th when a hit, a passed ball and another hit put over their second run. Most of the time the sides were retired in one, two, three orders; sometimes by the strikeout route and sometimes by good fielding. The batteries for the game were: Heppner, Robertson and Evans; Ione, G. Swanson and Akers. Cho Drake was umpire.

Mr. EDISON AND You.

WOULD you move to a town where you couldn't have electric service, if you could help it?

Yet its only within the past five years that 4,000 towns and villages of the United States were supplied with electricity for the first time.

In these days, when even the most modest cottage is wired for electricity, it is difficult to realize that within the short span of seven years 9,000,000 homes—the hearthstones of 40,000,000 people—have been added to those already served.

Mr. Edison was ridiculed in 1882 when he set about to prove that artificial light could be furnished over wires from a central station. Today—less than 50 years later—19,000,000 have artificial light at the push of a button.
