ADDITIONAL LOCAL

The "old swimin' hole" is attracting its usual crowd these hot days. Judging from the sounds of merriment, those present are enjoying life to the fullest.

Did you know that we have a future Daniel Bishop or George McMarus, among us? Take time to look at the cartoons on display at the Ione Cash Market. They were drawn by Carl Lindekin.

His parents plan to give him special training along this line, when he is older.

Mrs. Walter Corley and children and Mrs. Elisha Sperry, returned from a week's stay in Portland. Mrs. Sperry left her two small daughters with in the city with her aunt, Miss Niblin.

Tom Johnson and family, of Newberg, have taken rooms in Mrs. Louy's apartment house. Mr. Johnson will work, during harvest, for Bert Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Radford and Mr. Radford's brother also have rooms at Mrs. Louy's. The Radford brothers are here for the wheat hauling.

IT IS A CASE OF HOW WELL NOT HOW CHEAP

Every man has some regard for his personal appearance. None of us wants to be a distinguished character for the cheapest kind of odd figure bargain clothes.

It isn't how cheap and sloven we want to look. It's how well dressed we want to be. And that's just why men who want to look better and more progressive go to a recognized tailor—the man who knows the business in other ways than commercial bargaining.

Have your clothes Tailor Made and there will be less guess work and no feeling of discomfort.

They Cost Less in the End.

"Greybeard" Recovered

Great interest has been taken in Scotland in the finding of a "grey beard," or ancient drinking vessel which was brought up in a net by a fishing crew in the North sea, 60 miles from Aberdeen. It stands nine inches high, is of brick-colored ware, and bears the representation of an old man with flowing beard. A family crest also shown. The vessel is believed to be 300 years old.

Rat's Migrations

The march of the rat across the American continent was almost in lock step, as it were, with the march of the frontiersman. In 1839 it reached the Mississippi and by 1857 was numerous in California. An English zoologist remarks that the brown rat is "the only wild animal which is known to have invaded Europe since the Pleistocene age, with the exception perhaps, of the true elk."

Morgan News

Mrs. J. F. HARDESTY

Leon Logan, of Four Mile, came Tuesday after Mr. Nash and his daughter Alice to cook for him through harvest. He expects to begin about the middle of the month.

Ivan Nonroe and Paul Petty john called on Howard Hardesty, Saturday evening.

George Mahoney, Bert Palmateer, Al Troedson, Ott Lindstrom Chester Hutchcroft and Hal Ely have begun combining and others near Morgan expect to commence Monday. The wheat is turning out pretty good.

Ott Lindstrom was the first to begin hauling wheat to the Morgan warehouse this year.

Homer Nash called on Stanley Seely, last Sunday.

Harvey Mitlock visited with Howard Hardesty, Sunday.
