

Guests in Bristow Home

Continued from Pg. 1

Frank Lundell, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lindstrom and Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Algott Lundell and three sons, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Lundell and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Drake and Bobby and Mrs. Ida Peterson. Mr. Lundell was pleased to have as guests at his birthday party, two great grandchildren, Beverly June McMillan and Robert Cleo Drake.

Superior Drills

The Name Tells the Story. —P. G. Balsiger

Morgan Items

J. B. Gorton, Seymour Wilson, and James Hardesty were business visitors in Ione, last Tuesday.

Howard Hardesty and cousins Pearl, Eva and Walter Gorton called in Cecil, Monday evening.

R. E. Harbison is taking his meals at Mrs. McFalem while his wife is in Portland.

Clark & Linn

Carpenter Work, Painting, Paper Hanging and General Repair Work Ione, Oregon.

An Adventure of the Scarlet Pimpernel

By Baroness Orczy

SUCH episodes as are treated in this thrilling story could have occurred nowhere else than in France and at no period other than that of the Revolution. The tale is of that famous band devoted to chivalry and adventure, who risked their lives time and again to save innocent victims of the tyrants who ruled France at that time.

Begin This Fine Story in

Flags of the Confederacy

There were four Confederate flags. The first was selected by a committee of six persons of the Confederate congress. This flag did not meet with the approval of the people as it too closely resembled the Union emblem. The second flag was designed by Edward C. Hancock in October, 1861. But as this was a battle flag it was not satisfactory as the people wished a national emblem in addition to one for battle. On May 1, 1862, the Confederate congress selected the third flag. This also was disapproved for two reasons: The first, because it had two much white and resembled the flag of truce; and second, because it was too similar to the English white ensign. Finally on May 4, 1862, the national Confederate flag was approved.

Names of Cloud Formations

The idea of giving names to curious kinds of cloud formation was first attempted in the early part of the Nineteenth century by a man named Lamarck, but his terms were not well chosen. A simpler form was devised about 1863 by Luke Howard which seemed to answer the purpose and was generally accepted. Howard classified clouds according to their appearance, recognizing three primary types—cirrus, cumulus and stratus—and four derivative, or compound forms—cirro-cumulus, cirro-stratus, cumulo-stratus and cumulo-cirro-stratus, or nimbus. Thus, he defined seven varieties.

Local Happenings

Continued from Page 1.

Sunday, Ione was visited by one of the worst dust storms of the season.

E. H. Robinson was called to Eugene, last week, by the serious illness of a sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole Smith motored to Bend and Crater Lake, Friday, returning, Sunday, accompanied by Mr. Smith's father W. H. A. Smith, and his sister, Miss Marcia Smith. The first of the week, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their guests made a trip to Walla Walla.

The Davidson family have received word that Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Davidson, who were motor ing back to Cleveland, Ohio, had reached their destination, Aug. 16. They had a delightful trip, stopping en-route to visit Nolan Page, who is attending summer school at the University of Iowa, in Iowa City.

Cleo Drake's brother, E. H. Drake and his sister, Mrs. Blance Henkle, started, Monday, on the return trip to California. They will stop at Bend to visit friends and at Klamath Falls to visit their brother, Leo Drake.

Elmer Griffith left, Sunday, for the Deschutes Tuesday where he fished until Tuesday. Tuesday he met Mrs. Griffith in Hood River and they came home in the evening. Mrs. Griffith, who had been visiting with a brother in Eugene, made the return trip over the Mt. Hood Loop road.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McMurray and four children, of Mullan, Idaho, arrived Monday for a visit with Mr. McMurray's mother, Mrs. Emily McMurray, and other relatives.

Miss Dorothy Wareleft, Saturday, for her home in Olympia, Washington, after a pleasant ten days visit on the ranch with her sister, Mrs. Noel Dobyns.

Finger surgery will heal your tonsils instead of removing them. Consult a physician who believes in conserving the natural organs. —J. Perry Conder.

J. N. Pieffer drove over from Walla Walla, Saturday, returning the same day. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ray Barnett and children who have been visiting.

Lodge Directory

IONE LODGE No. 129, A. F. & A. M. Meets every first and third Wednesday of each month. W. M., Harlan McCurdy Secy., W. E. Ballard

Locust Chapter No. 119, O. E. Meets the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. W. M., Lucy E. Harbison Secy., Ruth Mason

IONE LODGE No. 135, I. O. O. F. Meets every Friday evening. N. G., H. G. Rankin Secy., Lee Howell

BUNCH GRASS REBEKAH No. 9, I. O. O. F. Meets first and third Thursday of each month. N. G., Lucile Bristow Secy., Verde Ritchie

IONF POST No. 91, American Legion, meets the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. Commander, E. G. Sperry Finance Officer, John Ferris

American Legion Auxiliary No. meets on 2nd Wednesday of each month at 8:30 P. M. 4th Tuesday at 2:30 P. M. Pres., Margaret Blake Secy., Gladys Drake

Where Evolution Is Slow Grade crossings, it should be remembered, average no safer this year than last.—Toledo Blade.

MISS TROEDSON GOES TO ECHO H. S. FACULTY GRADUATE OF IONE HIGH, OREGON STATE NORMAL AND ORE. STATE COLLEGE

Miss Linea Troedson has been elected a member of the high school faculty at Echo. She will head the home economics department. Miss Troedson is well qualified to fill the position to which she has been elected. She is a graduate of the State Normal School at Monmouth one of the Oregon State College. She received her high school education in Ione, being a member of the graduating class of 1923. She has had previous experience as a teacher, part of this being in the Ione school, where she held a position as grade teacher. Her work in Echo will begin September 2.

in the Pieffer home. Mrs. Sarah Whitehead and son of Clackamas, who had been guests in the Herbert Oden home for two weeks, returned to the valley the first of the week. Mrs. Whitehead is Mrs. Olden's aunt.

Mrs. Sarah Piggott, her grand daughter, Joan, and Mrs. Loyd King and two children, were happy visitors, Monday.

Church Directory

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH Sunday School at 10:00 A. M. Prayer Meeting, Thur., 7:30 P. M.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH Rev. W. W. HEAD, Pastor Services 11:00 A. M.; C. E. at 6:45, P. M. Prayer Meeting, Wed., 7:30

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH Sunday School 10:00 A. M. Prayer Meeting Thurs. Evening Services C. E.; 6:30; Preaching Service, at 7:30 P. M.

CATHOLIC CHURCH Ione, Oregon Official Announcement Mass every second Sunday in Ione during Nov., Dec., Jan., Feb., Mar. April and May at 10:30 A. M. in the home of Mr. J. P. O'Meara. In June, July, August, September and October there will be mass at 9:30 A. M. Rev. Thos. J. Brady, Pastor.

Can't Assign Credit for Invention of Compass

The origin of the mariner's compass is obscure. By some students the instrument was said to have been introduced into Europe from the East. Others say it was a Western invention. It was certainly known to European navigators as early as the Twelfth century. Guido de Provino, whose satirical "libelle" is supposed to have been completed in 1205, described "a contrivance" of sailors which never deceived them. "They have an ugly brown stone which attracts iron," he wrote. "They mark the exact quarter to which the needle points, which they have rubbed on this stone and afterward stuck into a straw. They merely put it in water, in which the stone causes it to swim; then the point turns directly toward the (North) star, with such certainty that it will never fail." Guido wrote about the compass as if it were a new thing, but other writings reveal that the English in the Twelfth century had already mounted the needle on a pivot and so done away with the straw and water.—New York Times.

Oakland advertisement: This... answers the question... which is America's finest medium-priced automobile

Oakland advertisement: The Oakland All-American Six was compared with twenty other cars in 23 individual comparisons. Of the 223 points of comparison, Oakland established clear-cut superiority on 151 or 67.71 per cent. The twenty cars combined proved at best to be equal to Oakland on 322 points or 43.50 per cent. Yet thirteen of these cars are higher-priced than the All-American Six... I. R. Robison, Garage. IONE - OREGON

Scientific Method Need in Government Perils to Democracy Pointed Out by Noted Statesman in Address to Graduates of University of Oregon

This article is the fourth of a series of six which will be published in this paper. The address on "Social Science and Social Progress" of which this article is a part, was delivered by Governor Lowden before the graduating class of the University of Oregon at the annual commencement this year. By FRANK O. LOWDEN Former Governor of Illinois

IONE INDEPENDENT JOB PRINT

Helen Made a Mistake By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

NOT suspecting that adventure, in the form of a small white car, was awaiting him just over his own threshold, young Doctor Gavin stepped within his apartment. The small white pastebord attracted his eye even before he entered. He picked it up and read: "Grace darling: Will be expecting you and Bobby on Friday at six. Sorry you are not in." This was scratched in pencil across the face of the card, which further informed the young doctor that Helen Moore was the caller and her telephone number was Plaza 2119. Now Doctor Gavin felt that at a stretch he might be the "darling" but he most certainly could not be Grace. Deductions then occurred to him that Helen Moore had made a mistake and pushed her card under the wrong door. "But who is Grace? And must I make a round of all the apartments in this building in order that Helen's message reach its rightful addressee?" The doctor lifted his telephone and called Plaza 2119. The voice that traveled over the wire was delightful. Upon making his reasons for calling her up known she seemed most grateful. "It is Mrs. Berkeley," Helen Moore said, "and I must have thought you would be back. They have just moved in and have no telephone. It is so awkward. Yes, if you would be so very kind, Yes, I will hold the wire." Doctor Gavin bent a hasty exit to the other apartment on his floor and Tom Herley answered his knock. His excuses for intrusion being made, he asked if Mrs. Berkeley would like to talk with Miss Moore. That was only the beginning of numerous messages that Doctor Gavin bore to the other apartment. It seemed as if Helen and Grace had endless things to say to one another after six in the evening, the hour that the doctor reached home. Three weeks later he was, as he vulgarly expressed it, "licked" by the Berkeley's. They liked him and he liked them. In the back of her married heart Grace already had her best chin and the very delightful doctor happily in the matrimonial tomes. The day was fast approaching when Doctor Gavin realized that a meeting was inevitable. "Doctor Gavin," said Grace after mature thought, "will you come in and have dinner with us tomorrow night? Helen is coming and I know you feel a bit squirmy about actually meeting her, so I have quite a nice little idea. I will tell Helen that you are Jack Deane, an old friend of mine from the West whom I particularly want her to meet." So with fear and trembling he made his entrance as Jack Deane. Fortunately he had a bit of a cold and his voice was sufficiently unlike Doctor Gavin's to deceive Helen completely. Helen's most certainty was all any man could expect from the feminine world. Her hair was softly brown, her eyes wide and intelligent and her gown exquisite. Doctor Gavin found himself hurriedly and precipitately falling in love. And Helen loved the friend from the West even though her ear was lured to each footstep in the hall. She somehow felt disappointed that the doctor made no real attempt to know her. She turned suddenly toward the doctor. "What part of the West do you come from?" she asked. "Cedar Rapids, Iowa," he lied beautifully never having even passed through the mid-West city. "No! Really! Grace didn't tell me that. I was born there." And then the doctor was in for it properly. Such a volley of questions and inquiries! And so flat and disappointing were the answers that followed that Helen was more than a little suspicious that he had never seen Cedar Rapids printed even. The doctor was in a fine position for a man who has just decided that he has met the only girl. He looked around desperately for relief. Suddenly a telephone bell rang and rang. Helen heard it and her heart fluttered. Tom looked worried, Grace startled and only Doctor Gavin seemed pleased. "If you'll excuse me—I must answer my phone—might be an important call—like some others of recent date." He slipped out before a word was spoken. "Grace! How could you? Helen burst forth. "You said he was dark and short and had a mustache, and he's sandy and wonderfully built and, and—" but Helen stopped and blushed. "Anyway I like him—so much." "I knew you would," laughed Grace. And on the way home in the doctor's cozy coupe Helen said with an unsteady laugh, "I have given you a good deal of trouble, doctor, by having made that mistake." "Yes, and you will have to give me more than trouble before our accounts are straightened out. I—" "We have only met tonight," warned Helen, but her voice held more of enticement to continue than she was quite aware of.