R. E. Harbison complains bitterly because he is compelled to shoot, on an average, a cat a day for every day in the year. This is on account of people permitting themselves to become overstocked with cats and kittens and then dumping them at the warehouse on the supposition that they will go inside, catch mice and live happily ever after, but the truth is, a cat that has once live on his muck-a-muck seldom learns new tricks. For this reason these cats end up at Mr. Harbison's kitchen door and hence, of necessity, the crack of his 22 is the crack of doom for the cats. Take a look at Robison's Adv. Perhaps you can use the car he offers.

Nature's Forethought

Even Nature seems to be interested in food containers for she provides for fruits and vegetables containers of the most efficiently protective nature possible. In the case of practically all fruits and vegetables, the skin or outer covering is a great help in preserving the wholesomeness of the pulp.
