KNOW YOUR DRUGGIST BETTER - Ask your doctor's right-hand man

Give Your Druggist a Square Deal

A NATION-WIDE investigation has revealed that neighborhood druggists are called upon for information on a wide variety of subjects—domestic, political, agricultural, postal, and hygienic, besides subjects connected with drugs. This practice—embarrassing as it often must be to druggists—would not have become so widespread if they in general had not merited the confidence reposed in them. The answer to many problems has come from the pharmacist's store of information. And he has led many a person in the early stages of a serious disorder to consult a physician trained to diagnose disease and to prescribe the remedy.

Numerous services are rendered by the druggist for no recompense other than good-will. Give him a square deal. He is a business as well as a professional man. Serve your own interests by remembering him when you are in need of any of the household conveniences which his store has for sale. For druggists with well equipped prescription departments would be few and far between if they had to depend alone on filling prescriptions and the sale of drugs and sick-room supplies.
