Alps' Grounds

A gliderport is distinguished from an airport in that an airport is a level piece of land which has the least possible number of approach obstructions and the gliderport should be entirely surrounded by high hills, so that these motorless flying machines may be taken off from the top of the hills in any wind direction and flown to the level ground in the center.

Indictment of Capital

Our civilization overflows with charity, which is simply willingness to hand back to labor as generous, gracious alms a small part of the loot from the just wages of labor.—David Graham Phillips.
