LOST IN THE FOG

Grant Conway, the 17 year old brother of Mrs. Ted Smith, was lost in the hills south of Ione for a few hours, Saturday. Grant had taken his saddle horse and gone to look after some traps. The fog was dense and when the horse returned riderless about two o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Smith became alarmed and search was started for the boy. However late in the evening the young man returned but little worse for his experience. The horse had broken away from him and although for a while he was confused as to directions, he did not become frightened and kept moving to keep warm.

Mrs. Etta Shipley, who some time ago was injured in an automobile accident, is regaining her strength and hopes to be able to leave the Heppner hospital this week and return to her home in Ione.

Logic

It was the first day of school for Helen and she was anxious for a front seat near her attractive teacher. Finding the coveted seats occupied she said to the teacher:

"I think you better make some of those boys move and give me a seat near you, so you won't be bothered with those mean boys."

Saved by Repentance

Every one goes astray, but the most imprudent are they who repent too late. — Voltaire.

Meeting of Basketball Boys

A meeting of all boys going out for basket ball was held Monday, December 1. Mr. Tucker gave the boys some advice which he thought most valuable in training. Approximately thirty boys turned out and Mr. Tucker was optimistic in regard to material from which to select a team.

JUNIOR CLASS MEET

The Junior Class held a meeting last Tuesday, December 2, to promote plans for a party. The party was set for Dec. and will be given in the gymnasium with the entire high school invited.

Also some plans for candy sales at plays given at the High School were taken up and committees selected to look after sales.

Mrs. James Botts and four children spent part of last week in Ione while Charley Botts and Mr. Zinter made a trip to market for vegetables and fruit.

BASKET BALL

The Junior class proved their superiority over the Seniors in basketball by defeating them 13-8 in the final game for the inter-class championship. The Juniors have a perfect record, having been victorious over the Freshmen and Sophomores in previous games.

Out of the Rut

One simple help toward keeping out of a rut, is to go to work by a different route occasionally, and purposely feed on new sights. — American Magazine.

Masonry of the Dead

The grave, wrote J. Petit-Senn, is a crucible where memory is purified; we only remember a dead friend by those qualities which make him regretted.

Moon's Brightness

The total brightness of the moon is reckoned as equal to a 100-candle-power lamp at a distance of 22 yards.
