Not Always Good Idea to Be Over-Particular

It is always interesting to learn from bachelors why they have never married, and Alfred Cheney Johnston, well-known photographer, offers this pertinent contribution:

"Of course I have been in love but I believe that the basis of happy marriage is understanding. The modern girl lacks understanding. She doesn't seem to know men and doesn't appear to care whether she does or not. But maybe it's my own fault and that I am in the same position as that other bachelor who said:

"When I was disposed to marry, I was too particular. Now the girls are too particular."—Los Angeles Times.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

Only Two Opinions as to Portrait's Identity

Vivian Forbes, one of the Judges at the recent Carnegie Institute international exhibition of paintings, was praising the exhibition's entries to an art critic.

"One cannot but be impressed," said Mr. Forbes, "by the healthy return to the old, classic standards in painting. Of the extreme, modernistic horrors there were very few samples submitted. I mean pictures like Jobson's portrait."

"Jobson, you know, had his portrait painted by a young artist of extreme modern tendencies who was much in vogue five years ago. The price Jobson paid for it was big and he was proud of it. When it came home he showed it to the cook."

"Well, Mary," he said, "how do you like this portrait of me?"

"Sure, sir," said the cook, "it's lovely. It's beautiful. It's divine."

"And, of course," said Jobson, "you know who it is?"

"Of course I do, sir," replied the cook. "Of course, of course." As she spoke she kept drawing nearer to the picture, studying it more and more closely. "Of course, sir, it's you or the missus."

Had No Criticism to Make of "Miss America"

Rafael Sabatini—he who wrote "Scaramouche"—returned to London after a month over here, most of which was spent in company of the atrial people, publishers, etc., with the result that he saw very little of the country. Making a "talkie" one day he was scheduled to follow a lady known as "Miss America."

"She was wearing next to nothing and was very lovely to look upon," says Sabatini, "and as she did her piece six times, I had plenty of time to look at her. I haven't seen much of America, but of Miss America I have had a fine view. I found her topography excellent."—Kansas City Star.

Wrong Description

Little Geraldine's aunt had come to visit her and she was talking to Geraldine and her mother about her father, whom she never had met. Later, just as she was preparing to leave, the aunt mentioned that she had seen a little girl that looked like Geraldine with a gentleman downtown, the Sunday before.

"Well," said Geraldine, "it couldn't have been me. I was downtown, all right, but I was with my daddy all day."
