RAWLINS POST NO. 21. G. A. R. MEET AT Odd Fellows' Hall at Heppner, every third Saturday of each month. G. W. KNEA, Adj. G. W. SMITH, Com.

THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1904.

The new county court could do nothing to make itself more popular with the people than to direct most of its efforts the next couple of years to improving the public roads. The roads are generally in bad condition, and need attention.

Now that the political excitement has subsided and the public mind is back into its normal channel again, let us all devote a portion of our time and energy to advertising the fact that we have one of the very best and most desirable localities in the entire West in which to build homes. The great Lewis & Clarke fair will attract thousands of home-seekers to this coast, and Morrow county should make an effort to get some of them. We have lots of room for desirable citizens.

Scientists claim that were the Cascade mountains to ever become denuded of their timber, the moisture coming from the ocean would be nearly equally divided between the Willamette Valley and Eastern Oregon. However that may be, it is a positive fact that this portion of the state is getting a great deal more rain than it used to. Trees and vegetation are sure to attract and retain moisture, and every tree, every new grain field has its influence along this line. In the entire history of Eastern Oregon the crop prospects have never been so flattering as they are this spring, while in the Willamette valley the grain crops have been seriously injured and retarded by dry weather. This is a singular but true condition of affairs.

The Salem Statesman in commenting upon the range war and the cowardly method of slaughtering sheep very pertinently says: "The utter brutality of this process of deliberately murdering innocent animals in order to punish their owners is too fiendish to be properly characterized. The fact that the wretches always make these attacks while masked indicate the degraded estimate they themselves place upon the act. A man who had the semblance of right on his side would go to the owner of the offending animals and settle with him, but a coward will cover what countenance he has and attack the helpless animals in order to assert himself."

Among the vessels arriving in the port of New York last Monday was one that would attract attention in any harbor in the world. It was the United States frigate Constellation, towed in from Newport for repairs. The Constellation was built in 1798, and is of 1186 tons' displacement, a strange contrast to some of our modern steel cruisers of more than 10,000 tons. The name was derived from the popular description of the United States as a "new constellation among the nations." The first commander of the Constellation was Thomas Truxton, and before the war of 1812 the 36-gun frigate had brilliantly engaged two 40-gun French vessels, the Insurgent and the Vengeance. The brave old vessel is said to be the oldest ship in the navy that can still float.—Oregonian.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets Better Than a Doctor's Prescription.

Mr. J. W. Turner, of Truhart, Va., says that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have done him more good than anything he could get from the doctor. If any physician in this country was able to compound a medicine that would produce such gratifying results in cases of stomach troubles, biliousness or constipation, his whole time would be used in preparing this one medicine. For sale by Stocum Drug Co.
