NOTICE TO PATRONS.

All changes in advertisements, and all correspondence MUST be left at this office by Wednesday noon, otherwise they will be held over until the following week. We aim to go to press early Thursday morning, and cannot be delayed by ads. and correspondence which can just as well be filed earlier in the week. Please remember this.

A charge of five cents a line will be made for publishing "Resolutions of Condolence."

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Linen and Cotton Covers For Summer Porch Pillows.

Never has the assortment of summer sofa pillows been prettier than it is this season.

The warm weather pillow occupies a conspicuous place in the furnishings for the country house. Not only is it pretty and artistic in design, but it is serviceable and practical as well and can endure the hardest usage.

The most practical of all the cushions is the one with the button on cover. Either silk floss or down is used for filling under the white under cover, but the outside must be of a heavy wash goods, canvas, linen, crash or other firm fabric. On one side must be a set of buttons and buttonholes, so that the slip may be taken off and washed whenever necessary.

Pretty designs in tan colored linen crash made in an oblong shape are largely used for hammocks this summer. Many of the cushions of this style are embroidered in heavy linen with the names of songs suggestive of warm weather. "In the Good Old Summer Time" is a popular motto, as is also "Way Down Yonder In de Corn Field."

The big, old fashioned handkerchief pillows have come into vogue again. They are not made simply with a handkerchief on each side and perhaps a ruffle on the edge, as they used to be, but are cut up into four pieces, with the borders turned toward the center and forming a cross. The more elaborate are joined in the cross center with a heavy beading run through with ribbon.

Decoration of Finger Bowls.

London is at present passing through a craze for finger bowls. These adjuncts are more ornate in design and more dainty in appearance than ever before, and in consequence they are more fashionable than ever before. It is quite the thing now to introduce two sets of finger bowls in the course of one ceremonious dinner, one after the salad and one following the dessert.

Colonial cut glass is very popular, and so is the costly glass which bears gold engraving. Bohemian ware of exquisitely delicate tints is also favorite. A charming idea is to float on the water contained in the finger bowls a tiny flower or two, a sprig of heliotrope or violet. Each bowl stands on a delicate little saucer of the same ware as itself.

Persian decorations, so long evident in dress trimmings, upholsteries and wall paper, are now obtaining in table ware, some beautiful dessert, entree and game plates being thus decorated. Medallions, delicate in tracery as though made of lace, adorn the newest soup plates in color combinations of green and gold.

Braised Leg of Mutton.

To braise a leg of mutton have the bone removed. Tie the meat into shape and place it in a large stewpan with two ounces of butter or clarified beef drippings. When it is evenly browned add enough beef stock to half cover it, two onions, a turnip, two carrots, a bunch of parsley, twenty-four peppers, two cloves and a blade of mace. See that the vegetables are cut in slices. Put the lid on the braising kettle and after the meat has been slowly braising for an hour and a half turn it. When it is done skim off the fat. Add a tablespoonful of tomato catchup and a few drops of tarragon vinegar, some salt and enough Parisian sauce to make it a rich brown in color. Take up the meat and garnish it with Jerusalem artichokes and brussels sprouts. Strain the gravy and serve it in a gravy boat with the mutton.

Rust and Ink Stains.

For white cottons and linens a warm solution of oxalic acid, dilute muriatic acid, followed by granulated tin.

For colored cottons and woolens wash repeatedly with a solution of citric acid if the color is fast. These stains cannot be removed from silks.

Another mixture to remove rust spots is made by taking two parts of cream of tartar and part of oxalic acid ground very fine. Keep these dry in a bottle. Apply a little of the powder to spots after the material has been wet with water and in a few minutes wash in clear, warm water to prevent injury to material.

IRELAND'S FORGERIES.

I hear that a millionaire in New York is negotiating for a copy of the Ireland forgeries, those famous documents, alleged to be the writings of Shakespeare, put forth by a youth of nineteen of the name of W. H. Ireland. The chief forgery was entitled "Miscellaneous Papers and Instruments, Under the Hand and Seal of William Shakespeare, Including the Tragedy of King Lear and a Small Fragment of Hamlet, From the Original." His play, "Vortigern and Rowena," was palmed off as Shakespeare's and actually produced at the Drury Lane theater in 1796. The fraud was at length detected and acknowledged. Only in recent years has it been learned that the pronoun "its" occurs but two or three times in the acknowledged works of Shakespeare. Had this fact been known in Ireland's time his frequent use of the word would have exposed him.—New York Press.

Triumphs Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflamation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment, Chamberlains Pain Balm acts on this sams principle. It is an anticeptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a Bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by Slocum Drug Co.

Sued by His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50 which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Dirahoea Remedy he used as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by Slocum Drug Co.
