Elk's Memorial Service.

"Beyond time's whirl we brightly see
The stars shine through the cypress tree;
Not hopeless pass our dead away,
For we shall view the breaking day
Across the mournful marble play."

The Elks of Heppner held their annual memorial service in the I. O. O. F. hall Sunday afternoon. The service was very largely attended and the exercises were splendid.

Elk's opening ceremonies. Divine blessing was invoked by Rev. J. V. Crawford. The quartet, "Hope Beyond" and "Lead Kindly Light," by Mrs. C. O. Huelat, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKee and J. W. Shipley were exceptionally well rendered and were duly appreciated.

The solos "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," by Mrs. W. E. Reed, and "One Sweet, Solemn Thought" by Mrs. C. O. Huelat, were splendid numbers and in the manner in which they were rendered was very pleasing.

The reading of "Thanatopsis" by Miss Beatrice Goodknecht was a pleasing feature of the program, but the principal feature of the service was the address by J. P. Kavanaugh of Portland. Mr. Kavanaugh is not only a pleasant, but a forceful and able speaker, and his address reflected much credit upon himself and the Elks.

Following is a list of the departed brothers of the Heppner lodge: E. L. Matlock, Wm. Penland, Charles White, Thos. Stubblefield, J. J. Roberts, J. J. Harris, B. F. Vaughan, Charles Ingraham, and Frank Natter.

Initiate Thirty-Eight.

Ione Camp of I. O. O. F., which was recently moved from Ione to this city, held its second meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall Monday night. Great preparations had been made for this meeting, as there were forty-three applications for membership, thirty-eight of whom were instructed in the degree work. E. E. Sharon, scribe of the state camp, was present to confer the degrees. J. A. Woolery, F. M. Griffin and other members of Ione assisted with initiations. The camp now has a membership of about seventy-five and is in a very healthy condition financially and in enthusiastic workers.

At midnight a very elegant luncheon was served in the spacious dining room of the lodge building, and although it was served exclusively by men, it was appetizing just the same and was thoroughly appreciated.

There were six casualties for so large a number to be initiated during one night, a majority of them being good riders, however. The goat threw one man over a stake-and-rider fence and sprained his hip, and the 1st candidate was landed in a tub of water by the billy goat. It was about 3:30 Tuesday morning when this happened and everyone was glad of it, that is they were glad there were no more casualties to ride, as the goat was ho and awful mad.

It was 4:00 a. m. when the gavel fell on the last scene. A dozen or more of the new members are from Lexington, the remainder of Heppner and vicinity.

Beware of Counterfeits.

"DeWitt's is the only genuine Witch Hazel Salve" writes J. L. Tucker of Centre, Ala. "I have used it in my family piles, cuts and burns for years and can recommend it to be the best salve on the market. Every family should keep it, as it is an invaluable household remedy, and should always be kept on hand for immediate use. Sold by Heppner Drug Company.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Chas. Hornor, who has been visiting his father here the past two weeks, left Tuesday for Hood River, where he will visit for a time with his mother before returning to Portland.

C. H. Bartholomew of Currinville, has been in Heppner the past week with a view to purchasing a Morrow county ranch. In case he makes the deal he will move back to this county.

Geo. Conser and C. E. Redfield took some Pendleton parties out to visit the Heppner coal mines Sunday, returning Monday. The Pendleton people were very much pleased with the mines.

J. K. McGregor, superintendent of the Thompson Creek Coal company, was in Heppner the first of the week to attend a meeting of the stockholders. There have been no new developments at the mines lately.

G. W. Vincent, who was in from Butter Creek several days the past week, reports beef cattle are doing fine. The dry, crisp weather of the past few weeks has been very favorable for the feeders, and the cattle are taking on flesh rapidly. Mr. Vincent says, while there have been no sales on the creek lately, the beef market is looking up, and by the first of the year he expects offerings as high as four cents for good beef stock.

R. C. Wills and Harry Johnson were passengers for Portland Monday. They went down to secure houses for the Wills and Johnson families, who will move to Portland to reside. Mrs. Johnson and son Percy went down Tuesday.

Mrs. Harrison Chapin of Hardman, returned Friday evening from Boise City, Idaho, where she has been the past two months. Her daughter Edith is attending high school in Boise. Mr. Chapin came down from Hardman Friday to meet his wife.

The farm residence of J. Parkins, six miles north of Lexington, was burned one day last week with most of its contents. We did not learn the origin of the fire. Mr. Parkins was in Heppner Sunday after carpenters and will begin the work of rebuilding at once.

Blind Jim, one of the Columbia river Indians, died five miles from Paterson, Wash., on the 22d of November, 1904, falling on him some time ago. He was a well known character to all old-timers around Heppner. His age, as near as is known, was sixty-five years.

Miss Flora Myers, who has been nursing H. E. Warren, who has been sick with typhoid at the Brock residence, had the misfortune to break an arm last Thursday morning. She stepped out of the door to the slippery walks when she slipped and fell, and in protecting herself from a hard fall her arm was broken.

W. P. McMillan, who was in the city from Lexington Monday, says although he has not yet footed up the amount of wheat received at the Lexington warehouse for shipment, he thinks it will be fully 200,000 bushels. The wheat is now practically all in and shipment is progressing nicely.

Services will be held at the Catholic church, Heppner, on Sunday, Dec. 18, and also on Christmas day.

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not the rotund well fed, but thin, spare men who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age, will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to cleanse and invigorate his stomach and regulate his liver and bowels. When this is done there is no reason why the average man should not live to old age. For sale by Slocum Drug Co.
