A mean of trade will be organized in Heppner in the course of a few weeks, and the matter of a real to Long Crock, Haystack, Camp Watton and Canyon City will then be considered, and the funds raised for their immediate construction. It is the intention to have the roadyready for them, by this fall. Heppner will then be in a position to furnish amplies to that large and news.

As the republican candidate for representative has not gone over the county in a general canvass with others who have been speaking in each precinct, many of the more recent settlers in Morrow county may be unreprainted with him and his viewa, so below we give in brief Mr. Fell's address at the Lexington meeting last Saturday, as taken by a probably yote the democratic ticket this Until last evening I had not anticipated an opp runnity of me ing the citizans of Morrow comety in company with my political competitors, owing to a necessity of being at Arlington to attend the wool brainess in which I am engaged—this being the shipping season. Concerning the statement that I had been forced to recognize the Independent Land Stanford, who of course are not been forced to recognize the Independent Land Stanford, who of course are not been forced to recognize the Independent Land Stanford, who of course are not mymbrally with the farmer and the poor laboring man. For instance, the poor laboring man. For instance, the republican state convention of Oregon dared not raise a voice in their platform in favor of opening up the Columbia river. On that question they care duot in the from the finances of Eas'e n Oregon from the finances of Eas'e n Oregon termors.

The democratic state platform, how ever, spoke loud and bold in its demand here to-day, I take pleasure in accepting

As your representative I should desire to go from the property of the property of a special character, or any other than the general obligation to do my duty as my conscience and judgment might distate. If I wished to accomplish any thing in the way of legislation, I certainly should not autagonize myself with a direction in the legislative numbers. the general obligation to do my daty as my conscionce and judgment might die tate. If I wished to recomplish any thing in the way of legislation, I certain by should not antagonize myself with a direction in the legislature unnecessarily. One man can prevent the passage of a bill more easily than ten men can mass it. With Mr. Penland's anti-Dolph manifesto masted though the wills. can bass it. With Mr. Penland's autiDolph manifesto pasted upon the walls of the house of representatives, he will never accomplish anything. It is asked of me to place myself on record for or against Polph. If I can't speak to make signs like this (This is Mr. Penland's printed pledge not to vote for Dolph but for any other peoples' man, whatever that may mean). Mr. Dolph is by no means my choice for senator. There are others whose names will doubtlessly be presented in the republican cancus. I san quite sure I shall oppose Mr. Dolph's lican party is desirable; I am at your service. Should you desire to remain in position to flap either way, my friend air Penland, if not badly advised, will do as little harm as anyone. However, the party issue does not seem to be at all bitter here to-day, and I presume that the disposition on election day will be to vote for the one most likely to serve the interests of the county best. If in your judgment you have a more expuble man than myself, elect him, and I shall all ways co-operate with him just as hearti-ly, quite as cordially as I shall expec-him to with myself should I be elected DEMOCRATIC COLUMN.

This column is devoted to the inter ests of democracy, and we are not r sponsible for any thing that may app in it.

The Hon E. L. applegate spoke here last Saturday evening. His speech mainly consisted in ridicule and abuse of the democratic party, and had but little good argument in it, although his Les Howell, representative: Tota Margan shertiff; Joe Williams, clerk; J. A. Themeson and T.

the fact that I have not, is one of no serious importance. However, as I am here to day, I take pleasure in accepting the courtesy extended, and while I am no stump speaker, I place myself square ly before you, that you may know my excet position, as I desire no one to yote for me as a recourse between a "perhaps and a maybe-so." I have been vigorously curried and groomed by the independent representative by proxy. Mr. Dunbar, in his speeches, and am ready to run in this campaign. I want to run either as a man or a horse; I have not the gait of a kangaros.

With all due respect to those who have the joined the independents, I desire to say, I am running upon the sarraight republican ticket, and an discussed to make no pledges not in conformity with the party platform and neages. In reply to Mr. Penland's representative I will say, yes, I shall doubtlessly, it elected, "go into canons," and support the republican canenas beaminee, however objectionable he may be to me personally. I do not expect to revolution izo the system. In Morrow centry only has it become proper to go into canons or convention, thereby pledging one's self to abide by its decision, and then it beaten, bult for a new faction.

As your representative I should desire to go froe from pledge sor ebligations of a special character, or any other than the istending from and bed more than when he work for their independent in the state in the military in what is a strange fact that, although he has been a citizen of this section for years, we now bearn to fled out that this house, and the proposed to be the thing that will defeat him.
