Movino Alona.—There are now established between Heppner and Lexing fon, some eight or nine camps, and the railroad grading is progressing rapidly. With the number of teams and men all work on the line, it will be finished long before Jan. 1st. 1889, by which time the the O. E. & N. Co have agreed to have the line completed. The question of right of way is now abount settled, except in a few instances. It is indeed fortuinte for the people of Mairow gounty, who are the ideatical folis, so when this right of way burden rasts, that Arlington ranches were not numerous. Not in the Show Business.—The front of the Gazerre shop has long been a favorite place to paste up all sorts of posters, which would have led an unsus pecting stranger to imagine that it was the handquarters for a dime museum. All we ever had to show in that line was a very poor representation of a printer's satanic majesty, a mule-power press and a hand-carved soap-bex, and in order that the public may get justice in this matter, our considerate landlord, Natter, has had all these beautiful, entiring matter, our considerate landlord, Nat-ter, has had all these beautiful, enticing sack-knife lithographs torn off, and a fine soat of paint applied thereon. With a sign in glowing letters, it is now thought that strangers will be able to find the inome ranch of the only Gazet.

CRALLENGES THE WORLD—A citizen of the town was passing a corral a few days ago in the neighborhood of Hardman, where John English was sacking duties, but in this day numerous inventous at a lively rate, and Ed. Cox was engaged in furnishing that article as no one but a way-up "striker" is able to do. They both claim to wear the belt in their respective occupations, and they no doubt ought to be allowed to do so, as they are the only two men in the colony who up to date have tookled a band of 3000 sheep with no other help.

Good Boy.—Charley Jones' wife is now at Pendleton visiting relatives, and we would suggest to her that she need not be uneasy in regard to Ches., as be now sings in bis sleep, "What a friend we have in Jeans." This indicates, of course, recititude of condact that is the envy of his patire circle of friends.

Works Well.—Farmers in olden times, had very few conveniencies to massist them in the routine of farm duties, but in this day numerous inventuations and they numerous inventuations have made farming a pleasure. We would call attention, particularly, to the hay and grain stucker, of A. N. Waither and they are reliable of the same who we would call attention, particularly, to the hay and grain stucker, of A.
