A HOWL.—The Arlington Times in a article in the last issue, under the caption of "The True Weakness of It," attempts to editorially scold what it terms "a writer" of this sheet, and at the same time loses no opportunity to give Heppner a general ragging. Notwithstanding all this, "a writer" has not lost a feather, and the burg remains materially the same; the sad down on "Christ's" ranch is just as deep as ever, and promises a large crop of sand-tombs for the next season. The Heppner Gazette, and the people of this town are not prejudiced against Arlington for the work of a few, of which their best and representative citizens deplore. These few are the riff-raff and loafers of the town, with which the Times, unfortunately allies itself, and in doing so, fails to represent Arlington. The detached sentence which we took over from the Times of a recent issue, according to the noble representatives of B. A. Hunsaker, shows that our "journalistic" animosity is well-developed. In fact Heppner town as a whole, seems to be full of people with "inherent animosities." The Times editor in all his statements makes a mountain out of absolutely nothing, and in the general howl of "gross misrepresentation," shows that he is "somewhat of a liar himself." In no instance has "Christ" failed to get bail money, and in no instance has "Christ" failed to get bail money, and in no instance has "Christ" failed to get bail money.

THE JUSTICE COURT.—Gov. Ross's Justice mill was engaged on last Thursday in the examination of Joseph E. Gorton, a lad about 14 years of age, charged with the burglary of the sheep camp, on Lum Rhee's place, below Lone.

Although the boy denied the whole business, and testified that the witnesses of the state were all—prevaricators, something that he never did in his life, the court bound him over in the sum of $100, which bail was given. W. R. Ellis looked after the state's side of the case, and Attorney Cornish, of Arlington, defended the young lad.

THE E. O.—The New Year's East Oregonian is a handsome paper, twelve pages with illustrated supplement, containing interesting descriptive matter and views of Unatilla county and pertaining to the Unatilla reservation and the sale of the lands this spring. Sent to any address, postage paid, for ten cents a copy. Stamps taken. Address the East Oregonian P. O. Co., Pendleton, Oregon.

SHOULDER DISLOCATED.—P. H. McLaran, residing near Ella, met with a peculiar accident one day last week. It seems that Mr. McLaran was ill, which threw him into convulsions, and one of the neighbors in endeavoring to hold him, dislocated his right shoulder. He came up to Heppner and Dr. Ritchey, assisted by Dr. Fox, succeeded in reducing the dislocation. Mr. McLaran will be all right in a few weeks.

CARD OF THANKS.—The Heppner cornet band desire to tender their heartfelt thanks to the ladies of Heppner in general for their kindness in furnishing a supper on Christmas eve, the proceeds of which were given to the cornet band; and also to Mrs. E. Minor for the use of the dining hall and other kindly services rendered by her. M. D. CLARK, Sec'y.

SHOOTING SCRAPE.—A report came from the rugged John Day, that one day last week, Johnny Welsh shot Charley Williams three times, but whether with fatal result or not, we have been unable to learn. Williams is well known in the Heppner country. Welsh is a young man, not over 20 years of age. There has been trouble between them for some time.

NOTICE.—All those who had photographs work done in the tent and are not satisfied with it, I will give a reduction of 25 per cent from regular price, during January should they desire a re-setting. Geo. W. Fook, Prop. of Gallery.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection and that dread disease, consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge) a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for consumption, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address, Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburg, Kings county, New York.

John Willingham showed us a curiosity yesterday in the shape of an account book which was used in 1874, bound in lines-walrus ivory in 1790, the inside of which is lined with No. 105, Vol. 1 of a Philadelphia daily. A "For Sale" notice appears as follows: "The undersigned term of an Independent BLACKSMITH has about eight years to serve—he is a capable Waiter, Coachman, House Servant, and is acquainted with all kinds of work, etc." It was printed on Thursday evening, Nov. 1, 1834.

Married.—At the residence of Ed. Armstrong in Sand Hollow, on Jan. 1, Elmer Armstrong to Emma Hales. The event was uneventful historic, occurring at the same time of the eclipse.
