HEPPNER

Is the county-seat of Morrow, located near the center of the county, on Willow creek, and at the terminus of the Willow creek branch of the O. R. & N. It has a population of about 800, and is receiving new residents daily. As a business place, it bids fair to take the lead of any town in Eastern Oregon, having tribu-tary to it an immense agricultural and stock country.

The sum of $10,000 was appropriated at the last session of the legislature for the purpose of improving the Heppner and Monument wagon road. That amount will be expended on this route during the coming summer, rendering it the best mountain road in the state, and one which will seconomodate hunand one which will accommodate hunand one which will accommodate bundreds of well-to-do stockmen, who are bestowing their patronage on merchants in Heppner, owing to its advantages as a trading point. Fully 3,000,000 pounds of wool will find sale, or shipment at

THE COUNCIL CONSIDER THE ARTE-SIAN WELL PROJECT.

The artesian well project has received The artesian well project has received favogable consideration of our town council. At their last meeting, active and proof in support of likeclaim, entithat sail proof in support of likeclaim, entithat sail proof in support will be made before the county clerk of the county clerk of the county clerk of the county county. Oregon at Heppare, Ur., or parties who have had experience in putting down artesian wells, relative to cost of same, etc. It is quite likely that they will have some one of experience to examine this part of the country, before beginning work, yet an artesian flow is sometimes found in sections where least expected. In attempting to secure artesian water, it may develop some other means of securing a supply for fire purposes, should the former prove to be a failure. The mere attempt to secure an artesian flow will help the town, proving that we have enterprise, and propose to protect the town against fire in some manner.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to support of his claim, and that end proof will be made before the deeper of Morrow country. Or., at Heppmer, Or., on April 20, 1889, viz.

Oliver P. M. Simcoke,

Our council is made up of progressive pusiness men. The community is to be He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon: and cultivation of, business men. The community is to be congratulated on having such in the capacity of city fathers, and many needed improvements will be made during the remainder of the year, of which this matter of water is the most important.

ONE OF OUR HOOSIERS.

The Arlington Town Talk devotes some space in its last issue to the legal lights who visited that place last week. It has the following to say in regard to our prosecuting attorney: W. R. Ellis, state prosecuting attorney in the 7th judicial district, was born at Crawfordsville, Indiana, in the year 1850, from which place he came to Walla Walla, W. T., some years ago, and resided there continuous readence upon and cultivation of said clumant and was appointed school superintendent on the creation of the county of Morrow and was subsequently appointed prosecuting attorney by Gov. Moody on the creation of the 7th judicial district, an order of the said clumant and the submitted by the said clumant and the submitted by the said clumant and the said until his removal to Heppner, Morrow appointment which was approved of at claimant mig-17. the ensuing election by Mr. Ellis' return to the same office by a large majority. That Mr. Ellis has given great satisfaction in this position was amply proved last election, when his majority was again a large one, and the conspicuous ability he has shown in the discharge of his duties, and the happy knack be has of conciliating all with whom he comes in contact, which prevents even the most of contact, which prevents even the most of contact, which prevents even the most of the contact of the co bardened offender from taking umbrage mid-land.

Iven A. at Mr. Ellis' denunciation of the crime charged against the delinquent, justify the hope that our prosecuting attorney may long continue to occupy the position which he "holds only to adorn." As a careful and painstaking attorney, Mr. Ellis has few equals, while as a pleader he is an example of clearness and perspicuity such as is rarely met with, even in judicial circles; a genial and courteous gentleman in private life, there are, (to use a vulgar, but expressive metaphor) "no bugs" on our prosecuting

gration week before last, Pendleton was again visited by the fler element last J. Thursday evening. At about 11:30 o'clock fire broke out in the East Oregonian building on Webb street. The fire department, because of inability to locate the precise spot where the fire was burning, turned water in at a guess, where the smoke was thickest, and the type and material were badly damaged.

The fire originated in a room in the settler in basement to the rear of the composing pro room, which is occupied as a sleeping room. W. H. Mills, an employe of the office, who also has a room in the base—
