EDUCATIONAL COLUMN,

[T. C. AUBREY EDITOR.] WHAT EDUCATION DOES FOR US

The more complete a man's education the more able he is to accomplish whatever he undertakes If he is naturally well endowed, and then thoroughly educated, failure enn scarcely surprise him. Each power and part of man is alucable. The educated hand is trong, steady, active, graceful and sensitive. The educated eye is dert, telescopie, microscopie, dis triminating, capable of any tasks ccomplished in many arts. The streated memory is comprehensive, unconfused, accurate, retentive, quick. The educated reason is ready, logical, tranquil, profound, Inborious, musterly. The educated affections are tender, constant, vigilant to seek and do their cated will is decisive, prompt, unwavering, immovable in its rest, rresistible in its God-like motion dependent, mutually, a e l p f u l . many in one, subordinate only to Him who is supreme. To extueste a man is to give his land, brain and heart, their maximum life, power and facility.
