TERRIFIC STORM AT SEA. Wild Scenes of Wreck and Ruin on the Atlantic. PAT KILLEN KNOCKED OUT. Sullivan's New Ambition—The Seagull Case—Salem Man Shocked.

IT WAS A HARD FALL. The President Dropped Tanager on a Very Slippery Spot. The vessel encountered a hurricane on the 14th inst. While there was no serious damage sustained, things on board were made lively and decks were lashed and aft.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Commissioner Tanager's letter of resignation is made public. He says: "The difference which exists between the secretary of the interior and myself as to the policy to be pursued in the administration of the pension bureau, has reached a stage which threatens to embarrass you to an extent which I feel I should not call on you to suffer, and as the investigation of affairs in the bureau has been completed and I am assured both by yourself and the secretary of the interior, contains no reflection on my integrity as an individual or an officer, I herewith place my resignation in your hands, to take effect at your pleasure, to the end that you may be relieved of any further embarrassment in the matter."

THE STORM KING. Wild Scenes of Wreck and Ruin on the Atlantic. The vessel encountered a hurricane on the 14th inst. While there was no serious damage sustained, things on board were made lively and decks were lashed and aft.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The National line steamer England, from Liverpool, arrived today after one of the roughest voyages ever encountered. At midnight Tuesday one of the firemen was washed overboard and drowned. The wind and sea were something terrible.

SULLIVAN'S NEW AMBITION.

His Letter Declaring Himself a Candidate for Political Honors. From the Oregonian. Some days ago we had a statement, that John L. Sullivan had announced that he had quit the prize ring forever, and now was going to become a democratic politician and make an effort to be a congressman. It will be quite interesting to hear of Mr. Sullivan rising in the house and addressing the speaker as "Mr. Referee." Here is his letter, as published by an evening paper of Boston:

A good deal has been said about my becoming a candidate for congress. I write to say that after thinking the matter over, I have decided that when the time comes to elect new congressmen in Boston I will be a candidate on the Democratic ticket, if the nomination is offered to me. There are several reasons which have induced me to adopt this course. In the first place I have always voted for that party and have supported it. I am sound as far as my political reform is concerned, and I feel that I deserve the support of the party on that score. Then I have personal friends and general admirers residing in Boston to elect me anyhow. Any man who doubts my popularity with the American people has only got to travel about with me to get rid of that notion. Some may criticize my occupation in life. They don't know what they are talking about. My business is, and always has been, ever since I came before the public to encourage physical culture. Young fellows don't care for what they read about a lot of men who have second rate championships, but the sight of one man with a national reputation and everybody looking up to him as a man of letters and an encouragement to them in the task of getting up their muscles. Being a young man is bigger and stronger because my example has set them to work. Then, besides, with matches and exhibitions I have entertained hundreds of thousands all over the country. I have also furnished through the newspapers interesting reading for the millions. People have got to feel grateful to those who entertain them. As for my methods of carrying on business and my dealings with other men, who can criticize them. If I make a promise I keep it. I have always been true to my friends, and none can accuse me of not acting fairly by him. A Sunday school teacher can't say more than that.

But what I feel to be more important than all else is the work which I have done to keep up the reputation of America among other nations. The best men from everywhere have tried to beat me but failed, and since I first began I have kept the pugilistic championship in this country. There is not a selfish American, no matter what fool ideas he may have about boxing in general, who does not feel patriotic pride at the thought that a native born American, a countryman of his can lay his name on the face of the earth. It is human nature, and his feeling of patriotism applies especially to Boston, where I was born and where I shall appear as a candidate. As an actor in the prize ring I can give that in a few words. A man is elected to congress to look out for the interests of those who send him there. That will be my motto and living up to it will be my business. I know what is wanted by my friends and the citizens of Boston generally, and I'll try to get it.

IN TRAVELS ABOUT IN THIS COUNTRY I have had as much experience in public speaking as most people. I'll have no trouble getting a hearing in congress, or in making people pay attention to what I say. A man who can give a crowd in Madison square garden, as I have done, can make his presence felt in congress or any other place on earth. I therefore announce now my willingness to enter political life. This communication draws up in consultation with friends and with their advice, is the longest that I have ever addressed on any paper. I shall be obliged to you if you will print it. Yours truly, JOHN L. SULLIVAN, Champion of the World.

DISCOVERED AT LAST. The Murderer of Two Young Men in the Colorado Springs. DENVER, Col., Sept. 12.—The murderer of S. Morris Wall, of Haverford, Pa., and C. H. Strong, of New York, two young men, who were murdered in Carbon county, Wyo., June 27, 1888, has at last been discovered in the person of Thomas O'Brien, who is now serving a term of fifteen years in the Canyon City, Col., penitentiary for stealing horses near Colorado Springs. Since the murder of the two young men, his name was the longest that I have ever addressed on any paper. I shall be obliged to you if you will print it. Yours truly, JOHN L. SULLIVAN, Champion of the World.

"SUNSET" COX IS DEAD.

His Last Conversation was About the New States. New York, Sept. 10.—Congressman "Sunset" Cox died at 8:33 o'clock this evening. The end was quiet, and the dying man breathed his last as peacefully as if falling into a light sleep. Mrs. Cox, who has been scarcely away from his bedside for the past two days and nights, held his left hand, while his old friend, Douglas Taylor, held the other. He had been conscious all day until about a quarter of an hour before the end.

Mr. Cox's last conversation was about the four territories, whose statehood he hoped to foster. He mentioned New Mexico and Arizona, and said something about making a great effort on their behalf at the coming session. In the afternoon, while Dr. Lockwood was talking to him, Cox made some witty remark, which completely upset the doctor's dignity. Late in the afternoon telegrams were sent to Cox's sisters, two of whom live in Zanesville, Ohio, and the other in St. Louis.

Cox's nephew, who is superintendent of the Smithsonian Institute, was also telegraphed for. Dr. Lockwood said that the immediate cause of his death was heart failure, and the first cause was peritonitis. Telegrams were sent to Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of representatives Leedson, and to Speaker Carlisle.

TWO BURGLARS ARRESTED. Men Who Stole $40,000 Worth of Valuable Papers. SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—W. E. Lamm and J. Boyd were arrested here today by Sonoma county officers and taken to Santa Rosa to answer the charge of burglary. The house of Isaac Parsons, a wealthy resident of Santa Rosa, was entered about three weeks ago and $40,000 worth of valuable papers, including certificate of bank stock, mortgages, notes and checks, were stolen. Officers have been investigating the case and connected Lamm and Boyd with the burglary. The papers were all recovered from a saloon keeper, with whom they had been left by Lamm, with instructions to deliver them to Boyd.

THE NEAGLE CASE. Judge Sawyer Will Render His Decision Monday Morning. SACRAMENTO, Sept. 13.—Judge Sawyer will render his decision in the Neagle case at the opening of the circuit court Monday morning. The opinion is expected to be a very lengthy one.

JUSTICE FIELD SOON TO GO EAST. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Justice Field of the United States supreme court, no party, including George C. Gorham, Sherwood Gorham and Mrs. Smith among them, will leave for the East via Portland and the Northern Pacific, next Monday.

Stalled by Death. THE DALLAS, Ore., Sept. 18.—A Sandwith Islander named J. R. Martin and Dick Edwards, a young, half bred Indian, had a fatal quarrel here Monday afternoon. They had hot words, when Martin drew a knife and stabbed Edwards twice. He died in fifteen minutes.
