ASTORIA.
The Report of Oregon—signs of Improvement and Prediction by the Astorian—Which Nature, the Placed Within Its Group.

There is no more historical spot in Oregon than Astoria. Named after Astor, who, in 1810, established a trading station at this point, and brought into prominence by Washington Irving's celebrated work, "Astoria," it has been known to the reading public for many decades.

There are 303 patients in the insane asylum at Astoria. The appropriation of $75,000 made by the legislature of 1887-8 has been exhausted, and the institution is going on tie.

The Budget boasts that "Lexington has a female engineer in the person of Miss Lavina Hope, aged 15, who manages her father's planing mill." A good place for a second engineer.

It is reported that Mr. Louis Siebold of Washington City will occupy the position of editor upon the new Republican daily at Pendleton. He is said to be an experienced newspaper man, having been connected with several influential journals in California and the East.

In an interview with a reporter of the Oregonian, Congressman Herriman, among other matters, is reported as saying: "As to the inferior of the state, I saw in some sections the necessity for increased mail service and in other portions a demand for the extension of the public surveys to lands occupied by bona fide settlers who cannot acquire title until this is done. Improvements are needed at the Untilla Indian reservation. There is a general demand on the part of the people of Eastern Oregon, particularly those of Pendleton, for the sale of the surplus Indian lands which our delegation will use every effort to bring about at the earliest possible moment."

In the estimates of the chief of engineers for the next fiscal year the Columbia river falls well. The estimates recommend $700,000 for the month of the river, and $200,000 for the Columbia river and lower Willamette. For Coos Bay the sum recommended is $250,000.

The East Oregonian says: Mr. Ringer Herriman is good timber for United States Senator, not because he is a republican, but because he has made a good servant for the people as congressman and deserves high honors.

Maj. Cornover intends to put in 1000 acres of land on the Untilla reservation with seeds, for the good of the Indians, says the Walla Walla Journal.

East Oregonian says: A few days ago a young man representing himself as being in the employ of a farmer, living near town, hired a horse of the McBride Bros., of Astoria, for the purpose, as he stated, of riding to Astoria. The boys learned in some manner that the fellow did not stop in that town, but had been seen in the neighborhood of Adams. This information coming to their ears the day succeeding his departure with the horse, they followed him; but he had succeeded in disposing of the horse to Wm. Kribbs of Adams for thirty dollars, and had departed to the misty somewhere. Billy "stood him off" for the larger portion of the purchase money, and the thief now holds a promissory note against him which he will probably never present for payment.

THE GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC, department of Oregon, has issued circular letter No. 3. It deals with the National encampment held at Milwaukee last summer and with the 7000 population, but this will double in the next two or three years, and the support of Oregon will be the second city in the state.

A La Grande gambler claims to have beaten a Baker City fair game for $3000 and that during the fair week at Baker City $10,000 was transferred to La Grande by cards and racing.

Governor Penoyer is in favor of the government building a canal and locks between the Dalles and Celilo, instead of a boat railroad. He thinks the railway would not be adequate to the growing needs of our commerce.

T. M. Farrier, deputy sheriff of Gilliam Co., passed through Salem on the 23d inst., on his way to Umatilla county with three prisoners who each gave name of Jno. Doe. The men were arrested at McKenzie, Lane county, on a Umatilla county warrant, charging them with grand larceny. Grand larceny in this case means the stealing at Pilot Rock last August of a small band of horses which with others was driven over the Cascades into the valley. The stock has been located through the owners brand and will be recovered. Mr. Farrier will turn his captives over to the Umatilla county officers—Oregon Statesman.

J. W. Jennings, John Bingham and E. May, three young fellows wanted in Pendleton on warrants issued by the Pilot Rock justice and sworn out by J. S. Kearney, charging them with horse-stealing, were captured at a lodging camp on the McKenzie river, a short distance above Eugene City. They were completely surrounded when the officers approached them, and while they feigned innocence, their captors were sure they have the right parties. J. M. Farrier, who made the arrest, stated that he had been looking for the men over thirty days, and that a number of wrong clues were followed before they got on the right track. Farrier brought the men as far as Arlington, where he was met by Sheriff Honser, who returned this morning with the prisoners. All three asserted their innocence of the charge, and claim to be able to prove themselves guiltless before a court of justice. Sure it is that a gang of horse thieves have been operating in the Pilot Rock neighborhood for some time past. Whether or not these are the right parties remains to be seen.—Oregonian.

A post of the Grand Army of the Republic has just been mustered at Lexington, this county. The new post starts out with fifteen members. The Budget boasts that "Lexington has a female engineer in the person of Miss Lavina Hope, aged 15, who manages her father's planing mill." A good place for a second engineer.

The Oregon Statesman says, the indications are that the Oregon Pacific's extension into the Umatilla country will now be rapidly pushed through to completion. It is reported that Mr. Louis Siebold of Washington City will occupy the position of editor upon the new Republican daily at Pendleton. He is said to be an experienced newspaper man, having been connected with several influential journals in California and the East.

In an interview with a reporter of the Oregonian, Congressman Herriman, among other matters, is reported as saying: "As to the inferior of the state, I saw in some sections the necessity for increased mail service and in other portions a demand for the extension of the public surveys to lands occupied by bona fide settlers who cannot acquire title until this is done. lowing were distributed by our delegation, free of charge, during the encampment: 1000 boxes of fruit, 30,000 small sacks of grain and 50,000 pamphlets descriptive of our state.—Oregon Statesman.

The Walla Walla Building and Loan Association is arranging a plan whereby the association may purchase two eligible lots each month and erect dwelling houses for rent thereon. There are 303 patients in the insane asylum at Astoria. The appropriation of $75,000 made by the legislature of 1887-8 has been exhausted, and the institution is going on tie.

Women suffragists of Washington are on the hunt for sculps. A dispatch from Walla Walla to the Oregonian says: At the last election a number of ladies in the city offered their votes at the polls, the votes were accepted but deposited in a separate box, and were not counted in making up the returns and the suit that was brought yesterday, by the ladies named, was for the purpose of establishing their rights even though the case is taken to the United States supreme court. They claim that a right once established cannot be destroyed. They set out in the petition that they were, on last election day, legalized female citizens of the United States, also legal citizens, residents and taxpayers, qualified electors of Washington territory, having resided in the proper precinct the necessary time and entitled to vote; that on October 1, 1893, they did offer their legal ballot, according to law, which was accepted by defendants, or not counted or given effect in a canvass of the votes; that such refusal to count was without sufficient cause and done with intent to injure plaintiffs whereby they were denied the right to properly vote at said election to their ignominy, disgrace and damage in the sum of $9000. Three suits will be brought for each precinct in the city. It seems that no attorney here had and enough to represent the plaintiffs, so the suits have been brought by Messrs. Savage and Dunigan, of Olympia.

ALLIANCE OF THE NORTHWESTERN AND UNION PACIFIC—MANITOWA REACHING WESTWARD.
New York, Oct. 21.—The World this morning prints a lengthy story to the effect that an alliance has been formed between the Chicago & Northwestern and Union Pacific railways. The roads henceforth will be operated in harmony. The agreement has been ratified by the board of directors of both companies. The World draws the deduction that, as the Northwestern is in a measure a Vanderbilt line, the Vanderbilt will, in all probability, branch out toward the Pacific from Fresno, Wash., to one of the Southern California seaports in proximity to Los Angeles.

TRAVELERS' ARRIVAL.
New York, Oct. 23.—Dow, Jones & Co's Financial News gives the following: "President Hackett, of the Northwestern says: 'We have entered into an arrangement with the Union Pacific whereby through trains will run over the two roads from Chicago to the western terminus of the Union Pacific, to take effect immediately.'"
