

A GREAT CRIME.

The Cronin murder trial will be noted as one of the greatest events in the history of crime in this country. The excitement which prevailed when the deceased was discovered to be missing; the lying reports which were sent forth from all parts of the country as to his whereabouts, to allay suspicion and throw all efforts to trace Dr. Cronin, in confusion and distrust, is evidence that the crime was deeply laid, the conspiracy widespread and that only few of the direct actors in the drama have been discovered.

The peculiar accidental finding of the body, the trunk and the arrests of suspicious persons, only to be found innocent, tended to increase the interest.

Crime has its Nemesis ever following the criminal, leaving in his footsteps evidences of the crime, though often trivial and light on first appearance, growing in meaning and extent with every examination, until it takes form as an accuser. The people were aroused, money was supplied without stint to encourage every prospect of success in discovering and arresting the guilty. Failures and disappointments only were the results of much labor.

The conspiracy had invaded the police force, and when suspicion fell upon its members, astonishment, hesitation and distrust pervaded the department. In whom could they place the charge of investigating and arresting suspects? It was trusted policemen who had it in their power to throw suspicion from the guilty. Though honest officials were baffled, they pressed onward in their investigations, finally resulting in the arrest of Coughlin, one of their own number.

No wonder a clue to the murderers was difficult to trace when the department was tainted with conspiracy, and the guilty were entrusted with the work of ferreting out the murderers. Fortunately the greater number comprising the police force of Chicago were good and true men to their duty. Only after long and persistent search was the clue obtained which led to the suspicion and arrest of the immediate perpetrators of the crime.

At length an indictment was found against the suspected parties and after a lengthy trial, prosecuted and defended by able counsel, Coughlin, Burke and O'Sullivan were convicted of murder, and Kunze as accessory.

The trial will long be remembered by the country, especially by the citizens of Chicago, for its great length, running through a period of three months, and the great expense incurred in the investigations, and arrest and conviction of the criminals.

Probably no criminal proceedings in this country presented so much and persistent perjury and crime as were shown on the trial of the case, and the attempt to fix and bribe jurors to prevent conviction of the parties. Those arrested for this latter crime will soon be tried, with evidence of great strength that must insure their conviction.

The efforts of the friends of the defense to secure acquittal is a confirmation of the belief that the conspiracy included many persons, the leaders of whom have been held in high esteem by their fellow citizens, though now under suspicion, their guilt may never be discovered.

It is said, and it is hoped will prove true, that the evidence which will be produced and obtained through the coming trials of the jury bribers, will bring out more startling facts as to the chief conspirators in the terrible crime, which will ever be remembered with horror for its cold-blooded, savage brutality.

ILL-TIMED RESOLUTION. The bombastic resolution which Senator Morgan has introduced in the senate acknowledging the independence of Brazil, with the Fourth of July declarations, is one which would, more properly, become a popular mass meeting in the present condition of affairs in that country; and would be received with unanimous acclamation by the people of this nation.

Such a display of unbecoming is "too previous" to the dignity of our national legislature to resolve a foreign government from one form into another without a request from its people.

It would conform more to propriety and correct ideas to hold back our resolves, until the present temporary and informal government shall give way to an acknowledged permanent one, formed by its people as contemplated by its temporary rulers. There is no good reason that congress should make itself ridiculous by issuing such resolutions. The world understands the position of the United States upon the subject of republican institutions and its sympathy for newly established republics, particularly its policy, as to the affairs of the Western continent, without the need of ill-timed and impertinent resolutions.

Resolutions are cheap and do not cost much only when presented for congressional consideration. It is not probable, however, that the senate will commit itself to such impertinence, but will wait with decency and patience, the request of a new Brazil, duly organized as a republican government, to be recognized as such in due form.

"WE POINT WITH PRIDE" To the "good name at home," won by the "Sandy" Olds case, in Lowell, Mass., inclinations, and it has given the best of satisfaction since its introduction ten years ago. This could not be if it did not possess merit. If you suffer from impure blood, try Hood's Sarsaparilla and realize its peculiar curative power.

STATEHOOD COSTS MONEY. The growth of the new state of Washington has been great and with extraordinary rapidity. The demands for state legislation and appropriations to meet the necessities of the state are enormous, and will tax the best legislators to provide for them without curtailing a heavy debt, or increasing the tax levy to a point which will be an excessive burden upon the tax payer.

The interests of Oregon are so identified with those of our neighbor that she cannot feel otherwise than proud of her growth and enterprise. Much is to be feared by the people of the new state from the pressure to have too much done at once. It is commendable on their part to show the spirit and enterprise which is attracting the attention of their legislators, but they should keep in mind that it costs great sums of money to make a first class state.

GREAT HEADS. From the Oregon Times. The Evening Telegram in commenting on the "Sandy" Olds case, quotes a number of attorneys who disagree with the supreme court, but who do not want their names mentioned. The Times has no desire to engage in controversy with the legal lights of the town, but it is nevertheless a well established fact that an attorney who gives out an opinion that he does not wish to back with his name, is generally very careful to let it be an opinion that he wants to give away instead of keep. These "covered" legal opinions remind us of that class of people who are always anxious to furnish a newspaper reporter with a red-hot item on which he can roast some quiet citizen, but who is always careful to preface it with: "But for God's sake don't mention my name!"

OREGON'S LEGISLATORS DOING WELL. Notwithstanding the grumbling in some quarters over the appointments to the national offices in Oregon, the people of the state have no fault to find with the more useful labors of their representatives; for they are pushing Oregon to the front in demands for recognition by congress.

If one half the bills, which they have this early introduced, are successful, this state will get a good share of the surplus in the treasury.

REMARKABLE RESCUE. Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught a snake which attacked her young child, which was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her doctor suggested that she try New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, and does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at A. D. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store; large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

GUARANTEES TO CURE. OLYMPIA S. MURRAY, M. D., Female Specialist. Has practiced on the Pacific Coast for the past twenty-five years. A positive guarantee to permanently cure any case of female weakness, no matter how long standing or what the stage may be. Charges reasonable and within the reach of all. For the benefit of the very poor she will treat free of charge. Consultation by mail free. All correspondence strictly confidential. Medicines packed, boxed and sent by express with charges pre-paid for "home" treatment, with specific directions for use. If you are suffering from any female trouble, periodically or constantly, Address: OLYMPIA S. MURRAY, M. D., East Portland, Oregon.

They Meet at Dalrymple and Enjoy themselves. Pursuant to previous arrangements made, the old Stars and Stripes were hoisted to the top of the Liberty-pole at Dalrymple last Saturday, there to wave in breeze as an indication that Liberty still reigns, and that the "veterans of Dalrymple Post, No. 31, might look up on her during the exercises of that day and night.

The following program was admirably rendered: Comrades march by martial music given by C. G. Ferguson, A. Ashbaugh and H. Kramer, at 5:30 o'clock, p. m., under command of Walter Brunson, officer of the day, to the church.

Song by the choir, by a band of Union brothers. Song by the choir—"Battle cry of Freedom."

Welcome address by J. F. Boyce. Song by choir—"Wrap the flag around me boys."

Installation of officers. Song by choir—"Marching to Georgia." Address by Hon. W. R. Ellis. Song by J. P. Hadley—"Gilly John's."

Recitation by Miss Bertha Hadley—"O'er the hills and through the valley." Installation by Lizzie Boyce—"Flowers on Papa's grave."

General remarks, toasts, etc. Good of thanks by Rev. Comrade Beach. Closing song by the choir—"Gone to the War."

After these exercises the poet and guests retired to the hall for turkey and pie. The day was spent in loud shaking and the beautiful and impressive ceremony which strengthens the ties of comradeship.

The music by the choir, led by J. P. Boyce, was of the best, and the declamations, songs and recitations were of the most interesting character and well rendered. The installation, conducted by S. W. Smith, was attractive. The following officers were installed: J. S. Boothby, Post-Commander; C. C. Stanley, S. V. Commander; H. H. Glasford, J. V. Commander; Isaiah Brown, Adjutant; C. C. Egan, Sergeant-Major; Rev. E. R. Beach, Chaplain.

The audience was large and the house crowded, but when Hon. W. R. Ellis arose to address the assemblage there was a marked attention. He soon laid the foundation on his address, and his oratory and enthusiasm well merited the hearty endorsement of all loyal citizens.

The address was sublime, and appropriate to the occasion. Time and time again his remarks were met with cheers. The audience was so large that Mr. Ellis had a vote of thanks, and will give him our support for congress.

SETTLERS CATCH IT IN THE NECK. Proofs Taken Since the Death of Receiver Reinhart are Valid. From Daily O. Dec. 31. Judge Reinhart, of the LaGrande Land Office, writes as follows: "In answer to my letter of inquiry of Nov. 15th ult., I this day received a letter containing instructions from the honorable commissioner of the 12th inst., in which I am informed that all the testimony taken by me in this case, including the death of the late receiver is valid."

The honorable commissioner further says: "In view of the facts, however, parties whose time for making final proof is set for a day which occurs during such vacancy, will be allowed a reasonable time after a receiver assumes his duties at your office in which to offer final proof. Such proof may be submitted without repudiation, provided the notice already issued is regular and correct."

DEATH OF AN HUSBAND CRUISED.—Hon. L. B. Ison, Judge of the circuit court, died in his home in Baker City on Saturday, Dec. 28, 1889. His illness extended to a period of two weeks. He was 45 years of age, and was a resident of Eastern Oregon since '60, having come from the 8th out of that territory. He was elected judge of the circuit embracing Umatilla, Union, Baker, Grant, Malheur, Wallowa and Harney counties in 1886, for a term of six years. Previous to his election he had been county clerk and also district attorney of Baker county.

RANKOR REMARKS. Job printing at Pendleton prices at the GAZETTE office. A fine line of gold pens, pencils, etc., at E. J. Slocum's drug store. You will do well to see clocks at W. O. Minor's before purchasing elsewhere. Rasmus, the dentist, will fill teeth, or extract the same in a scientific manner. J. B. Sperry has second-hand grain sacks for sale—good as new. Call at null.

Keep your eye not on Paezo, but on Van Duyn's holiday windows. The Saling, Morgan and Russell butler at W. O. Minor's. None better in the market. When you are dry, go to Swagartz's for a glass of the celebrated Weinhard beer. It is the quip or glass. Christmas is coming and so are the people to Van Duyn's to see their immense display of holiday goods. Guns & Buck, horse shoes; horses shod with new shoes all round after date for $1.50 per head. Met. Lichtenhalt will open your eyes in prices of his boots and shoes. You can buy them no cheaper in Portland.

Go to Van Duyn's for prices on clothing for men and boys. New goods and low prices. Van Duyn is the leader in prices, leader in fashions in clothing, gent's furnishings, hats, caps, boots and shoes. Oh, for holiday presents for the young. The Square Deal sulky plow gives entire satisfaction. A fair and impartial test will fully establish its merits. For sale by Gilliam & Coffey. Don't fail to call and inspect the new stock of prize baking powder, made at Leizer & Thompson's. The prettiest in the city. The $4 Buckingham & Hecht, men's shoe will not rip. First in the market for the price. Buy them at M. Lichtenhalt's. Plenty of mill feed and flour on hand at Sperry's Roller Mills. Flour in five-barrel lots, $3.75; single barrel, $1.00.

Don't want some dried venison? Go to J. W. Matlock & Co's grocery store for it, and everything else in their lines. The most complete stock of groceries in Heppner. Roberts & Simons are prepared to repair broken agricultural machinery, shoe your horse, and in fact there is nothing in the blacksmithing line that they are not able to do. We predict rather cold weather about the 25th of December, and slightly warmer about July 4th next, but wall paper and carpets will be reduced from ten to twenty per cent for the next thirty days at W. O. Minor's.

But look! The moria in russet mantle Walks o'er the dew of yon high eastward hills. But brilliant lamp adds more cheerfulness to the home circle. Examine Gilliam & Coffey's new fall stock before purchasing elsewhere.

FOUND.—Near town recently, a ladies' long-gaiter shoe. The owner will find said property at the GAZETTE office. CHRISTMAS GOODS.—Kiam & Wo have an elegant line of Christmas goods, including Japanese toys, fans, etc. Call and see them before purchasing your presents for friends and relatives.

OBITUARY. Died: At Enterprise, Or., Dec. 23, 1889, Mrs. M. Greenwood, aged, 35 years, 8 months and 22 days. The deceased's maiden name was Matlock, and she was born in Dade county, Mo., on the 11th day of April, 1853, her parents moving to this state the same year. They settled in Lane county, Or., near the present city of Eugene, where the deceased grew to womanhood, and on Nov. 16th, 1878, became the wife of G. J. L. Greenwood. Since that time she and her husband together with their little family, have lived much of the time in Eastern Oregon, and for the past three years in this county. She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, J. L. Greenwood, and four living daughters, Mrs. Arthur Sammons and Daisy Clarke, a promising girl of fourteen, both children of a former husband, Grace, deceased, and in-laws, a daughter, born the 17th of this month. She was also the mother of a daughter who died in January, 1888, a child by her first husband, next younger than Mrs. Samms.

The deceased was a sister of T. J. W. and E. L. Matlock, of Heppner, Or., and W. F. and C. J. Matlock, of Pendleton, Or., and J. D. Matlock, of Eugene.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Zellens yesterday morning, and the procession slowly moved to the rural cemetery, where the last sad rite was read, and all that's mortal of a model wife and mother was laid to rest with many tears in the silent abodes of death.

To the bereaved it is a most kind and sorrowful acquisition, reminding them of the uncertainty of life, the certainty of death and the immortality of a sustaining hope that is not all of his to mourn for all of death to die. They hope of all go out to the bereaved in their hour of sore affliction.

The mother of the deceased, M. S. C. Matlock, lives with Mr. Greenwood, and will supply, so far as dutiful affection and great age will permit, the place of mother to her orphan grand-daughters. She is seventy-four years of age—Wallowa Signal.

Mrs. Greenwood resided many years in this vicinity, and was beloved by all, and her death brings sorrow to the heart of many who are not bound in ties of relationship. To the many relatives and friends, our sympathy.

EAGLES. Fox Valley Placer Diggins.—The Train of John Day Valley will go to the mines on the 1st inst.

It is expected the Fox valley mines will be extensively worked the coming spring, judging from the amount of snow that is in that section. Miners cannot complain of an insufficient amount of water next year unless we should be badly fooled in the quantity of snow that will fall this winter.

It seems that the Heppner and Pendleton firms are now competing to secure and hold the trade of Northern Grant or really the entire John Day section. Heppner at present has the inside track, but the question is, "Is she going to maintain it?" Pendleton is looking forward to the day when the John Day section will have access to her town, thus hoping to attract a large amount of the trade of this section in their direction. Either town, we think, is well worthy of the honor of being the center and entrepot of the town, and the one that reaches the farthest for the trade of this centralization, which invariably means the free use of "prutek's ink," is the town that will be successful in the outcome.

HAPPY HOOSIERS. Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine I ever made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at A. D. Johnson & Co's Drug Store."
