J. W. Becket came up from his Portland home on Sunday and is spending a few days here looking after his farming interests on Eight Mile. Some rain has been the order about Portland, Mr. Becket states, but the real fall rains have not yet arrived and drought conditions seem to prevail generally throughout the Willamette valley from Portland south.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rogers of Redmond, Oregon, were called to Heppner by the death of Mrs. Rogers' mother, Mrs. C. A. Darbee. They departed on Saturday with Mr. Darbee for Portland to attend the commitment services at the Portland crematorium. Mr. Darbee will visit with them at their Redmond home for a time before returning to Heppner.

Percy Hughes came down from his home at Umpaine the end of the week and has been spending a few days here looking after business interests. While it is still pretty dry in the Walla Walla country, Mr. Hughes thinks everything will come out all right. He is well pleased with their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rowell of Ione were visitors Monday in the city while Mrs. Rowell was calling upon the dentist. With their family they have recently moved on to the Lee Padberg place on Rhea creek, formerly farmed by Fred Raymond, having taken the farm on a four-year lease.

Oscar Keithley of Eight Mile was disposing of some mighty fine potatoes of the Netted Gem variety in Heppner on Friday. He raised quite a lot of the spuds on his Eight Mile farm this season and finds a ready market here for any surplus he wishes to dispose of.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shively and Mrs. Shively's young son, Billy Becket, returned from Portland on Sunday. Mrs. Shively had been in the city for several weeks with the boy who underwent an operation for mastoid trouble. The lad is now rapidly improving.

According to report received here this week, William E. Bell, formerly manager of the Hotel Heppner and now of Vernonia, Oregon, has been adjudged a bankrupt in the United States court at Portland. Creditors of Mr. Bell at this place have been so notified.

Ora Barlow states that much seedling has been done out his way and some of the grain is coming up. Mr. Barlow looks for all the seed to germinate and come along when there is a little more moisture. He was doing business in Heppner on Monday.

Cecil Thorne, young farmer of the Lexington section, was doing business at Heppner on Monday. For several years past he has been on the J. W. Beymer place but is now retiring from the farming game.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. French were down from their home at Gurdane on Saturday, spending a few hours in Heppner. They report some winter weather but not much rain or snow yet.

M. R. Morgan and wife were visitors in the city Saturday, the district convention of the Rebekahs calling them here for the afternoon.

Hester Lawson, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Lawson of Balm Fork, is now recovering from an illness of a week.

Mrs. Leona Huston, mother of E. R. Huston, spent Sunday in this city visiting with her son and family. She came up from her home at Albany with Mr. and Mrs. Albyn Esson and the party returned home on Monday.

Scott McMurdo, young son of Dr. A. D. McMurdo, fell out of a tree on Friday, landing on his left arm with sufficient force to break the large bone just below the shoulder. He is now carrying the arm in a plaster cast.

Mr. C. E. Woodson returned home on Thursday from Portland. She is making disposition of her property here and contemplates going to Eugene, where, with her two daughters she will make her future home.

Roger Morse, county agent, returned home from Portland on Sunday. He spent a few days in the city attending the Northwest Hay and Grain Show and looking after the Mojrow county display.

Jim Carter and wife were down from their home on Matteson butte Saturday. During the fore part of last week there was a fall of about five inches of snow out their way but it did not hang on long.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Gemmill and children, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gemmill, motored to The Dalles on Sunday for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gemmill.

Ben Morgan and wife and Al Troedson and wife were Morgan people in the city Saturday afternoon, attending the meeting of the Rebekahs, as representatives of the Morgan lodge.

O. H. McPherrin, who has been quite ill at his home in this city for the past two weeks, is now convalescing, and his physician, Dr. McMurdo, expects him out in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hopper were here from Heppner on Sunday, visiting at the H. S. Cox home. Mrs. Cox returned with them to Heppner on Monday.—Arlington Bulletin.

For the purpose of electing a director to serve the unexpired term of C. E. Woodson, deceased, a special school meeting of District No. 1 has been called for Saturday, November 28th, at the council chambers in Heppner. This is the time also for the district budget meeting.

Miss Mary Notson is confined to her bed at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Notson in this city, suffering from the effects of a very severe cold.

Harold Cohn is able to be back on the job again at Cohn Auto Co., after an illness of several days, during which he was confined to his home.

S. E. Simonton, extensive farmer of the Alpine country, was doing business here on Saturday. It is still very dry down that way.

WANTED—To pasture about 50 head of good horses for winter. Will feed when necessary. O. T. Ferguson & Son, Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. French Burroughs and Mrs. Glenn Burroughs of Jordan Siding were visitors in Heppner on Saturday.

WANTED—To rent ranch in Morrow county; prefer near Heppner. Laurence E. Reaney, Lexington, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Valentine spent a few hours in the city on Monday from their home at Lexington.

SOLICITORS. A study of the business done by house-to-house solicitors and peddlers, made by an eastern writer, found that the starting point of their traffic was this: they sell what people do not want to buy. Unless the peddler is crafty or insistent enough to achieve that, he might as well quit; he has no field if he is limited to the legitimate business of the merchant who seeks to sell what his customers want. So if you patronize the itinerant solicitor, you have the humiliation of knowing that you have been "worked," he has "played you for a sucker."

Along with this goes the second interesting fact that the itinerants are strangers, they assume no responsibility for the merit of their goods and buyers have no recourse whatever if not satisfied. From this it follows that the peddlers will naturally sell inferior wares. They have no future to protect, like an established and settled business house, and they have no incentive to give good values. A comparison of their goods with those sold by business houses will show the advantage to be always with the stores. The peddler lives on the gullibility of the public.—Enterprise Record-Chieftain.

SACRIFICE SALE OF HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE. I am offering for immediate disposal much of my household furniture and equipment which includes china closet, piano, Victrola, upholstered furniture, bedroom sets, carpets, rugs, etc. Also the most of my splendid library, containing many volumes of choice books; these go at 25c and up, together with book cases. All at sacrifice prices for quick sale. Call at residence for inspection. MRS. C. E. WOODSON.

CARD OF THANKS. We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their beautiful floral offerings and kind words of sympathy during the bereavement of our beloved wife and mother. MR. C. A. DARBEE, MR. and MRS. RAY ROGERS.

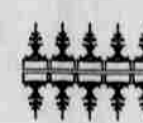

Lee Howell and wife were among the lone folks in Heppner Saturday afternoon to attend the district convention of the Rebekahs.
