

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HEREM. Correspondent.

All members of the Ladies Aid are urged to attend the regular aid meeting April 7. This is the first meeting for some time because of the various epidemics and it is also the day for the annual election of officers, so a good attendance is desired.

Chas. Barnes and Geo. Agee left Saturday for Portland.

No school was held on Monday in order that the teachers might attend the local institute in Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Calkins and Ailee and Ruth and Francine King were entertained charmingly on Sunday at the "Do Drop Inn" with the Misses Malloy, Boughner and Silver as hostesses.

R. Waamer is a guest at the Nick Falser home.

Mrs. Frank Hayse and two children have gone to Pendleton for an indefinite stay. Eleanor is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Pearson.

It is reported that Andy Andregg has subleased the Donnelly ranch west of town to Alfred Skoubo. Mr. Andregg has done a great deal of work on this ranch, and is an enterprising farmer. He has the largest dairy herd on the project, milking as many as 30 cows at one time. He plans to move to Hermiston.

After a pleasant visit at the W. H. Mefford home Mrs. Geo. Mefford and two children have returned to their home in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis motored to Heppner one day and to Pendleton the next, recently after their release from mumps quarantine.

Albert Mefford and Maurice Goodwin left last week for Klamath Falls, driving across the state in the former's Gardner.

M. L. Morgan and family were guests Sunday at the H. H. Weston home. Mr. Morgan overhauled Mrs. Weston's "coop" while here. Bobby and Billy are recovering from a siege of whooping cough and Bobby is now able to walk after weeks in a plaster cast because of a broken leg.

Mrs. C. S. Beardsley is enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. House of Lewiston, Ida.

Honoring their mother, Mrs. Curtis of Seattle, Mrs. John Jenkins and Mrs. Leslie Packard were hostesses at a pleasant afternoon tea on Thursday. Guests who enjoyed the affair were Mesdames E. Cummins, Chas. Nizer, C. S. Beardsley and mother, Mrs. House. Mrs. Curtis will spend some time here visiting her daughter.

After spending the winter with their son Glen and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hadley departed on Saturday for their home in Hardman.

over the planting of trees in this arid country, set out trees on both sides of Main street last week, placing boxes or rocks around them for protection. Although trees may be "de trop" on the main street of a city they are much to be desired on the main street of our small town, and it is to be hoped that good care will be taken of these trees that they may thrive and prove to be things of beauty and a joy forever.

Sunday School and church services were held Sunday for the first time in several weeks. Easter services will be held on Sunday evening, since it is the first Sunday in the month. Sunday School will be held as usual in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Allen of Helix spent the week end with home folks.

O. H. Warner is having a number of improvements made on his camp ground. A new cottage has been erected and the old one will be remodeled to conform with necessary requirements of the state law.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson were Hermiston visitors on Friday.

Adolph Skoubo has just finished seeding his vetch—having put in about ten acres of it this year. Mr. Skoubo is enthusiastic over the advantages of hairy vetch.

A large crowd attended the Kelly sale on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Hendrickson of Willows cried the sale and Mr. Ebi was clerk. Everything was sold, farm equipment, household goods, etc., and Alvin Kelly leaves shortly for Boulder Creek, Calif., where he will spend some time with his mother. This was a forced sale to clear the estate of the late J. M. Kelly. The Arlington bank was mortgagee. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Agee, who have been living on the Farman place, have moved to the Kelly place and will farm it for the coming year.

Mrs. Glen Hadley and baby and Mrs. J. P. Hadley were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Eck Warren last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gorgor and baby were visitors Thursday at the L. C. Cooney home, and also attendants at the Kelly sale. They are wheat raisers.

A 16-in. concrete pipe has been put across to the Clarence Berger ranch from Crawford's, by Harve Wolf of the Reclamation Service, and his men. Tom Miller of Sixprong, Wn., was a Boardman visitor Thursday. He attended the Kelly sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Ves Attebury, who raises the fine big Barred Rock chickens, shipped 14 hens to Portland last week for which they realized the sum of $23.80. They have 260 baby chicks and have the incubator set for another hatch.

James Howell, Jr., who has been a student at O. A. C., returned home at the close of this quarter and will help his father on the ranch and resume his studies again in the fall.

News was received announcing the birth of an 8-lb. daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Royal Rands, Mrs. Rands is at Salt Lake City, Utah. The second birthday of little Ruth Kunze was celebrated Monday night when Mrs. Kunze entertained at a dinner party, having Mr. and Mrs. Agee and family and Claude Myers and family as guests.

Portland papers last week carried the news of the death of Wm. Warren at 984 E. Stark St., aged 86 years. Mr. Warren made his home in Boardman with his son Harry E. Warren, owner of the Boardman Trading company, for several years. He was active for his years and was about the streets during his residence here. He was a veteran of the Civil War and had lived in the west a great many years, and could tell many interesting tales of pioneer days. Mr. Warren formerly lived around Heppner and Hardman and had a large acquaintance in that vicinity. His death was caused by inflammation of the bladder from which ailment he had suffered for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingvaard Skoubo and family were dinner guests Sunday at the Ed. Kunze home.

Mrs. A. T. Herem and son A. T. Jr. were guests at the J. R. Johnson home Sunday for dinner.

A number of radio fans listened in Monday night to the Pilot Rock program broadcast from Walla Walla. This was of special interest to Boardman friends who were acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lee who had a prominent part in the program. Mrs. Lee played all the accompaniments in 1923 were not to be provided gram came in as clear as though one were in the immediate presence of the performers. The Swiss yodelling songs by Mr. Roy were especially pleasing as were the quartet selections in which Mr. Lee sang. A congenial group was gathered at the Lee Mend home to enjoy this concert.

A meeting was held Monday night at the school house to discuss the proposed irrigation changes. C. E. Glasgow of Irirgon presided. He read the contract and many asked for explanation of doubtful points. In order to get relief from the excessive water taxes of the past, and have them spread over the future it will be necessary for the people of the West Extension to take over the operation and maintenance, this matter to be voted on April 10. If this is carried we must employ our own ditch riders, and look after all the things which the government now has charge of, and Mr. Glasgow mentioned that it might be possible to employ only one ditch rider to look after Irirgon and Boardman both, but that hardly appears feasible as Dan Ranster, the man who has so ably handled that work for the past several years, has all he can do right here, and we know of no one who could do any more. If this vote carries the water taxes will be so arranged that we must pay 5% of the gross earnings for a 10-year average, and the maintenance fees paid in advance. It was understood that those delinquent in water payments in 1923 were not to be provided with water until their payments were made.

row county rural teachers. Among those who spent the time inspecting work being done in Lexington schools were, Mrs. Lena Kelly of Devine, Miss Eloise Upson of Strawberry, Miss Anne Grabhorn and Mr. Kahler of Pine City.

Lexington Church of Christ will join with Alpine church in an Easter service at Alpine. It is planned that Lexington Bible school shall leave in a body about nine o'clock. This will be a final service conducted by Rev. Wallace Jones.

Mrs. W. O. Hill and daughter Lucille, left for a Portland visit Friday. Herman Hill accompanied them to Arlington.

Elmo McMillan and Glenn Shears from Corvallis and Miss LaVelle Leathers from Monmouth were students spending Easter vacation in their home town.
