

Local Happenings

Rev. W. O. Livingstone, formerly pastor of the Christian church in Heppner, came up from his home at Hood River on Sunday to deliver the baccalaureate address to the graduating class of Heppner high school at 8:00 p. m. He enjoyed visiting with many old friends here on Monday, and Monday evening went to Hardman to deliver the address to the graduating class of the Union high school, and going on to Pilot Rock Tuesday to fulfill a similar engagement with the high school there.

Harvey Laantz, who has been engineer on the branch for the past five years, will take a place with the company at The Dalles. Mr. Laantz and family will remove to The Dalles in a week or so to make their home and Heppner people regret to see them go, for they have made many friends here. Mr. Laantz makes this move because of the recent change from day to night run on the Heppner branch.

Postmaster Smead announces that hours at the Heppner postoffice will not change because of the recent change in train service. Outgoing mail should be in to office by 6 o'clock p. m. in order to get out on the night train. The office will be open at 8 a. m. as usual, and the incoming mail distributed immediately upon its arrival here. The change will be all right when we get accustomed to it.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Amort of Corvallis arrived in Heppner Thursday afternoon last. Mr. Amort, who is with the state highway department, was called to The Dalles on business, and he brought Mrs. Amort to Heppner for a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Patterson. They returned home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Hughes returned from Portland and The Dalles on Sunday evening. Mrs. Hughes had been at the bedside of her brother, who passed away in that city and was buried May 5th. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes then went to Portland where they spent about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cotter of Ione were visitors here on Saturday. Mr. Cotter reports that the recent spall of heat worked considerable damage to grain in portions of his part of the county, news that we are indeed sorry to hear.

Jake Young and his son Glenn were going business in the city on Saturday from their Gooseberry home. A good rain out that way on Friday last was of much benefit to the crops, Mr. Young states.

From Monday's East Oregonian we have the news that Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gemmill of Helix are the parents of a boy born at St. Anthony's hospital that morning.

James Gentry of this city and Floyd Smith of Pendleton left for East Lake on Friday last to enjoy a season of fishing for the big eastern brook trout.

Harry Bartholomew, extensive stock raiser and ranchman of Stanfield was a visitor in Heppner Tuesday while looking after matters of business.

Attorney C. L. Sweek was called to Portland the end of the week to attend to some legal business. He returned home Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Copenhaver were visitors here Saturday from their home north of Swaggart's buttes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lotus Robinson of Rock creek, south of Hardman, were visitors in Heppner on Monday.

Noah Clark and family sojourned in the city for a few hours Saturday from their Eight Mile farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Tindal Robinson, prominent Eight Mile folks, were visitors in Heppner on Saturday.

O. E. Johnson and Ernest Cannon were Hardman ranchers doing business in the city Tuesday.

FOR SALE—Deering combine in good condition. Price reasonable. Inquire at this office.

C. H. Latourelle, local Ford dealer, returned from Portland on Tuesday. While in the city over the week end he took part in the final shoot of the Oregonian tourney shoot-off as a member of Heppner's winning team. Other members of this team were L. Van Marter, Albert Bowker, Chas. Vaughn and Dr. A. D. McMurdo.

Earl Gordon, who was so severely burned Monday, was taken to the Morrow General hospital, and at this time is reported as resting easy. It is the opinion of his physician, Dr. Johnston, that it may be necessary later to graft some skin on his hands and arms.

Mrs. Fred Griffin and son, Fred Jr., returned to their home in Ione Tuesday, from the Morrow General hospital in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Becket were visitors here Saturday from their Eight Mile home.

J. A. Patterson went to Portland Monday to spend a few days in the city on business.

Roy Neill, Butter creek ranchman, was doing business in this city on Monday.

Sacrificed to Sell—Good piano. Mrs. Harvey Laantz, Heppner.

R. C. Phelps, brother of Mrs. W. P. Hill, arrived early Sunday morning from his home at Toppenish, Wash., in response to word that his nephew, Oren Hill, was very seriously ill. The young man passing away shortly after Mr. Phelps arrived, he remained over to assist the family during the funeral and burial services. Mr. Phelps returned home on Wednesday, being accompanied by Harold Hill. Mr. Phelps is a printer by trade and has a position with the paper at Toppenish.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson arrived by motor from South Pasadena, Calif., on Saturday, and are guests at the home of Mr. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson. It has been some four years since they left Heppner to locate in Southern California, and this is the first trip home of Mr. Patterson. Ben is well situated in a prosperous drug business in California.

Dick Kay, a young man working at the Kilkenny ranch, met with an accident on Saturday while loading wool on a truck. The rope he was using in pulling the sacks on the load gave way and he fell from the truck, receiving injuries to his back that necessitated his spending several days in the Heppner Surgical hospital. He is now able to be about again though not ready to go to work.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lovgren, at their home in this city, on May 15th, twin sons, weight 6 1/2 lbs. each. Dr. McMurdo reports both mother and babies doing well, with Martin as head nurse.

Wesley Brannon was in Heppner yesterday from his home at Hardman. Dr. A. D. McMurdo made a trip to Portland the end of the week, remaining over to take his part in the big shoot there on Sunday. He was one of the members of Heppner's winning team.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Huston will depart for Eugene on Sunday. Mr. Huston will be a delegate to the I. O. O. F. grand lodge at Salem, and Mrs. Huston will visit at Eugene and Albany. They expect to be absent from Heppner for a week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Huston, Eight Mile residents, were visitors in this city yesterday.

Mrs. Frank Turner and Mrs. George McDuffee will represent San Souci Rebekah lodge of this city at the state meeting in Salem, which gathers there the coming week. They will leave for Salem on Sunday.

Adam Knoblock will be one of the delegates from Willow Lodge No. 66, I. O. O. F. of this city to the grand lodge meeting in Salem the coming week. He will leave for the convention city on Sunday.

Dr. A. H. Johnston, county health officer, was inspecting the auto camps at Boardman Tuesday.
