MORROW COUNTY'S OFFICIAL PAPER. Foreign Advertising Representative THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

A Real Invitation.

HEPPNER will be the scene of a Fourth of July celebration the coming month for the first time in several years. In the guise of an athletic carnival sponsored by the American Legion, this celebration should prove all that is promised for it. Heppner business men believe this to be true, as evidence their full-page invitation in this issue, a whole-hearted request for everyone to come and enjoy the hospitality of the city on this occasion.

The Legion boys have been working hard to arrange top-notch events for the three-day carnival, and the program as announced shows their efforts have not been wasted. The city is behind the Legion, and the promise of our merchants that the celebration will be really worth-while is bona-fide. Heppner invites everyone to share in a joyous Fourth within her gates.

PUBLIC FORUM

Under this head will be published all communications to the Editor containing comment of public interest. Such communications are welcome, but must bear the writer's signature. Signatures will be withheld from publication if so desired.

To the Editor of the Gazette Times: The program, as printed in the last issue of your paper, for the celebration of our National Independence Day, induces me to offer for publication, the inserted clipping from the Literary Digest, quoting from the Christian Century and the San Francisco Monitor.

We may naturally and rightfully expect that the features of the celebration of this day shall correctly express the character of the people. This will be the case, whether we remain true to the principles of liberty for which our fathers at Bunker Hill faced the muskets of the Red-coats and shed their blood, or whether we degenerate to the vulgar life of the Sodomite, and amuse ourselves with bull fights and battering each other's lives out in pugilistic combats.

In offering this clipping it is hardly necessary to say that the sentiment here voiced is from people and organizations that are qualified to speak, and whom we cannot afford to disregard. It is perfectly possible that a community may become so enchanted by the call of the Sirens, so infatuated with physical beauty, so enchained by carnal passion, as to utterly lose its moral bearings.

"Bathing beauties are banned as an advertisement for Cape May, New Jersey, and The Christian Century (Un-denominational) ventures to hope that Cape May's refusal to send a representative to a bathing-beauty contest at Atlantic City may be the happy augury of a return of sense to American municipalities. To this religious journal it is difficult to see anything but viciousness in these annual displays. For, "As they are conducted, they pander to the prurient and expose their participants to temptations which no community has a right to set in the way of its members. Careful investigations, made by organizations such as the Y. W. C. A. and the women's clubs, have shown that, from beginning to end, these contests work to undermine the moral stamina of the girls who are in them. They begin with local competitions, fostered by sensational newspapers. In these, crowds are gathered to watch while 'judges' pass on the 'points' of empty-headed girls who pose in abbreviated bathing-suits. From these local contests the winners pass to a week at the seaside resort, where, in every possible way, their physical attractions are exploited, and they are subjected to a sort of flattery which leads many of them to dangerous paths. The city which tries to advertise itself in such a way has a curious sense of civic pride and responsibility. The city manager of Cape May is only talking sense when he says, 'We cannot see the propriety of young women being sent with pomp and circumstance to Atlantic City, or any other city, once a year to be measured, weighed, appraised and gazed on by a curious multitude. Call us old-fashioned if you like, but count Cape May out. We will keep our beautiful girls at home.'" and onlookers at Santa Cruz has enough of the baboon expression to convince us that Beauty Contests have nothing to do with city planning or "consort development." There are cardinal truths that underlie the structure of life, tested over and over by the peoples of every age. Sands of the deserts cover the bones of obliterated nations that have dared defy the laws of these truths. We may look lightly upon the Decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount, but they contain the girdling truths of the moral universe. Any city that can invite the flagrant desecration of the Sabbath (under the pretense of patriotic demonstration) and pander to the exhibitions of carnal passion and lust, may boast of "modern attractions," but it is built on sand. In the name of virtue I counsel the parents of the community, do not jeopardize further the safety of the girlhood—and the boyhood—of our homes by encouraging and patronizing "Bathing Beauty Contests," whose history is being written with the blood of its victims.

The BULL'S EYE

Editor and General Manager WILL ROGERS

Meeting the "Bull" Durham Smoker Face to Face

I am just making, as the Politician says, "A swing around the Circle," to see what was going on in "Real America." I had been in New York so long, I was getting a kind of a Subway "Slant" on things. I was becoming as narrow as a Metropolitan Newspaper Editor. My eyesight was getting so poor I couldn't see beyond the Hudson River, and my mind wouldn't function farther away than Albany, N. Y. I knew that New York was "amusing the world," but I wanted to meet the fellow who was "feeding it." I am kinder oddly constituted. You can cut off my amusement, but if my food stops you are going to have an argument on your hands.

I, as Editor and Proprietor of the Bull's Eye, wanted to meet not only the readers, but the consumers of THIS Wonderful Product of OURS. (The American Tobacco Company and me.) Well, I wish you could see the type of Men they were. Big fine healthy upstanding He-Men. They were not the little Anemics that has to tap his Cigarette on the box before he can smoke it. They were our Producers of our Necessities of Life. When I saw the type of He-Men smoking "Bull" Durham, it almost made me cry, that I wasn't a smoker myself.

The Rogers P.S. There will be another piece here a few weeks from now. Look for it.

Service and the Small Account

This bank is a service institution organized to meet financial necessities of its depositors. The amount of its service to its depositors often depends on the bank balances they maintain.

This bank must carefully protect the funds deposited here by its depositors. Money can be loaned only when we feel sure that it will be safe. When a depositor maintains a reasonably large, steady balance, it is an indication to us that he knows how to use money successfully. It gives us a reason to believe that loans to him will be safe. That is one reason why depositors who maintain large balances get better service from their bank. They are entitled to it.

And even more than that, a large balance provides the depositor with sufficient funds to take care of emergencies and business opportunities that may arise.
