The Little Red School.

A FEW days ago a nation-wide spelling contest in Washington was won by a Kentucky miss who has secured all of her education up to this time in a one-room schoolhouse.

And yet there is nothing so remarkable about this after all. Until recently the great majority of our public men acknowledged the one-room schoolhouse as their starting point, and there are still many in active life, successful in one way or another, who harken back to the same kind of an educational beginning.

Now of course we are building schoolhouses a great deal more modern in outline. In addition to the class rooms, there are assembly rooms, laboratories, gymnasiums, etc., not only in the cities and towns but out in the rural districts, too.

This is all well enough, and we ought to pride ourselves on our interest in education. At the same time, it must be remembered that artistic buildings, with all modern equipment, will not take the place of brains, character, and individual effort.

This does not mean that we ought to give up our modern sanitary buildings and go back to hewn log desks. But we ought not to lose sight of the fact that something besides modern equipment is necessary.

We are glad if those who came enjoyed themselves and hope they will come again.

Fight Just Begun.

THERE is substantial ground for believing that President Coolidge has only begun the fight on the matter of farm relief, it is the word sent out from Washington.

There has been considerable discussion pro and con as to the causes which led to the President's issuance of the statement which Senator Fess gave to the newspapers.

The nature of the jobs indicates that the present generation is not drifting too far into "white-collar" preferences.

That is why his friends say he was absolutely justified in making a plain statement which the framers of the country could read and which cleared any misunderstanding.

SHOULD AGRICULTURE ASK FOR RELIEF?

(From State Market Agent) Agriculture is the basic and most important industry of this country and it is not keeping pace, financially, with the other industries.

The Little Red School.

The total gross income of the people of the United States from all sources is estimated at $12,000,000,000. There were 30,865,000 farms January 1, 1926, and more than one-fourth of the people received only one-tenth of the income.

The ratio between what the farmer sells and what he buys is out of proportion. The expenses of production have increased 125 per cent since 1913, while the general increase in the price of farm products to the farmer has been but from 10 to 12 per cent.

These conditions are beyond the control of the farmers. They present problems both economic and political. Both political parties pledged to remedy these conditions, but both houses of congress have defeated all relief measures so far proposed.

The Chain Store Business.

Marketing associations should come alive to the immense buying business of the chain stores and go after some of it. These systems buy large quantities, they insist on standard grading, quality and price.

An Egg Eating Nation. The increase in eggs and poultry in this country is amazing, compared with other animals and population. Population has a little more than doubled since 1880, during which time sheep have declined in number, hogs have remained about the same, milk cows have increased about 25 per cent, while poultry and eggs have increased more than four times.

BERT FULLY RESTORED, NOW.

They do say that a number of our local baseball fans journeyed to Heppner last Sunday and witnessed a stirring exhibition. At any rate the boys were considerably stirred up when they got back.
