While it rained almost constantly while Mrs. Moore was in the old home state, she enjoyed the trip very much and was able to get about and see numerous old acquaintances. One thing Mrs. Moore noticed was that in Missouri they did not have good roads like we have in Oregon.

Marshall Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Phelps of this city, paid the home folks a visit the last of the week, coming over from Bend, where he is employed by a big lumber concern. Mr. Phelps' vacation was delayed due to the fact that he has been used as handy man while other mem-bers of the force were vacationing. He had a try at practically every job in the outfit, he reports, and while his education was greatly en-hanced thereby, at the same time his own work suffered, and he has had a hard time catching up. He returned to Bend Sunday to Bend Sunday.

that produces 20% of this country's potash needs. Agriculture which is so dependent upon potash as a fer-tilizer can thank Dr. John E. Tee-ple for his development of the in-dustry. The American Chemical Society awarded the Perkins Medal for 1927 to Dr. Teeple for his chem-farmers recently passed a resolution to the effect that it didn't want to to the effect that it didn't want to hear any more political speeches on the plight of agriculture. Evidently this organization believes that some-thing else is needed than more or less visionary plans to lift the farmer by his own bootstraps.

All sorts of theories have been propounded as cures for the ills of the farmer and all sorts of figures have been produced to show what is the matter with him. Most of these have been erroneous, as was a recent arith-metical exhibit tending to show how much less the farmers' dollar will buy than the dollar of the fellow in town

a set of figures which the Secretary of Agriculture branded as an absurd-ity. In commenting on the situation of the farmer and the tendency of tar-iff reformers and others to quote their own statistics to suit their own pur-own statistics to suit their own purposes, Mr. Jardine wisely said:

 "Since 1921 agriculture has been going through a slow but steady process of recovery. The index of purchasing power of farm products has risen by an average of five points per year from its low point of 69 in 1921. It is true that cotton has slumped in price this fall, but it is equally true that other products of regional importance enjoy a favorable price position. In August, the latest month sition. In August, the latest month for which our figures are complete, farmers are ended nor that there are not yet real agricultural problems to be solved. On the other hand, no real progress can be made toward re-storing full argicultural prosperity if such important matters as tariff protection or other issues of nation-al policy are to be settled on the basis of incorrect and misleading statis-tical evdience."

Invents Death Ray

Dr. W. D. Coolidge, Philadel-phia scientist, has perfected a tube phia scientist, has perfected a tube for projecting the cathode ray. A mouse after being exposed to the ray for but a fraction of a minute was disintegrated. It kills plant life—turns acetylene gas into pow-der and does other amazing things. Dr. Coolidge hopes to make the ray of help to humanity.

At the Farm Home Board meeting on October 16th, it was decided to erect the next cottage, built outside such leading products as hogs, pota-toes, butter and wool had a unit pur-chasing power even above the pre-war parity of exchange.

"Of course, no informed man will argue from this that the difficulties of farmers are ended nor that there are of special county campaigns, in hon-or of Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, the work in establishing the Home. The Farm Home Board are confident that depend upon them to make this cam-paign a success. We are very glad for this activity for cottages for the need for more room is very great and we hope several of these cottages will be rected early next year.
