What Matters the Cost?

WHEN a loved one in the family is sick unto death, we call a doctor, hire nurses if necessary, in fact do everything possible to bring them back to health and happiness.

But, are we consistent? Why should we go aimlessly on our way, permitting our bodies to become subject to attacks of maladies long before our times of usefulness have expired?

At least this would seem to be the case in Heppner. It is an axiom that needs no proving to one educated in the merest fundamentals of human existence that a healthy body is requisite to a healthy mind.

The construction of a gymnasium is not for the sole purpose of giving a few physically perfect, or nearly so, youths a place to stage athletic contests. Its intention is for practical laboratory purposes, where everyday those pupils who are most in need of it, may receive directed training.

Money invested thus in the bodies of growing boys and girls can only be money well spent. It is also insurance against much illness and many doctor bills in later life.

Now, figure the cost, from figures to be found elsewhere in this issue, and satisfy yourself that the doctor bill is reasonable. FLAGRANT abuse of the pardoning power vested in the executive is evidenced by the freedom from the penitentiary of Allan MacLaren, a Portland youth, who served a few days more than one year of the four-year sentence imposed for a statutory crime.

What is being done in Heppner, and what can be done, with present facilities, to oversee the proper development of our boys and girls? Practically nothing. We may see that they have plenty of exercise in the open air, but if the family physician, should he give a diagnosis, suggest a certain kind of exercise to overcome a physical defect, we are practically at a loss to see that his instructions are effectively carried out.

This physical training, as well

Dr. Frank Crane Says

DON'T OVERLOAD THE IMAGINATION

THE trouble with most writing and stage productions is that they stifle the imagination by overloading it.

There are those who hold that it is better to read a play than to see it enacted, for when you read your imagination can picture the scene, whereas when you see the play all the work of your imagination is done for you.

A suggestion to the imagination is better than too much. The Orientals understand this and their scenery in the play is of a suggestive kind and is not realistic.

For instance, when a boat is to be depicted a real boat is not brought on the stage, but some contraption that can suggest a boat.

A little girl gets more fun out of an old rag doll than she does out of a fancy doll that can open and shut its eyes and conceal a phonograph which talks.

A boy gets quite as much fun out of riding astraddle of a broomstick and calling it a horse as he would out of riding a horse.

A great part of the fun of any kind of play consists in using the imagination and like every other faculty, the imagination gets more pleasure when it is stimulated to activity than when it is loaded down by outside pleasure.

It is better for the health to take exercise than to have massage. It is better to make your own exercise than to have someone make it for you.

In the same way it is better to use your own imagination than to use that of someone else.

This has a distinct reference to style, for a style is better that is full of suggestions than one which is full of descriptions. Let the mind do its own flying and do not carry it in the aeroplane of your own abundant talk.

as the training of the minds of our boys and girls, belongs in the school. Physical and mental training are so interlocked that the best results in education can only be obtained by giving equal consideration to each. If a gymnasium, such as is being asked for, is erected in Heppner, proper attention can and will be given to physical education.

The construction of a gymnasium is not for the sole purpose of giving a few physically perfect, or nearly so, youths a place to stage athletic contests. Its intention is for practical laboratory purposes, where everyday those pupils who are most in need of it, may receive directed training.

Money invested thus in the bodies of growing boys and girls can only be money well spent. It is also insurance against much illness and many doctor bills in later life. Now, figure the cost, from figures to be found elsewhere in this issue, and satisfy yourself that the doctor bill is reasonable.

FLAGRANT abuse of the pardoning power vested in the executive is evidenced by the freedom from the penitentiary of Allan MacLaren, a Portland youth, who served a few days more than one year of the four-year sentence imposed for a statutory crime. The unspeakable crime of MacLaren was committed July 28, 1923, and more than two years were taken up with the law's delays, covering appeal to the state supreme court and reprieve, before the convicted youth started to serve his sentence.

too harsh a criticism to intimate that the executive is deaf to the preservation of organized society. Mr. Pierce goes out of office within a few weeks, and his action in the MacLaren case indicates his irresponsibility. The father of the boy was well known in this state as a welfare worker and served as a member of the Pierce parole board. It is apparent that the governor has permitted sentimentality to rule, rather than reason. The natural effect carries with it a stern warning to parents to keep their daughters home under watchful eyes, lest some male beast ruin them and then, with the governor's benediction, walk out in the open spaces with supreme disregard for the sanctity of our state government.—Oregon City Enterprise.

Patterson Appointments.

OREGON VOTER. REPORTS emanating from the Patterson farm at Eola are to the effect that mere politicians are receiving little comfort. What seems out indicates that the governor-elect is striving conscientiously to use the appointing power in a manner that will serve the best interest of Oregon, regardless of politics. If these reports correctly reflect the Patterson purpose the state of Oregon is fortunate.

Some radical republicans say there should be a "clean sweep" of Pierce men out of the state house and off from state commissions. If what we hear is true, these extremists are doomed to disappointment.

Not all of Governor Pierce's appointments are incompetent, by a long shot, even though he has appointed so many incompetents that the presumption is against anyone who accepted appointment at his hands. The facts are that some of those who accepted his appointments did so from a sense of public duty, and they have performed their duties conscientiously and capably. Simply because a high grade citizen who is giving high grade service was appointed by Pierce does not in itself constitute a sound reason for chopping off his head just to make room for a Patterson man.

Also, some of the state offices, boards and commissions are in politics even though they include able men in their personnel. They should be taken out of politics. Governor Patterson can make the kind of appointments that will take them out of politics. The grape-vine reports indicate that he is contemplating exactly that course.

AUGUST W. LUNDELL

August W. Lundell, a resident of Weston, died last Saturday at St. Mary's hospital in Walla Walla at 6:15 p. m. Mr. Lundell was born in Sweden and was 56 years of age. He came to this country when eleven years old. He was the father of Leon Lundell, postmaster at Weston. Funeral services were held at Memorial hall, Weston, Tuesday, Rev. W. S. Payne officiating. The Odd Fellows lodge, of which deceased was a member, was in charge of the services. Interment was made in the Weston cemetery. Arrangements for the funeral were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Munselle-Milton Eagle.

Mr. Lundell was a resident of this county for many years. Victor Peterson, cashier of Bank of Ione, was doing business at Heppner on Friday. Rain and snow is helping out the crop prospects in his part of the county, and as a consequence Mr. Peterson was feeling happy.

E. E. RUGG, Administrator of the Estate of David Rugg, deceased.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON FOR MORROW COUNTY.

Union Savings & Loan Association, an Oregon corporation, Plaintiff, vs. Nellie G. Anderson and Gay M. Anderson, husband and wife; Oliver R. Pate and Esther R. Pate, husband and wife, and E. C. Snodgrass, Defendants.

To Oliver R. Pate and Esther R. Pate, husband and wife; and E. C. Snodgrass, Defendants: IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit within six weeks from the date of first publication of summons, if published, or within six weeks from the date of service upon you if personally served without the State of Oregon; and if you fail to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in its complaint, to-wit:

For judgment against the defendants Nellie G. Anderson and Gay M. Anderson, husband and wife, for the sum of $335.15 with interest at the rate of 10% per annum from January 31, 1926; for the sum of $82.01 with interest at the rate of 6% per annum from April 23, 1926; the sum of $39.20 with interest at the rate of 6% per annum from September 14, 1925; for the sum of $5.00 abstract bill; for the sum of $75.00 attorney's fees; and plaintiff's costs and disbursements in this suit. That the court declare plaintiff's mortgage to be a valid and subsisting first lien on all of the real property in Morrow County, State of Oregon, to-wit: Lot 4 in Block 4 of Jones Addition to Heppner, Morrow County, State of Oregon. That plaintiff's mortgage be ordered foreclosed and the real property sold on foreclosure execution in the manner provided by law, and the proceeds of such sale be applied to payment of plaintiff's judgment and the balance, if any, be disposed of as the court may direct, and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem equitable.

DEPENDABILITY

Show me the man who has fought his way far by O. Lawrence Hawthorne On the long, rugged road to success; Tell me the story of how he prevailed Over problems or fear or distress; Give me the facts of his early career And a candid report of his youth— Then we shall find your account testifies To this great unassailable truth: They win achievement's high estate Or prove themselves commendable, Who early learn that none is great Who is not first dependable!

Many there are who complain of the luck That has caused them to fall by the way; Many who curse because others, they claim, Have enticed them to wander astray. Yes, there are thousands of fellows who fail, Where there's one who climbs on to the top; Fortune has always been kind to the man Who lets nothing persuade him to stop. They win achievement's high estate Or prove themselves commendable, Who early learn that none is great Who is not first dependable!
