

NATIONAL OFFICIAL OF WOOLGROWERS TO MAKE ADDRESS

Speakers for Convention in Pendleton January 14, 15 Made Public.

Tuesday's East Oregonian. Fred R. Marshall, secretary of the national woolgrowers association, will be one of the speakers at the thirtieth annual convention of the Oregon Woolgrowers association to open in this city January 14 for two days.

Others on the program include Ward M. Buckles, manager of the Intermediate Credit bank of Spokane who will discuss financing through intermediate credit banks, Fred W. Falconer of Pendleton, "Forest Fees from the Growers Viewpoint"; Professor E. D. Potter, O. A. C., "Cost Studies and Their Value"; H. A. Lindgren, livestock field man, O. A. C., extension service, "Culling Flocks to Increase Wool Production."

Experts to Speak. Dr. B. T. Simms, professor of veterinary medicine, O. A. C., "Survey of Sheep Losses"; Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, "Health of Sheep in Oregon"; Dr. J. C. Exline, Olympia, Wash., bureau of animal industry, "Sheep Scab in the Northwest"; Dr. W. B. Bell, Washington, D. C., and Stanley Jewett, Portland, representing the bureau of biological survey; Roger W. Morse, county agent at Heppner, "Migratory Stock Tax."

Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock the evening of the first day's meeting the annual banquet of the association will be held in the Elks lodge rooms and places will be available for 200. Entertainment plans for the banquet are in charge of the social committee of the Pendleton Commercial association with Louis Cruikshank as chairman.

Topics of Big Interest Up. Several topics of much interest are due to be thoroughly discussed at the meetings and are expected to bring an additional number of woolgrowers to the meetings. Forest Fees in Oregon which woolgrowers declare are unusually heavy in the proposed increase planned is to be discussed. Oregon sheep are declared to be the farthest basic market and to have the highest forest grazing fees.

Shorter and Fewer

Next season women's skirts will be shorter—also less will be worn underneath! We have this startling fashion statement from no less an authority than Mme. Germaine De Cassagnac, noted stylist just arrived in America from Paris.

come up for much consideration, officials said. The migratory stock tax passed by the last state legislature was found to be unconstitutional and a new law is sought.

Officers of the state woolgrowers association are: K. G. Warner of Pendleton, president; Hugh Sprout, Pendleton, secretary; Ernest Johnson, Wallawa, first vice president; Robert Thompson, Heppner, second vice president; James Murilla, Condon, third vice president; executive committee, A. J. Smith, Pilot Rock, Fred W. Falconer, Pendleton, Charles Burgess, Fossil.

SAVED BY BLOOD. Why did Christ die? What good does his death do us? How can Christ save us? These and other questions will be answered at the morning service at the Church of Christ. The topic will be "Saved by the Blood."

FARM POPULATION DROPS. The U. S. census bureau states that the population of Oregon farms decreased from 214,021 to 210,288 from 1920 to 1925. The number of mortgaged farms in the state increased from 50,206 in 1920 to 55,211 in 1925; the value of such farms from $166,663,433 to $174,196,410; the amount of their mortgage debt from $61,999,178 to $65,592,417 and the percentage of mortgaged debt to value of farms from 31 to 37 per cent. The value of farm implements decreased from $41,367,125 in 1920 to $35,539,515 in 1925, while the number of tractors increased to 5768.

Andrew Baird, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kariher and son Wilmer arrived at Heppner on Friday last from Newcasie, Pa., for a visit at Heppner with the families of J. O. Hager and C. C. Patterson. Mr. Baird is the father of Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Hager and Mrs. Kariher is a sister. Mr. and Mrs. Kariher expect a little later to go on to Southern California to spend the remaining months of the winter, but Mr. Baird will remain here.

Banner Year in 1927 Seen by the President

Coolidge Is Confident the Nation Faces Another Twelve Months of Unbroken Prosperity.

Written especially for Heppner Gazette Times By ROBERT FULLER

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE believes 1927 will be a banner year and that the business of the country is fundamentally sound. His information, coming from Government sources, leads him to see continued prosperity the coming year. All the signs, as he reads them, are favorable.

Among the things leading him to this viewpoint are the increase in employment recently reported in New York, Pennsylvania and some of the industrial states, the plentiful supply of capital for manufacturing enterprises and the low surplus of manufactured articles.

At present prosperity exists in all parts of the country except the wheat and cotton sections, the President finds, and he believes the South will be able to emerge from the present depression resulting from low cotton prices.

Work in general is plentiful, the President understands, and the people are receiving high wages which are being spent generously so that production is being stimulated.

Railroads are in good condition, he thinks, and contracts for new equipment next year will aid business.

Manufacturing, the President is informed, is producing at far better than the average rate.

But the President recalls that dire predictions of business depression made by some at the beginning of 1926 were never realized and points to this as proof that predictions do not always materialize. But the signs, as he sees them, point to continued good business in 1927.

Senator-Elect Steiwer Resigns From Law Firm

Announcement from Pendleton is to the effect that on January first the law firm of Raley, Raley & Steiwer became Raley, Raley & Warner, H. J. Warner succeeding Fred Steiwer in the partnership with J. H. Raley and his son Roy Raley. Mr. Steiwer retires from the firm with which he has been associated in Pendleton since 1919, because of his election to the office of United States senator, the duties of which he will assume on March 4th, succeeding Senator Robert Stanfield.
