OPERETTA PROGRESSING.

Miss Wright has been patiently listening to the try-outs for the principals in the cast of the Operetta, entitled, "In the Garden of the Shah," which is to be presented in March. Judging from the many and varied sounds coming from the conservatory one might think she was entertaining a group from the Orient, for this operetta is of an Oriental nature. It contains that distinct, mysterious melody, coming only from the East.

Passing the several stages of perplexity, apprehension, joviality, and hesitancy, Miss Wright has prudently chosen the following cast: Marvin Gammell will represent the Shah, that austere gentleman in whose garden the scene is laid. Zohdah, the daughter of the Shah, will be personified by Edna Vaughn. Grace Buschke takes the part of Lohlah, Zohdah's friend and confidant. Nowobeh, Zohdah's old nurse, will be represented by Mae Groshens. Robert Turner has been chosen for the part of Ted Harding, and Onez Parker as Billy Cummings, the American free-lance and mining engineer respectively. No performance is complete without the witty actions of a churl, and this person is embodied in the colored gentleman from Texas, U. S. A., who is Ted and Billy's servant, and is characterized by Ellis Thomson. Likewise, a villain must lend his color to the scene and Terrel Beuge represents this knave person, disguised as an Arab sheik.

This operetta met with astounding success at Linnfield College, McMinnville, Oregon, last year, and we know that, under the able direction of Miss Wright, it will be well worth your presence on the night of the performance, sometime in March.

Heppner vs. Ione February 5.

A double header will be staged at Ione next Saturday between Heppner and Ione high schools. This promises to be a good game, as the score of the previous game between these teams was very close, the Ione boys winning by a score of 8 to 5, and the Heppner girls winning by a score of 6 to 3.

Girls Played Friday.

Last Friday evening when Hardman town team came to Heppner to play basketball, the girls played a game consisting of two pick-up teams from Heppner high school. The teams were very evenly matched consequently the score was close, being 4 to 7. Mr. Johnson, the referee, was quick on the job and was considered very fair.

Heppner Walked On.

Ione grade school basketball team and their high school light weight team played Heppner grade school and light weight teams on the local floor last Thursday night. Ione won both games by scores of 11 to 6 and 10 to 0 respectively.

New Student Enters High School.

A new student, Margaret Baker, has entered the junior class of Heppner high. She has been attending Jefferson high in Portland.

HARDMAN.

Muri Farrans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Farrans, had tonsils and adenoids removed by Dr. A. D. McMurdo of Heppner, January 28th. She is improving rapidly.

Quite a large crowd of Hardman people journeyed to the Rhea creek Grange dance last Friday evening.

Miss Beth Bleakman spent the week end in Hardman visiting her parents and friends.

Victor Johnson was a visitor in Hardman Monday.

G. A. Farrans has been visiting in American History Proceedings.

Anyone happening along and looking in on the American History class at 9:45 (a. m.) would see a busy group of students. Under the direction of their teacher, Miss Miller, they have been delving into every American History book they can lay hands on, seeking material on the question of slavery. They are to complete a lengthy paper, neatly written, in the near future. This paper is to be headed, "The Changing Policy of Congress Towards Slavery, in the Territories, 1820 to 1857." Miss Miller hopes this will lay a firm foundation for the study of the Civil War, which will be taken up soon after the debates are closed.

Preparatory to the debates, the history class prepared two minute talks to be given at one of their recitation periods. These were varied in content and proved quite an aid in helping the pupils to overcome stage fright.

Miss Miller is full of bright ideas, but we wish she would leave them at home, when she comes to American History class. Her latest fancy is to produce an American History pageant. She has selected four from the class to write the pageant, and the other members are to act it before the assembly at some later date. This pageant is a rather novel idea, we must confess. The pageant is to cover the period of time that slavery existed in the United States, closing with the Civil War. Each person will represent a certain happening of historical renown, for instance one might represent the Missouri Compromise, and a girl might represent the book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Heppner Wins.

Hardman town team and Heppner high school basketball team played another game Friday night, the score being 4 to 2 in Heppner's favor. Hardman has no basketball floor, so they met on the local court. The game was not as fast as their first one but both teams showed improvement since the former encounter.

Hardman obtained the lead in the first quarter when Dale Bleakman scored two points for them. Neither team scored in the second or third quarters, but in the fourth period Heppner scored four points by Doherty's field goal and Erwin's two foul goals. The first game between these two teams was won by Heppner, 10-6.

Heppnerian Staff Changes.

The staff for the high school paper, The Heppnerian, underwent a change. The doctor would probably have inserted "serious" before the word "change"! Probably this should be the case here, at any rate we are not positive as to the outcome of this change. Mae Doherty becomes assistant editor, in Kenneth Oviatt's stead, while Kenneth takes the position of business manager. John Conder has been chosen as the reporter to fill Mae's place, thus enlarging the staff by one member. It is sincerely hoped the change will prove a success, and the public will be better served by the news from Heppner's center of attraction.

New Freshman Officers Elected.

The freshman class held a meeting this week for the purpose of electing new officers. They are as follows: President, Nolan Turner; vice-president, Harriet Morgan; secretary, Mary Healey; treasurer, Cornett Green, and sergeant-at-arms, Homer Hayes.

Debates Given Thursday and Friday.

Debates are well on the way now. Two will be given this week. The senior team, composed of Orrin Bisbee, Marjorie Clark and Mary Ritchie, will meet the junior team, Marvin Gammell, Claud Conder and Robert Turner, on the question, Resolved, that the American cabinet system is operating unsuccessfully. The affirmative is upheld by the juniors, the negative by the seniors.

The freshman and sophomore classes are debating on the question, Resolved, that the U. S. should give the Philippines their independence within five years. Those on the freshman team are Fletcher Walker, Katherine Bisbee and Evelyn Swindig. On the sophomore team are Margaret Notson, Terrel Beuge and Dorothy Herren. The affirmative is upheld by the sophomores and the negative by the freshmen.

Senior Officers Elected.

An important senior class meeting was held last week for the purpose of electing new officers. They are: president, Mae Groshens; vice-president, Reta Crawford; secretary Laura Williams; treasurer, Joy Erwin; sergeant-at-arms, Eugene Doherty. A committee was also appointed at the meeting to select something for the senior stunt which is to be the first of those given by the four classes. The success of this stunt will go toward deciding the winner in the new point system for this year. The seniors are planning on taking the honor from the juniors and other underclassmen are prepared to do their best.

CHOKES.

John Farley: "Say, Pat, do you dress as you please?"
 Patricia Mahoney: "Surely."
 John: "Well, it doesn't take much to please you."

Marvin Gammell: "What would you give a girl for a birthday present?"
 Claud Conder: "A wide berth."

It's so cold in the lab that Mae Groshens says that she has to burn her hands with acid to keep warm.

Miss Murray (in sewing): "I can't find a single pin anywhere. Where do they all go anyhow?"
 Edna Vaughn: "It's hard to tell, because they are pointed in one direction and headed in another."

Books in Geography Class.

The second term geography class under the direction of Miss Fishel is now engaged in writing books. These books are on the early history of Oregon and are to be at least ten chapters long. They are to take the place of a term paper. The students do not claim to be authors but nevertheless the books are coming along fine.

"Hehisch" to be Started.

Work on the high school annual, the "Hehisch" is expected to begin soon. No officers have as yet been appointed but they will be announced in a short while. It is rather late to start work on the annual, but with the help of the entire student body it is expected that the work will be successful.

Palmer Method Buttons Awarded.

The pupils of the grade have been taking writing tests for the Palmer awards. All pupils received Palmer buttons but two.

Feb. 4th, when they will play Lexington on the Heppner floor.

Frank Howell and son Roland were in town Sunday.

Mrs. May McDaniel of Hardman who had recently been caring for her daughter, Mrs. Zoe Matteson, returned to her home Saturday, being sick with the flu herself.

Owen Leathers and Kinnard McDaniel left Hardman Sunday to tag sheep.

Due to an attack of flu Carey Hastings returned home from work Monday.

Carl McDaniel, who spent the last week working for Glen Farrans, returned home Monday.

 Kenneth Burnside was a visitor in town Saturday and Sunday.

IRRIGON GRANGE NEWS.

Irrigon Grange held its first meeting for the year on Jan. 19. Owing to the heavy snow, but few members were present. The new officers of the grange are W. T. Wright, master; Harry Smith, overseer; Marion Knight, lecturer; Elra Lamereaux, steward; Frank Beavert, assistant steward; Harriet Grim, chaplain; Frank Frederickson, treasurer; Bert Benehel, secretary; Chas. Benehel, gate keeper; Bess Lamereaux, Ceres; Edith Jones, Flora; Lillie Fergens, Pomona.

A Strange Thing About A Man---

MEN are queer creatures in the opinion of many housewives who have to do the buying for the family.

Mrs. Buyer said only yesterday that her hubby simply wouldn't take any interest in purchasing table supplies, but was very prone to criticize if everything wasn't just right when put before him.

"But, you know," she smiled, "since I have been doing my shopping at Hiatt & Dix's, he has been simply a dear. And when he left on a trip the other day he didn't even ask what I put in his lunch."
