Some damage is reported to the wheat on the McCarty place on the east branch of Sand Hollow. Raymond Ferguson is farming this place which is sown to forty fold wheat that gave prospect of a yield of at least 80 bushels. A hot wave struck the ranch last Thursday and that portion of the grain that was yet rank and tender was stricken as though hot water had been poured on it. The grain was all well filled, but this portion that was hit by the heat will be shriveled. The yield has been cut to about 20 bushels. We have not heard of any other fields being damaged, though the report was brought to town that this hot wave was noticed in various parts of the county. County Agent Smith, who made an examination of the Ferguson fields this morning, reports to us that the damage is about as we have stated.

C. B. Cox of Heppner had 2 1/2 acres of Regal Turkey Red wheat certified recently by G. R. Hyslop, professor of farm crops at the Oregon Agricultural College. This wheat is a new variety which is supposed to be smut resistant. In examining the small patch, Professor Hyslop found it to be one-tenth of one per cent of foreign growth. A small patch was also treated with smut before planting and the stand now has practically no smut in it while other varieties of wheat treated at the same time and growing beside the Regal, are practically entirely smutted.—Pendleton East Oregonian.

Dr. and Mrs. A. D. McMurdo, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smead and F. B. Nickerson returned home Thursday evening last. Dr. McMurdo and wife and Mr. Nickerson were at Boise, where they spent three days, during which time Dr. McMurdo was in attendance on the convention of the Pacific Northwest Medical association, and reports a splendid session. Mr. and Mrs. Smead visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Boyd in Caldwell, and barring the accident to Mrs. Smead which occurred Thursday morning, the trip was a very enjoyable one.

Levonne Fetter, aged 12, was quite seriously hurt Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Driskell on Eight Mile. While playing with the other children, she ran into a barbed wire fence and received a cut across the throat six inches in length that required ten stitches to close. The injured child was brought to the office of Dr. McMurdo for treatment. She was able to return with her mother to their home at Freewater on Tuesday.

E. S. Duran was in the city from Lexington on Wednesday. He expects the people of his section to be in the midst of their wheat harvest right away, and combines are moving into a number of fields north of Lexington already.
