MORROW COUNTY'S OFFICIAL PAPER

Foreign Advertising Representative THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Investigation Needed.

HEPPNER people are long-suffering and possess much patience, but they are beginning to wonder why it is necessary to put up with the train service offered us on the branch.

This paper is not interested in knowing just why there is so much irregularity, but we will say that it is very annoying to the business houses and the general public of the city, and we are no better off as to close connection with Portland than we were under the old plan of all-day service.

Wheat Pool.

AMERICAN farmers will be interested to hear that in Manitoba Canadian farmers control wheat export in a big "pool" handling 200,000,000 bushels.

We are proud of our railroads in the United States. Canada has more miles of railroad per capita than any country in the world.

Why?

FEMALE college graduates are inclined not to marry, which is bad for the country and the young women. Why deviate your brain if you don't perpetuate the improvement in good sons and daughters?

Vassar knows that babies are important, no matter what her daughters may think, and establishes a Summer school to train mothers and fathers also in bringing up children.

Too Much Admiration for Lawlessness.

IT IS all very well to declare—and it should be declared when occasion demands—that useless, foolish or unenforceable laws tend to create a disrespect for laws and authority.

So the reminder of Attorney General Sargent about the danger of a jesting attitude amounts to a national rebuke. The condition against which the Attorney General protests is a national characteristic. It is traditional. It will not be easily changed. Yet the Thoughtful person will admit it must be changed.

As the Attorney General says, the American people cannot go on poking fun at the law, at attempts to enforce or observe it and attempts to assist in that endeavor, without disastrous consequences.

Stop Nagging.

SPEAKERS at the Winona Lake meeting of the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition association assert that the great body of American youth are dry, but that they are grossly misrepresented by the publicity given the misconduct of a few.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

DESIRE—KEEP IT EVER GREEN

THAT is a pretty good title. It is given to one of the recent Antioch College pamphlets and is very suggestive. There is nothing people need more in the world than desire. The great problem is not repressing desire or uprooting it, but properly nursing it.

We need desire all our lives. No great thing was ever done by a man without a great desire.

It was Napoleon's desire for fame that drove him forward, and Alexander's and Caesar's desire for conquest that actuated their efforts.

Marriage is rarely successful without a great desire. A marriage merely for convenience, for money, for position, or such reasons, is usually a failure.

There have been few business successes accomplished by those who had no desire to get forward, and few politicians achieve success without the proper amount of ambition.

Behind the whole human race in every race is the thing we call desire. It is the steam of the human engine. It is the urge in human accomplishment.

People do not fail so much because they want the wrong things. Some do. But most people do not succeed because they do not know what they want or do not want a thing hard enough.

Since desire is so essential in human accomplishment everything should be done to conserve it. All those false avenues of which desires are easily satisfied without great accomplishment are injurious.

The chief trouble with drinking alcohol is not its immediate toxic effect upon the system so much as it is the fact that it gives us a sense of satisfaction without due effort. The peace and content and hilarity that come after a good drink of whiskey properly come after doing a job of work well. Those who are steady drinkers are very unreliable doers.

The sex desire properly conserved and limited is the foundation of the home. If it seeks its satisfaction in other channels the home life is weakened.

The efforts of mankind should be not to suppress nor destroy desire so much as to direct it into the proper channels and save its force for something worth while.

The greatest wasters are the wasters of desire. There is need of thrift in desire as well as in other things. You never know when you may want it.

daughters may think, and establishes a Summer school to train mothers and fathers also in bringing up children.

A new building will house this new branch of learning, and husbands will be allowed to attend the summer lectures. Living quarters will be provided for them at Vassar. All of which is common sense.

Right Back At Him

Two old Scotchmen who hadn't met since they were boys at home, were renewing the acquaintance as they sat on the porch of the summer hotel. One had lost an eye and was very sensitive about it. Finally the other, seeming to notice it for the first time, said: "Whaur's yeither eye, Sandy?"

Glancing at his companion's shiny nose, Sandy retorted: "Hoot, mon! It's awa' lookin' fer ye hair."

President Coolidge does not choose to run for President, but whether he will choose to run away from the Presidency next June is the question that is worrying the political prognosticators.

A political demagogue just naturally despises any productive enterprise which turns out anything more substantial than hot air, and pays taxes instead of spending them.

The feller who insists that life is a joke usually lives to learn that it is on him.

A pedestrian is a man whose wife has gone with the car.

Commendable Policy.

THE State Motor Association points out that almost unnoticed a reform is taking place in the elimination of billboards and hot-dog stands from Oregon highways.

Slowly but surely the Highway Department is acquiring land along the right-of-way bordering on scenic and historical sections. This automatically eliminates the hot-dog stand and the billboard, two of the greatest detractors from the beauties of the state.

The Highway Commission has gone about the acquiring of these properties quietly and unobtrusively and while others have complained of the nuisance along the highways, the Commission has sought to correct the evil by acquiring the property rights in scenic sections.

Every motorist in the state of Oregon approves of this action of the Commission as it retains for posterity the same beauties of nature that the present day motorist enjoys.

AND now the sand and gravel companies of Portland, who have grown fat in purse by using a natural resource of the state and paying nothing for it, are offering a settlement with the states of Oregon and Washington for sand and gravel taken from the Columbia river these many years. They are real generous and ask that the states accept the munificent sum of $1000 in payment of royalty claims against the sand and gravel combination. Attention was called to this graft in our issue of August 11, and some comment was made on the matter by a couple of Portland dailies. It has been a subject for some discussion in interested quarters, especially by those who feel that every resource of the state should be gathered into the treasury as some help in the keeping down of taxes. A royalty on sand and gravel is provided by legislative enactment, yet it has not been enforced for the past seven years, so we are informed, and the amount due the state from this source is no small sum—from $30,000 to $50,000 a year—that should go into the public school fund of the state, and these companies have the gall to offer in settlement the amount as stated above, according to the statements of Portland papers the past week.

Songs of Plain Folks By James Lewis Hays "Schoolma'am" I've taught, it seems, for ages Here in country District Three, I've roomed at seven places— It's the second year for me— I love the little tow-heads But I think that I will shout As joyously as they do June the first, when school is out. June! The magic June is coming, All the orchards are in bloom And the Spring makes children restless In this bookish little room. Sweeter bells will ring in June-time Than I've rung at District Three And they'll mean a lot to someone Who means everything to me! Just a "schoolma'am" in the country While it's dandelion time, While it's robin time and sun time, Yes, and sweetheart time, and I'm Just waiting for a Senior From the U of N to see The County Clerk and preacher And then school is out for me!
