

FARM MARKET TREND

Corvallis, Ore., August 22.—GRAIN—Favorable weather in the Spring wheat sections of the United States and Canada last week with lack of further frost damage and no further serious developments of rust caused an easier tone in the wheat market. High protein wheat sold at substantial premiums and cash wheat brought better prices than futures. Official estimates now indicate that 40,000,000 bushels of wheat more than last year will be produced in the Northern Hemisphere, but weather conditions may still cause change. Crop conditions in the Southern Hemisphere are a factor. Increased receipts caused corn and oats markets to go lower but barley was generally firm especially malting grades. The new corn crop made favorable progress in recent weeks but is still uncertain. The oats crop is expected to be 25,000,000 bushels more than last year but stocks of old grain are smaller making the prospective supply 50,000,000 bushels less than a year ago. The rye crop is expected to be 61,000,000 bushels or about 20,000,000 more than last year. A barley crop of 249,000,000 bushels is forecast which is next to a record but a short crop of corn gives strength to barley in the markets.

FEEDS. Cash hay markets held fairly steady with western alfalfa markets benefited by the deterioration of pastures. The movement of new crop hay is reported to be below normal. Official estimates for the same hay crop now indicates 102,000,000 tons which is the largest crop ever harvested in the United States. Wild hay is also expected to produce a heavy yield and pastures are especially good this year in most sections. Wheat feeds are higher on light production and other feeds firm but demand moderate.

LIVESTOCK. Top grades of killer cattle in good demand but prices were inclined to weaken for poorly finished stock last week. Feeders and stockers came in larger numbers but met demand enough to maintain steady prices. Hog markets were up and down with the situation not too strong in eastern markets where much poorly finished stock is arriving. Decreased receipts of fat lambs bolstered up the markets somewhat last week generally but there is difference of opinion regarding the supplies to be marketed in the near future. Good feeders were strong and limited supplies of all kinds formed an outlet at steady prices, but there is considerable resistance to current prices by buyers and some orders going unfilled.

BUTTER. Prices advanced generally last week. Production is declining but running ahead of last year with storage stocks gradually increasing more rapidly than last year. On August 1 butter in storage totaled 145,146,000 pounds or about 14,000,000 pounds more than a year earlier.

APPLES. Another million barrels has been clipped off of the official estimates of the commercial apple crop. Prices are very strong.

"Even death has a wonderful mission. Though it robs us of those we love, it lifts our hearts from our surroundings."

To long for that meeting above. No matter how heavy the burden. No matter how great the despair. Doesn't Heaven seem nearer and dearer. To know that our loved ones are here."

Fact and Fancy

"The worst winter I remember was when we were besieged," said the old soldier. "We had only one bite a day for two weeks, and that was horse flesh."

"I remember living for a month on one bite, and that was out of my leg," said O'Brien, his companion.

"You don't expect me to believe you turned cannibal, do you?" roared the soldier.

"It's true, believe it or not," said O'Brien, calmly. "A dog took a bite out of my leg, and the insurance kept me like a lord for four weeks."

Infantile Paralysis Is On the Increase

State Board of Health.

Eighty-two cases of epidemic poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis were reported to the California State Board of Health during the first two weeks of July. A few cases have been reported in Oregon. Infantile paralysis is an acute generalized infection due to a filterable virus, occurring both in epidemics and sporadically. The infective nature of the disease has been conclusively shown. The virus attacks the nervous system and persists in the nasal secretion for a long time. The paralysis may be preceded three or four days by nausea, vomiting, and fever. However, a child may go to bed apparently well, and wake up in the morning with paralysis and slight fever. The great majority of cases are found in children under five. Cases among persons over twenty are comparatively rare.

For the benefit of the public the following regulations for the control of infantile paralysis are published: The patient should be isolated as completely as possible in a clean, bare room, well screened to keep out insects. Visiting is not permitted, and only the necessary attendant should come in contact with the case. All discharges, including sputum, nasal secretions, urine and feces, should be thoroughly disinfected. Eating utensils should be boiled. Everything that comes in contact with the patient should be sterilized. Towels, bed linen, and other fabrics should be boiled or dipped in a strong germicidal solution. The period at which isolation should be maintained cannot be guessed at. Children are not permitted to return to school for at least three weeks.

In the presence of an epidemic, street and house dust should be kept down by sprinkling, oiling, or other means employed for this purpose. Dust should be allayed whether there is an epidemic or not. During epidemics children should be kept away from public gatherings.

The possibility of infantile paralysis being a milk-borne infection emphasizes the importance of the prophylactic value of pasteurized milk.

The summer prevalence and the rural distribution of this disease are disturbing factors with regard to summer vacations. The only safe rule is to avoid places where localized outbreaks are in progress. The fact, however, that infantile paralysis does not usually strike the same place in epidemic form two succeeding seasons makes such places reasonably safe the year following the epidemic.

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY, AUGUST 25 AND 26:

House Peters in "COMBAT"

A thrilling melodrama of the great North Woods with the most marvelous forest fire ever filmed. The crackle and spit of the searing flames is in every inch of House Peters' most spectacular picture. More thrilling than "The Storm," more powerful than "The Tornado."

Also THE LYIN' TAMER, two reel Animal comedy, and the 7th episode of THE WINKING IDOL.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 27:

Kenneth Harlan in "THE SAP"

The story of the guy that everybody piken-on—the drama of a man who wanted to but couldn't fight. "The Sap" has been hailed everywhere as a little masterpiece of the screen; so human, so true, so abounding with life, so sure in its knowledge of the hearts of men, so honest in its pity and love, and its laughs. There are magnificent scenes in the French war zone, where the "Sap" becomes an accidental hero, and a remarkable picturization of the life of a small American town.

Also KELSEY GETS HIS MAN, two reel comedy.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, AUGUST 28 AND 29:

Reginald Denny in "SKINNER'S DRESS SUIT"

With Laura LaPlante, from the story by Henry Irving Dodge. This is the most tense and laughable of Reginald Denny's pictures and in addition we have Laura LaPlante. If you want to see an honest to goodness, true to life comedy don't miss this.

Also SOME MORE EXCUSES, two reel comedy.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30 AND 31:

Greta Nissen in "THE LADY OF THE HAREM"

With Ernest Torrence. A drama of flashing action and gusty humor, sweeping lavishness, golden magic, romance, mystery unfolding to a colossal climax. Ernest Torrence, as an adorable rogue, and frisky Louise Fazenda are here to amuse you, Greta Nissen is the lovely enchantress and William Collier, Jr., the royal lover-hero.

Also comedy, HOP ALONG, and KINOGRAMS NEWS REEL.

NEXT WEEK:

George O'Hara and Viola Dana in BIGGER THAN BARNUM'S. Ricardo Cortez and Florence Vidor in THE EAGLE OF THE SEA. Matt Moore and Marie Prevost in THE CAVE MAN. Warner Baxter and Lois Wilson in THE GREAT GATSBY.
