What Is Wrong?

UNDER this heading, Saturday's East Oregonian has a little something to say, editorially concerning the delay in getting the surfacing completed on the Lena-Vinson gap of the Oregon-Washington highway. This has been a subject of comment over this way for some time, and complaints have come to this paper that the slow progress being made by the contractors in getting the crushed rock on the road was apparently unnecessary, and many autoists were at a loss to know why it was taking so everlastingly long to get through with the job. We are glad that the Pendleton paper has called direct attention to this, and we presume that Editor Aldrich speaks from personal knowledge, as he was over the road Friday with the Pendleton caravan that visited Heppner, and had a chance to see for himself just how long drawn out this particular piece of work has been. Here is what he says:

Unless more speed is shown than at present the Oregon-Washington highway between Pendleton and Heppner is not going to be in good condition for travel this winter and there will be a real inconvenience as a result.

The grading work on the Vinson-Lena gap was completed over a year ago and a contractor has been at work on the surfacing job this year. Early in the spring it was pedicted the work would be completed by midsummer. It has not been finished yet and unless more pep is shown the work will not be finished this year. People using the highway say the work all summer has been at a snail's pace. A stretch five miles long remains to be completed and the season is growing late. This is splendid weather for road work yet no crews were at work yesterday placing new gravel on the road.

With a month or two of good weather left why should not this job be speeded up? If it seems that one shift cannot finish the job on time why should not two shifts be used?

Certainly it should not require two years for the completion of a short surfacing job such as the Vinson-Lena gap. A regular paving job could be completed in less time than has been spent on this work this year. If the job is not finished before winter sets in people familiar with the road say it will be slippery and otherwise bad for travel.

The state highway department has ways of checking up on needless delays and it would seem appropriate to find out what is hampering progress on this road. The people of Umatilla and Morrow counties pay many thousands of dollars annually on auto license fees and in gas taxes. They pay this money for the purpose of securing good roads and they should have them.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

Mr. Leisure Cures Discouragement

WHEN I am discouraged, when my toe aches or my eyes bother me or something happens to make me feel sorry for myself, I like to think about Mr. S. M. Leisure who lives in a little town near me.

Mr. Leisure was seventy years old the other day and he was out mowing the lawn. This is quite remarkable when taken in connection with the fact that since he was thirteen years old he has been without arms.

"No matter what happened," he said, "I was always able to paddle my own canoe. Why cry over losing two arms or two legs! The joy of living is just as sweet."

I hear and read of many people who are having rough sledding. They have housemaid's knee of dandruff or some other trouble that make them think there is no use going on.

I have had several letters from people seriously contemplating suicide because events were all conspiring against them.

It would do them all good to go out and see this gentleman. He ought to build a circus ring and charge admission. Then somebody would probably go and see him. It wouldn't need any preaching nor anybody to point the moral. Just looking at him would be enough.

To me he is equivalent to a good spanking. I want to brace up and tighten my belt; wipe my nose, pull down my vest and try again.

If this man with no arms for almost sixty years is still cheerful and hopeful, goes out and mows the lawn and otherwise paddles his own canoe, why shouldn't I?

There are lots of brave people in the world and it takes more courage and "intestinal stamina" to go on and keep your chin up and look pleasant than it does to go out in the garden and eat worms or select a nice telephone pole and hang yourself. Anybody can quit, and self pity is the easiest bog to slip into.

But me for the man with the indomitable spirit, the man who refuses to be licked and the man who takes with a grin whatever Fate sends and buckles in and makes the most of what he has left.

These are the people who are the backbone of the country, and the people who win wars, the people who present an unbroken front gaainst the assaults of pessimism.

What this world wants is cheering up and bucking up. It doesn't need anybody to teach them how to weep, nor anybody to make them feel sorry for the human lot.

Selling the School.

"IF LINCOLN had only a dozen books and Garfield learned to read while riding a tow-path mule, what can the child to-day do with present school equipment—if he really wants to?"

Publisher J. P. O'Furey of the Cedar County News, and member of the school board at Hartington, Nebr., puts the above question in clinching his argument for greater vision in the handling of our educational system. He contends that we complain of high taxes but go merrily about the job of building up propaganda which leaves the child with the impression that "school" is a monster destroying its liberties.

Current cartoons on the opening of school, which almost in every instance put the wrong emphasis on what school really means to the child, brought forth this most interesting comment from Mr. O'Furey:

"While we are complaining of high taxes I wonder how much useless expense is caused by impressing upon the minds of children that school is destroying their liberties?

"And what does the mental opposition cost the country?

"And how much worry does it cause school authorities, while the kiddies are young, and to civic authorities as they grow older?"

Isn't it about time we all start "selling" the school idea to our children?

100 Years.

ON A 1000-acre tract near Baltimore there will soon be shown the history of American railroading, from the beginning, with locomotives and cars from various epochs—all in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the Baltmiore & Ohio Railroad.

The Baltimore & Ohio, first in the United States "to handle for the public passengers and freight," reminds you that this country is gradually becoming respectably ancient. Two big stores in New York, Hearn's and Arnold Constable's, have just reached the respectable age of one hundred. And the age is less important than the marvelous improvements of one hundred years.

The next step will be the flying machine, with rearrangement of man's living habits, recasting of population centres and land values. Buy the right hill and mountain tops within two hundred miles of big industrial centres now, and your grandchildren will bless you.

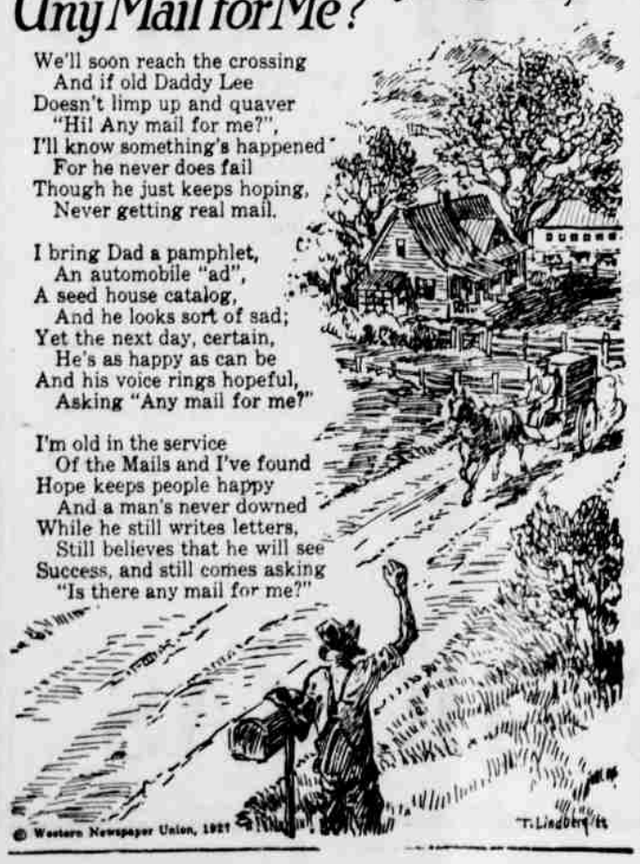
Any Mail for Me?



We'll soon reach the crossing
And if old Daddy Lee
Doesn't limp up and quaver
"Hi! Any mail for me?",
I'll know something's happened
For he never does fail
Though he just keeps hoping,
Never getting real mail.

I bring Dad a pamphlet,
An automobile "ad",
A seed house catalog,
And he looks sort of sad;
Yet the next day, certain,
He's as happy as can be
And his voice rings hopeful,
Asking "Any mail for me?"

I'm old in the service
Of the Mails and I've found
Hope keeps people happy
And a man's never downed
While he still writes letters,
Still believes that he will see
Success, and still comes asking
"Is there any mail for me?"

Heppner Show Draws Pendleton Business Men

East Oregonian.

A caravan composed of several machine loads of Pendleton businses men in addition to 15 members of the Pendleton Buckaroo band left for Heppner this morning for the annual Morrow county wool and grain show and the Heppner rodeo.

The caravan to our neighboring Morrow county city was sponsored by J. D. McKee, chairman of the trade extension committee of the Commercial association, and the trip is being made over the new highway via Filot Rock.

The grain exhibits at the show will be judged by George Mitchell, expert from the Moro experiment station, and the wool exhibits by Edward Ludwig, of the Pacific Wool Growers association. The winning exhibits will be on display at the Pacific International Livestock exposition at Portland next month.

Among the Pendleton people on the trip are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott, J. T. Arneson, E. G. Richards, Edwin Aldrich, Chester Smith, George H. Hyatt, J. D. McKee, James Johns, Billy O'Rourke, William Roesch, Jas. Akey, John Kilkenny and members of the Pendleton band.

Defendant.)

To Harry G. Selby, Defendant:

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit within six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, if published; or within six weeks from the date of service upon you, if personally served without the State of Oregon; and if you fail to appear and answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in her complaint, to-wit: For a decree of this Court granting to her an absolute divorce, and for such other relief as to the Court may seem equitable.

This summons is published by virtue of an order of the Honorable R. L. Benge, County Judge of Morrow County, State of Oregon, made and entered on the 1st day of September, 1927.

Date of first publication, September 1, 1927.

C. J. WALKER,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
Address: Heppner, Oregon.
