We Should Heed.

A N OUNCE of prevention is worth a pound of cure." This is a time-worn adage, maybe a bit hackneyed, but none the less true. It is appropriate therefore, that a time be set aside for the consideration of fire prevention, and every citizen of Oregon should co-operate in making Fire Prevention Week, October 9 to 15, as designated by proclamation of the governor, successful in its purpose.

Heppner is well aware of the expensive toll taken by uncontrolled fire. Excessive property losses within the city at numerous times have thus been occasioned. These memorable fires have resulted in better fire fighting equipment and a closer watch on the water reserve for fire extinguishing. But this is not looking to the cause, or means of prevention.

Concerted effort is needed to do away with fire hazards, public and private. Trash piles, deserted wooden shacks, dry weeds and the like, are fire traps endangering adjoining property. These should be cleaned up. In the home electric wiring should be inspected for worn -insulation, faulty connections, and other defects that might be the cause of a shorted there is any intention of speeding circuit, a spark, and a fire; stoves up the work this paper has not should be properly protected so heard of it. Dr. Frank Crane Says

STUDY THESE FOUR MODEST MEN.

MODESTY is one of the chief characteristics of true great-ness. A great man can have no further commendation or no greater bid for popularity than to have it said that he is

This has been a characteristic of President Coolidge. He has avoided the spotlight and attended to the serious duties of his office with becoming humility. His recent word that he did not choose to run for President again should be taken at its face value. It is the solemn dictum of a man who, having achieved the acme of his popularity, desires to step aside.

Another man who is winning all kinds of plaudits and reaping all sorts of popularity from his becoming modesty is the Prince of Wales. Of course he deserves no credit for being born the son of a king, but he does deserve credit for not slopping over. He has managed to say the right thing at the right time and to conduct himself with becoming decorum in whatever limelight he may be placed. While he is not to be credited with the distinction of being born to royalty, he is entitled to the distinction of caring for the duties of this superior place as he should. He is well liked not only throughout the British Dominions, but in the United States and elsewhere throughout the world.

To those who have met Jack Dempsey personally he has been a surprise. They expected the Manassa mauler to look like a bruiser. They were surprised to find him gentle, well liked by everybody and courteous. His form is slim and his manner is that of a gentleman. He is affectionate in his family relations and altogether those who know him are not envious of his fame.

The fourth modest man that has recently loomed in the horizon has been Lindbergh After achieving a feat that brought him the plaudits of kings and nations everywhere he apparently was not possessed of the idea that he was a superman, but modestly restrained his claims to those of a flying man. He had crossed the ocean alone in a flying plane, but did not suppose that because he had done a stunt with his machine in the air he could do every other kind of thing. It is with a feeling of pride that the people of the country read of the way he demeaned himself in France and in Great Britain and in connection with the officials of this country. As far as we know, he has no enemies, for the one thing that makes an enemy is over weaning egotism.

America is justly proud of these four men and principally because they are not proud of themsives especially.

Well, we complained, but if

Why not rush this work and get night. Would it not be a good Fire Prevention Week is a good thing for this cintractor and everyeven if necessary to use some extra men? When the state colaccept excuses.

the trend of the times is entirely misleading, the Air Department will rank of first importance.

Old ideas die slowly. Power gives up its throne ungraciously. It has always been thus. Great minds have usually been persecuted and punished for daring to try to change the order of things of mankind.

chell of the U.S. Army Air Division dared some two or three years ago to tell us what we needed in the air to keep abreast other nations. He advocated an Air Department under its own head and detached from Army and Navyto the extent that those departments have always been separated. It was not long until he found
