AN EDITORIAL

Friday, October 28, a pep meeting was held in the assembly to help stir the sluggish school spirit of Heppner high, and to show the team that we wanted a winning score and wanted it to stand the way it did on Saturday, 37-0 in our favor. We missed two players in that game—Marvin and Paul, who were still recuperating from the game with Fossil, two weeks previous.

Prof. Johnson gave a stirring talk on "pep" to the entire assembly, and everyone needed it. A thing has to be extraordinary and appealing to the senses, that will bring the Heppner students out of their lethargy and make them root and boost for their alma mater.

The Booster club took upon themselves the duty of prolonging the funeral of the high school. The personnel of the football team was represented by girls, of stature akin to the boys of the team, and when dressed in the uniforms, they truly looked like a varsity team.

Then came the singing of high school songs and a short time was devoted to some spirited yells.

As was said before, it takes something unusual to awaken the Heppner students. Where is the life of Heppner, anyway, when it has ebbed so low that prizes have to be offered to induce contributions to the school's own paper and to get people to originate yells for their own high school? C.C., 28.

H. S. RALLY—7 P. M. FRIDAY.

GRADE NEWS.

The flag code is receiving special study and attention in the grades this week. The fifth grade has a very attractive poster which beautifully illustrates the code and its meaning.

Miss Bennehoff reports 21 pupils out of 29 neither absent nor tardy during the second school month. None of the girls in fifth A were absent or tardy.

The fifth grade is taking great interest in picture study. During their art period they are making attractive folders in which to keep the pictures studied.

The fourth grade has new and interesting material which has been furnished for their work this year. It includes a map of North America, hints for their arithmetic, and readers. This grade is making a booklet called the "Healthy O's."

The following officers were elected in the fourth grade room for this week: president, Ernest Clark; secretary, Olivia Baldwin; board cleaners, Ray Boblanta, Ruth Cowins; Power tender, Gertrude Harrison, reporter, Marshall Fell; room tender, William McRoberts.

Jacq Steele from Montana has entered the fourth grade.

Pirate's and Mother Goose's children seem much in evidence in the second and third grades this week. Attend the P. T. A. next Tuesday and discover what it means.

The grade school football team played Condon Saturday, Oct. 29, ending in a score of 24-0 in favor of Heppner. They may play a game with lone in the near future.

The eighth grade had a Halloween party Friday in Swindig's hall. A hilarious and enjoyable evening was spent by those attending.

The rally to be held Friday night was postponed until Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, preceding the Arlington game. There was a small attendance but those who were enthusiastic enough to lend their support succeeded in making themselves heard while rallying up Main street and out to the football field.

P. T. A. RECEPTION.

A reception for the teachers of the Heppner school was given Friday, October 28, at the Episcopal church. This reception was sponsored by the local Patron-Teacher association.

A musical program consisting of

To Head Steel

James A. Farrel, now 60, who it is predicted will step to the place vacated through the death of Elbert Gary, as Chairman of the Board of the U. S. Steel Corporation. Mr. Farrel for many years has been operating head of the organization.

The "Average" Man

Roy L. Gray, Ft. Madison Ia., has been termed America's "average" citizen. The American Magazine, after careful survey, gives the title to Gray because he earns an average income; conducts a one-man tailor shop and clothing store in the average small sized town; belongs to church—but doesn't attend regularly; has an average education; and his principal interests are in his family of wife and two children—and his business.

O. A. C. together. Miss Deloris Pearson entertained the Bynoe Bridge club on the evening of October 27. Decorations and refreshments were carried out in Halloween colors. High score was won by Miss Anne Murray.

JOKES.

Ena S.: "Why did you shingle your hair?"
 Mary K.: "Just to make it weather-tight and keep the cold out of my head."

Mrs. Smith: "We will need a good public speaker for our debate team. Have you had any experience?"
 Stephen Thompson: "Yes, I once called up my girl on a party line."

Orin B.: "Oh, it's all over the new gym!"
 Ruth F. (very excitedly): "What?"
 Orin: "The roof, of course."

We Know the Place

Hotel Owner—"Would you like some views of the place to send to your friends?"

Dissatisfied Guest—"Sir, I think it would be better for me to keep my views of this place to myself."

A Logical Mind

"Yes, sir," said the aviator as his last passenger left the aviation field, "that guy was perfectly dumb. When we started up he wanted me to tie pieces of lead onto his feet so that if he fell out he wouldn't break his neck."

A Mouthful

The trouble with modern college life is that there is too much life and not enough college.

Do You Remember?

"Yonder comes a woman in a hobble skirt." How colorless that sounds today.

Maybe So—Maybe So
 "Mudge married a conductor and got a divorce the next week."
 "He must have told her where to get off."

The Panning M. D.

"This is where you get stuck," warned the M.D. as he injected the serum.

Yes—Whoisit?

Transmitter: Who is this?
 Receiver: Well, if you don't know yourself, silly, how do you expect me to tell?

Winter Apples—Plenty of good ones. Began picking Oct. 1st. Bring sacks. F. Burroughs, Jordan Siding.

Seed Rye for Sale—At Farmers Elevator Co. warehouse. Mike Kenny.
