City Finances.

ELSEWHERE in these columns is the annual report of City Treasurer W. O. Dix, as presented to the council on Tuesday evening. This report shows the city to be in good financial circumstances, as at the close of the year there is on hand in the general fund a cash balance of $8,604.28, which can be used in the running expenses of the city. Besides this, the savings accounts of the city show a balance of $21,911.21. The most of this fund, we understand, is the accumulation of water department receipts over a period of several years, and it has been placed on interest in the banks, to be used in the future as emergency requires. From this it would appear that the city is in fairly good financial condition.

During the past year the city has undertaken and put over quite an extensive program of street improvement, but feeling that they had arrived at the end of their resources, the council ceased to prosecute the work further. The budget did not provide sufficient funds to carry on street improvement for this year, but it of these boards, bureaus or comwould appear that the city ex-chequer would stand the strain of useless parts. needful expenditure in the proper maintenance of the work alfor grading and maintenance work would not be out of the way. help establish an international calendar. A committee of the League of Nations is studying all proposals for reform of the cair and the calendar and the calend asked the United States to endar. Under one system proposed, the year would be divided into thirteen months of four weeks each, with an extra day called "Year Day" at the end of tra month would be called "Sol" and would be inserted between June and July. If the fifteenth day of January fell on a Monday one year it would fall on a Monday every succeeding year. The same day of the week would correspond with the same day of the month in every year.

Calendar reform might simplify bookkeeping. A new calendar tradition is a mighty thing to overcome and it is likely a new calendar will not be adopted until years have been written into history.

Government.

THE governmental machinery -Federal, state and local-in the United States is being given over more and more to bureaus, boards, commissions and what not. Perhaps the growth of industrialism in this country, the great increase in population, and similar changing conditions have made this necessary. But, to many people, it seems that the government has already gone too far.

It is certain, at any rate, that whenever governmental machinery becomes too complicated to be understood by people who have not made it their study, those people cannot be expected to manifest any intelligent interest in their government. It is equally certain that the movement to place the governmental processes in the hands of bureaus, boards, commissions and the like has robbed popular government of a measure of authority.

The governmental machinery is being cluttered up with a lot of useless parts that do little except to rust out. Any citizen who has ever come in contact with some more than 300 days away

LIFE AFTER DEATH

A gentleman writes me a letter, from which quotations are The other day my wife died. She was 39 years old. She was a martyr to her duties and to her children.

'After 19 years of marriage and hard work this wonderful wife and wonderful mother, who never complained, was taken from us.

"Now is the time when she could have taken life more easy and could have enjoyed the growing up of her children while preparing herself for old age.

'In two days she is gone. My duty towards the children will keep me going and going strong, but I feel the need for something that shall keep me going on myself.

"I would like to know if there is a reason for such happenings and furthermore that the deceased one is happy in another life. Please hear the cry of a spiritual man left in the middle of life (I am not yet 49), deprived of the only one faithful companion and with nine children, from 18 to two and one-half years. I have the feeling that no other woman can ever enter

"I need a number of thoughts that shall satisfy me mentally and emotionally that everything is for the best and some certainty as to the life after death.'

There is no certainty of the life after death. That is a matter that must be taken on faith and hope.

Of it we have a reasonable hope. Those who live the higher life, that is above the animal, all have a feeling of another life. While the Scriptures do not positively teach another life they assume it, as Christ says, "If it were not so I would have told you." Honor, patriotism, self-sacrifice and devotion reach out into another life. In this life they are often thwarted. What the Almighty's reasons were for taking this mother we cannot say. No one knows. But the best plan from any point of view is to go on assuming that he had a good reason.

Nothing can be gained by giving up.,

If we believe in the high purposes and devoted life of the deceased we shall ourselves participate in them.

If there is another life and the deceased is cognizant of our doings here, she cannot but be gratified to know that we are living up to our ideals.

The memory of this mother has faded into a mmory, but that memory will continue to inspire and bless her children and her husband.
